POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Elliot Norton.

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

A naked house, a naked moor,
A shivering pool before the door,
A garden bare of flowers and fruit,
And poplars at the garden foot;
Such is the place I live in,
Bleak without and bare within.

Yet shall your ragged moors receive
The incomparable pomp of eve,
And the cold glories of the dawn
Behind your shivering trees be drawn;
And when the wind from place to place
Doth the unmoored cloud galleons chase,
Your garden blooms and gleams again
With leaping sun and glancing rain;
Here shall the wizard moon ascend
The heavens, the crimson end
Of day's declining splendor; here,
The army of the stars appear.
The neighbor hollows, dry or wet,
Spring shall with tender flowers beset;
And oft the morning muser see
Larks rising from the broomy lea,
And every fairy wheel and thread
Of cobweb dew bediamonded.
When daisies go shall winter time
Silver the simple grass with rime;
Autumnal frosts enchant the pool
And make the cart ruts beautiful.
And when snow bright the moor expands,
How shall your children clap their hands!
To make this earth our heritage,
A cheerful and a changeful page,
God's intricate and bright device
Of days and seasons doth suffice.

STRIKE RIOTING; CURRAN A LOSER.

Kellogg Company Moves Goods and Then the Leader of Freight Handlers Plays His Last Card.

SCORNED BY THE DRIVERS

"Paddle Your Own Canoe," the Teamsters Say, When Asked to Aid a General Walkout.

Following a day of labor riots and appeals to the courts for restraining orders against the strikers who are waging warfare on the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company and the railways which are transporting the Kellogg company's products, an attempt was made last night to precipitate a general strike against the railways centering in Chicago.

The attempt, made by President L. J. Curran of the freight handlers, was a signal failure.

"Paddle your own canoe and we'll paddle ours," was the spirit of the answer given to Curran last night by the teamsters' joint council, Curran having appealed to the council to enter into an alliance with the freight handlers.

Ten Rioters Arrested.

Every available policeman in Inspector Shea's district was called into service during the day to protect the teams of the Kellogg company. Crowds of strikers, teamsters, and others attempted to block the progress of the teams, but failed. Ten men were arrested, and scores of others were beaten by the clubs of the police.

The moving of the freight was the first real attempt of the Kellogg company to break the strike that has crippled its plant for seven weeks. More goods will be sent out today—this time to the downtown freight depots—and a repetition of the disorder which attended the drivers' strike of last year is expected.

The riots of the day were seized upon by Curran as making the time auspicious to precipitate a general labor war in Chicago, so he proceeded to ask the teamsters to form an alliance with him and wage such a conflict.

Curran Pleads; Defeated.

Curran appeared before the teamsters' joint council and pleaded his cause. He said his men are now engaged in a strike against the Chicago Terminal Railway company, which was brought on by the Kellogg controversy, and that the Chicago and Alton railroad is attempting to disrupt his organization.

He argued that if the teamsters would agree not to haul any freight to railroads hiring nonunion truckers he would agree not to permit members of the freight handlers' union to handle goods brought in by nonunion teamsters. By this arrangement, he declared, both organizations could win their strikes within a week.

The council took the proposition under consideration and within ten minutes notified Curran that the teamsters do not need his aid and could bring the Kellogg Switchboard company to time alone. They declared further that they did not desire a general labor war and that they would not assist him in his fight against the Terminal and Alton companies.

The action of the teamsters will center the fight on the Kellogg company, which concern yesterday managed to move wagons to the freight sheds of the Burlington and Pan Handle lines.

More Trouble Likely Today.

The company intends to send out a team this morning to one of the Canal street depots and another this afternoon to a point near the Polk street station. It will continue to send out teams until it has delivered goods to every railroad in Chicago, no matter what the opposition.

"We do not know whether the scenes of today are to be repeated," said Attorney T. D. Knight of the company last night, "but we intend to move freight to every depot in Chicago. We are fighting for our life. We are not trying to bring on a general strike, but if one comes we cannot be blamed."

The officers of the teamsters' union were moving spirits in the disorders of yesterday, and they are prepared to cause trouble today, unless the courts intervene.

Agent McGee Defiant.

"The trouble of today is but a beginning of what will come if the Kellogg company sends out goods tomorrow," said Business Agent Hugh McGee of the truck drivers last night. "That concern cannot put its goods on the street successfully, and its efforts to do so are mere 'grandstand' plays. If it tries again the trouble of today will be a mere picnic compared to what will happen."

The railroad companies received the freight that was sent to them yesterday and by night had it well on its way out of the city. They are ready to receive whatever freight is taken to them today, but they are not anxious to get it, according to President J. N. Faithorn of the Terminal company. Some of the roads are operating with nonunion freight handlers and will continue to do so wherever possible.

The railroad companies, through their representative, Slason Thompson, announced last night that they do not look for any further trouble and that a strike against them would fail. They declared further that they will force their freight handlers to move all goods brought to them regardless of who is making the shipments.

The strikers, despite their defiance, realize that they have made little progress in the struggle against the Kellogg company and the Terminal railroad. The executive board of the Chicago Federation of Labor arranged for a meeting today at which the matter will be considered. The Steam Power council offered its services as mediator, but neither organization has much hope of bringing about peace.

Rioting in the Streets.

Two attempts to send goods from the besieged plant of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company to railway freight houses were the occasion of wild rioting in the streets yesterday. The morning was marked by much disorder, but in the afternoon the teamsters, freight handlers, and their sympathizers outdid themselves.

No chance was given the freight handlers to spread the strike, for the Kellogg company sent out two shipments to railroad depots where nonunion men are employed. The first arrived at the Burlington depot, in Nineteenth street, shortly before noon, and the

MILES SHOWS HIS VIM

General Rides Ninety Miles in 9 Hours and 10 Minutes.

FINDS FEAT AN EASY ONE.

Means to Demonstrate He Is Not Old Enough to Retire.

El Reno, Okla., July 14.—[Special.]—Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles rode ninety miles on horseback today to prove to the army and the people generally that at the age of retirement, 64 years, he is unhurt by any luxury.

He left Fort Sill at 5:10 this morning and rode into Fort El Reno at 2:20 this afternoon, making the trip in nine hours and ten minutes, and using nine horses on the way. The record run was the stretch between Fort Sill and Anadarko, which was covered in two hours and twenty-five minutes. Capt. Sayre of the Eighth cavalry made the ride with him. The rest of the escort used government teams and ambulances.

The general was the freshest looking man in the party. He wore dark trousers and canvas leggins and a light blue shirt. As he dismounted he remarked:

"I enjoyed every moment of the trip; there was one time I felt particularly good; that was when I came up to the men who had charge of the pack teams, just south of the Canadian river. They had a lunch ready, and I enjoyed it with them. It made me feel extra good."

Reviews Troops After Ride.

The general showed no signs of even being tired. Forty minutes after his arrival at Fort Reno he was on the parade grounds in fatigue uniform reviewing the six companies of infantry. Deducting the twenty minutes spent at luncheon and the time consumed in making the remounts, the wonderful ride was made in eight hours.

The lieutenant general, when he started from Fort Sill, at Lawton, weighed in at 207 pounds.

There was a large crowd at the fort when he appeared ready to start. He was booted and spurred and wore a military suit. As the general started off on a sharp canter he was cheered by the men and officers and the crowd of citizens who got up early to see the start.

Relays at Ten Mile Intervals.

Gen. Miles was accompanied from relay to relay by a noncommissioned officer, who changed at each relay. The relays were placed at each ten miles after the first eighteen miles. Lieut. Kirman, post adjutant, who was to accompany the general, was ill and was unable to start. Lieut. Kilburn had charge of the relays from Anadarko to Fort Reno.

At Anadarko, forty miles out from the start, Gen. Miles was going easily, having covered the distance in three hours and twenty minues, an average of twelve miles an hour. He was feeling in the best of condition and even with his great weight he did not seem a great burden to his horse because of his surpassing skill as a horseman.

Immediately after reviewing the troops at Fort Reno Gen. Miles, accompanied by Col. Maus, drove to El Reno station and caught the 4:10 train for Fort Riley, Kas.

Gen. Miles had been expected at Fort Sill on every train since Friday, but did not arrive until Sunday evening at 5 o'clock, accompanied by Col. Maus, his aid. A great throng had assembled at the depot to witness the arrival of the lieutenant general of the United States army.

RISKS LIFE TO RESCUE

J. E. Potter Climbs Down Precipice and Saves Woman.

FALLS OVER CLIFF IN NIGHT.

Mrs. A. E. Johns Narrowly Escapes Death in Yosemite Mountains.

Yosemite Valley, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—At the imminent risk of being dashed headlong to his death, J. E. Potter today descended the face of a precipice, many thousand feet in height, and rescued Mrs. A. E. Johns of New York City from a narrow ledge where she had landed after a fall of several hundred feet.

Mrs. Johns had started from her hotel yesterday afternoon to walk to the Fissures, two miles away. She did not return last night, and searching parties started out. This morning she was found by Mr. Potter lying on a ledge two feet wide which juts out from the face of Sentinel fissure. She was too weak to speak and only by signs was able to show that she still lived.

Narrow Escape from Death.

Her escape from death had been narrow. She had lost her way in the darkness and had fallen at least 300 feet, partly breaking the force of the descent by clutching at juniper bushes and scrub trees as she fell through them. She had wandered off the trail in the darkness, and, not seeing the precipice, had walked unconsciously over the edge.

Mr. Potter in vain tried to work his way down the mountain side to her, but was forced to return for assistance and a rope.

Provided with plenty of ropes and carrying a stretcher, a party of eight made its way back to the crevasse, where the work was commenced of trying to extricate Mrs. Johns from her dangerous situation on the ledge. Dr. Maurice A. Brown of Alameda, accompanied the relief party to render assistance when Mrs. Johns was rescued.

Descends to Woman's Aid.

When the rope had been lowered Mr. Potter descended. There, lodged upon a two foot ledge, with her clothing torn to fragments and her flesh scratched and bruised, lay Mrs. Johns, weak from exhaustion and lack of food and benumbed by the frosty chill of the night. With difficulty the rope was securely tied around Mrs. Johns' waist and an effort made to help her to the rim above. This attempt proved futile, because of Mrs. Johns' weight. By leaning over the abrupt precipice Mr. Potter could discern another and larger ledge a hundred feet below, from which there was a sheer drop of hundreds of feet.

Giving the order to those above to lower the rope, Mr. Potter swung the inanimate form of Mrs. Johns out from the tiny strip of rock upon which she had braced herself for fifteen hours and into the chasm beneath. By swinging the rope to and fro he was able to lodge the body of Mrs. Johns upon the larger ledge and then descended after her, hand over hand, on the rope.

Pick Way Among Chasms.

Calling to one of the mountain guides above, Mr. Potter had him descend the rope to the ledge. Then the two picked up Mrs. Johns and made their difficult way around dangerous ledges and over yawning precipices beneath, until finally, worn out, they reached the rim above once more.

Mrs. Johns is suffering much from nervous shock, but as no bones were fractured she will recover. Mrs. Johns' husband is now in New York City. She expected to start soon for Japan.

POND HOLDS MYSTERY

Police Seek Girl's Body in the Jackson Park Lagoon.

DEATH HELD TO BE SWEET.

Believe It's a Suicide, but Murder Theory Is Suggested.

A marked passage from Byron dealing with the sweetness of death, together with a fragment of a love letter and two photographs, contribute to a mystery which will be hidden by the Jackson park lagoon until the lifesavers finish their dragging of the water today.

While the police are inclined to believe that a young woman committed suicide in the lagoon near the wooded island some time last night, they are not satisfied that there was not a double drowning, and they even put forth the possibility that a murder was committed.

The marked poem and the love letter would suggest suicide, but the presence of a young man who went out in a boat with a pretty young woman throws a perplexing phase on the case.

'Phone Message Starts Inquiry.

The probable drowning came to the attention of the police through a 'phone message from a man who refused to reveal his name.

"One of my servants, while walking through the park, saw the body of a woman floating in the water at the edge of the wooded island," he said. "She was so frightened that she returned home at once without notifying the park authorities."

The patrol wagon was immediately ordered out and a search of the wooded island and the vicinity revealed no body, but an empty rowboat was found floating near the bank. The oars were gone.

Floating in the water near the drifting boat was a book of poems by Byron, and the police are of the opinion that it was dropped out of the boat, although they cannot understand why any one should have taken a book out on the water at night.

His "Darling Lottie."

Inside the book were the two photographs, one of them—that of a man—bearing this inscription:

"My Darling Lottie: For your locket, opposite your own dear self. VICTOR."

The other photograph was of a pretty young woman, and written across the back were the words, "Lottie Freemont."

Two Go Out in Boat.

Inquiry developed the fact that the boat had been hired at 8:25 o'clock in the evening by a man and a young woman, the latter being described as stylishly dressed and pretty. They stepped into the boat without speaking and no conversation was heard by the boatman who pushed them out in the lagoon. That the boat and its occupants have something to do with the story told over the telephone the police feel certain.

The man who notified the police and refused to give his name or address also is being sought. It is possible, the police say, that their informant may have been a party to an unhappy love affair and have had knowledge of the woman's intention to end her life. In the extremity of their theorizing they have also suggested that a murder may have been committed.

If the message he delivered to the police is genuine, and a body is found, it is believed he will appear at the inquest.

POPE LEO ALIVE, BUT FAILING FAST

Vigor of Pontiff's Mind Alone Keeps Life in Body, Which Is Already Yielding to Advancing Death.

HAS SOME RESTFUL SLEEP

Physicians Inform the Cardinals That End May Come in a Moment or May Not Be for a Day or More.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, July 15, 6:15 a. m.—Pope Leo has passed a comparatively tranquil night, but his strength is greatly reduced. His rest during the night was intermittent. His condition this morning is not as it was at the same time yesterday, and it is feared the comparative calm of the night was due to his failing vitality.

The rumor of the pontiff's death was twice circulated during the night, but was promptly denied.

The pope's physicians are completely at sea and inform the cardinals as they inquire from time to time to be prepared for the worst at any instant, and again that the end may not come for a comparatively long time.

The pontiff has taken no nourishment, save a little Tokay sent him by Emperor Francis Joseph. The patient is extremely feeble and his limbs are swelling for lack of circulation.

Cardinal Vannutelli, whose appointed duty it is to give the pope the final blessing, is never beyond call.

The suspense is intense, but the doctors can in no way relieve it. It is merely a question of waiting.

Resting Early Wednesday Morning.

Sleep came to the relief of Pope Leo shortly after midnight this morning. During the entire day Tuesday he had made a brave fight to retain his mental balance, but at times he failed. His moments of delirium were more frequent and it was evident to his doctors and attendants that the brain was finally yielding to the weakness which has for so long been spreading over his frail body.

The sleep that came upon him after midnight seemed tranquil, although there seemed some difficulty in breathing. Oxygen was kept near at hand for immediate use in the event the patient gave indications of suffocation.

Literally Dying by Inches.

Last night's reports of the pope's condition were such as to make every one wish the end might be no longer delayed. He was literally dying by inches, and the degeneration in the nature of senile decay was making rapid progress, induced chiefly by the uric acid and other poisons which were no longer eliminated by the natural functions. Indications of what was virtually local mortification were plainly visible in the limbs and even the throat, yet the spirit refused to leave the hopelessly exhausted body, and the mind remained clear a greater portion of the time. It was impossible to judge positively what would be the immediate cause of death or at what hour the end would come. It could take the form of cardiac paralysis or of cerebral anæmia. It was certain the body would not survive many hours when once the dying pontiff's indomitable will succumbed, yet he still took an interest in the world.

Now Hint at Cancer.

The true nature of the pope's last illness, it is now asserted, probably will not be disclosed until after his death. There is said to be the best authority for saying that a post-mortem examination is expected to reveal cancer in the pleuric cavity. This is a return of the disease which manifested itself in a tumor which was removed from the pope's side three years ago. It is the opinion of his physiclans that the pope's marvelous vitality would have kept him alive until he was well past his 100th year if it were not for this malignant growth. It is not permitted at the present moment to quote the authority for this diagnosis, but if it were given it would be accepted without question.

A remarkable rally early in the day amazed his physicians, as the night had been an alarming one. The pontiff, however, seemed to gain renewed vitality as daylight increased and early Tuesday morning between his attacks of mental delirium he took his customary active interest in affairs concerning the church and its future.

Rally Opposed to All Theory.

Yesterday's rally was characteristically opposed to every medical theory and consisted in getting out of bed, on which two hours previously the pope himself had made all preparations for death. Unsatisfied with this exhibition of vitality, he transacted private business and received four cardinals, with whom he talked in an animated way. In fact, Pope Leo's record for yesterday, little of which appeared in last night's official bulletin, would be incredible if it were not confirmed by the doctors and cardinals present in the sick chamber. None seems more perplexed than the doctors themselves. Dr. Lapponi said frankly: "I cannot imagine how the pope manages to keep alive." According to the physicians, the pontiff may die at any moment, even in the midst of one of those extraordinary intervals when his mind and body present a comparatively sound appearance.

Three causes may accelerate the end—viz., continued inability to take nourishment, which was exhibited today, sudden heart failure, or the progression of pleural disease.

The pope on Tuesday seemed to realize for the first time the real gravity of his condition and looked to the arrangement of his worldly affairs.

After the visit of the doctors, who tried to conceal the gravity of the situation, the pontiff said to his valet, Pio Centra:

"I think I know better now. My time is running short. Before it is too late I wish to speak to Rampolla."

A few minutes later Cardinal Rampolla entered the sickroom and remained fifteen minutes alone with the pontiff. Then the latter said:

"I now wish to have the Franciscan benediction."

Cardinal Vives y Tuto, who is a Capuchin, was at the vatican and he entered the sickroom and fulfilled the wish of the pope, who afterwards said he felt relieved and easy in his mind.

The moment was solemn, the strong, bearded figure of Cardinal Vives y Tuto making a striking contrast with the emaciated, white form of Leo XIII., who seemed as though a breath of air would waft him straight to heaven.

The pope was heard to say when Cardinal Rampolla left him:

"I renew to you my confidence in this supreme moment."

While Cardinal Vives y Tuto was in the sickroom the pope succeeded in reciting the confiteor and then gave the apostolic benediction to the whole Franciscan order.

Receives Visitors Standing.

The pope himself Tuesday afternoon ordered the four cardinals to be admitted and received them standing, he who is supposed to be at the point of death saying, "Please be seated." He recounted the impressive ceremony of the morning, when he received the benediction of the Franciscan order. The cardinals informed him of the world wide prayers for his life. Pope Leo answered that he was much gratified, but that he was ready for his final departure, concluding by saying, "God's will be done."

Even more striking was the pope's interview with his secretary, Mgr. Angeli. His holiness sent for him, saying that he wished to see certain papers, which the secretary brought. Then, after a short explanation, Mgr. Angeli wished to get the pope's decision on the matter, but Pope Leo said: "Well, well; not today. We will do that some other time."

Gives Riches to Church.

Then, speaking with evident effort to his private secretaries, Mgrs. Angeli and Marzolini, his holiness repeated the instructions previously given that all the presents received by him on the occasion of his jubilee in 1888, which are of the greatest value, shall be the property of the holy see, and telling in which drawer would be found the most costly, which are to be personally delivered to his successor.

With an evident feeling of sadness the pontiff spoke of all the sacred objects he had gathered. Behind a screen in the pope's library are the presents given his holiness on the occasion of this year's jubilee. These are destined for poor churches. The pontiff expressed the hope that if he were not alive on his named day, St. Joachim's day (Aug. 16), the usual fête would be given.

Tells Heirs He Has Nothing.

Although much has been said about the pope's will, nothing positive is yet known except that on receiving his nephews his holiness said:

"As pope I do not possess anything, as I live by the alms of the faithful. It would be a great detriment to the church if I should destine to my family even the smallest part of what the people send me by denying themselves. As to my personal property," the pontiff concluded, "I divided that among you long ago."

This declaration did not surprise any one, it being well known how strong an antinepotist Pope Leo has always been. When the pontiff alluded to his personal fortune he meant his patrimony, of which almost two-thirds came into his hands through the death of his uncles and brothers. Besides this he had what was called his prelatura, amounting to about $40,000, which for that period was a large amount and to which in papal times was entitled any member of a family embracing the priesthood. This was given in order to put him in a position to continue his career.

In 1881 Pope Leo had all his fortune estimated and divided by Cardinal Lamrenz, a most distinguished jurist, among his nieces and nephews, who were obliged to sign a paper declaring that they had received all they were entitled to. When the pope's brother, Cardinal Giuseppe, died in 1890 Pope Leo informed his relatives that he was keeping all his valuable library intact, leaving them their share in money and obliging them to sign another declaration that they had received all they could claim.

As the morning progressed the attacks of delirium became accentuated, both with regard to the length of the hallucinations and the shortness of the lucid intervals. His mutterings during delirium were not always intelligible but they seemed to relate to the history of events of many years ago, which, being unknown to those present, neither Dr. Lapponi nor Centra succeeded in comprehending. At times the pope seemed to see again apparitions.

When his attendants tried to persuade him to the contrary the pope insisted on indicating the presence of some imaginary shadow which he not only saw but heard. He said:

"No, no! Don't you see him. Besides he rattles the chairs and other things as he moves."

Will Power Is Assertive.

It was evident the pope was making a great effort and straining all his nerves to maintain calmness, and to have his will triumph over his mental weakness. He succeeded occasionally, but an attack of delirium followed these efforts, and each was stronger than the preceding.

Dr. Mazzoni was asked for an explanation of the pope's resistance and said:

"It is a phenomenon which, like all such phenomena, cannot be explained."

The increasing gravity of the situation became generally known, and the vatican was besieged during the morning by anxious visitors, comprising practically all of the leading figures in the ecclesiastical and diplomatic world of Rome.

Towards noon no marked change was reported, and Dr. Lapponi made a brief visit to his sick daughter. This led to the belief that the doctors did not expect immediate dissolution.

Contend for Embalming of Body.

A curious controversy is proceeding between the vatican medical body, composed of ten doctors of lesser importance than Dr. Lapponi, and several foreign physicians over the embalming of Pope Leo's body. Several foreigners having offered processes of embalming, each more wonderful than the other, the papal doctors unearthed pontifical bulls giving the right to embalm the pope solely to the vatican medical body.

Intermediary Is Chosen.

It is stated that when the conclave meets for the election of a new pope Senhor Martins d'Antas, the Portuguese ambassador to the vatican, as dean of the diplomatic corps, will take the police regulation of the conclave. In other words, he will become the intermediary between the powers and the provisional government for the purpose of exchanging communications while the cardinals are shut up. He will maintain direct relations with the secretary of the consistorial congregation which represents the provisional government of the church outside of the conclave.

CHICAGO WOMAN WHO WAS HONORED BY POPE.

MRS. MARY F. NIXON DE ROULET.

One of the last persons upon whom Pope Leo, immediately previous to his illness, bestowed the papal benediction, is a Chicago woman, Mrs. Mary F. Nixon de Roulet, better known to her Chicago friends as Mary F. Nixon, this being the maiden name under which much of her literary work has been done. Nor did Mrs. de Roulet receive this high honor once only, for twice within a few months did the pontiff pronounce her name with special intention of blessing and regard. The first special benediction was bestowed upon the Chicago writer through Bishop Edward J. Dunne, now of Dallas, Tex., but formerly of Chicago, and a warm friend of Mrs. de Roulet. Mrs. de Roulet's sister, Mrs. Isabel Whiteley, herself a writer, was in Rome a little later, and being granted an audience with the pope, also asked for a special benediction upon her sister and her work. This request also was granted.

POPE'S FORTUNE IS NOT GREAT.

Leo. XIII. Has Spent Most of His Money in Advancing Church Work and Foreign Missions.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, July 14.—Regarding the pope's personal fortune and the disposition of it the Daily Telegraph's Rome correspondent says: "The pope's last will is already in the hands of his executors, who are Cardinals Cretoni, Mocceni, and Rampolla. It contains no bequests for his kindred, who have already received what he could afford to bestow. His personal estate must be less than that of his predecessors owing to financial losses incurred many years ago and to large sums expended in maintaining colleges and in carrying on missionary work in India and other parts of the east, and to the expenses in connection with the attempted reunion of oriental and Latin churches. All the property belonging to him as pope is bequeathed to the church.

HEALTH FAILS; IS SERIOUS.

Archbishop Katzer's Condition Alarms His Friends—Is Growing Weaker.

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—The condition of Archbishop Katzer, who has been in seclusion at St. Agnes' hospital for several months for the benefit of his health, has taken a turn for the worse. During the last few days he has been growing weaker, and it is stated he is now more exhausted than at any time since he came here. He is able to be up and spends a portion of each forenoon in the garden. While his condition is serious, there is not thought to be any immediate danger. He is not allowed to see visitors.

PARACHUTE BREAKS, MAN FALLS

George Case, South Chicago Balloonist, Has a Narrow Escape from Death.

Through the breaking of a rope which controlled his parachute, George Case, a professional balloonist of South Chicago, fell nearly 5,000 feet at Rochelle, Wis., and escaped with a broken ankle and a number of bruises. The annual street fair of Rochelle is in progress and Case was hired to make a balloon ascension and parachute drop. In releasing the parachute he broke the rope which controls the opening and closing of the apparatus and it shot downward. After a fall of several hundred feet it opened and checked the descent for a moment. Then it closed. Just before it struck the ground it again opened. Case returned home and will quit the balloon business.

The plans of the canal board for a canal connecting the north branch of the Chicago river with Lake Michigan were opposed last evening at a joint meeting of the improvement boards of Wilmette and Evanston. LITTLE GIRL'S BIG DOLLHOUSE PUZZLES TAX ASSESSORS.

Board at Nutley, N. J., Trying to Decide Whether Structure Put Up by Child's Grandfather Is Subject to Assessment

Nutley, N. J., July 14.—[Special.]—A house constructed of packing boxes for 9 year old Stella K. Seguine on the Avondale road of this town is troubling the board of assessors. They do not know whether it should be assessed or not. The structure is intended for a doll house for little Miss Seguine.

"It is a dollhouse and there is no provision for taxing it," said one of the assessors. Another said it should be taxed because people could "eat and sleep in it."

The house was presented to the little girl last week by her grandfather, John Whiteman, an octogenarian, who not only drew the plans but constructed it himself. It has been painted inside and out and handsome paper decorates the walls. The girl has a deed for the house from her grandparents.

The lower floor has a parlor, dining room, kitchen, and the hallway floor is tiled. A stairway leads to the upper floor, which contains a bedroom and bathroom, and all the rooms except the kitchen are carpeted. There are doors and windows in every room and on the front piazza sits a monster doll, which is as large as little Miss Seguine herself, who occasionally can be seen on the front veranda of the "dollhouse."

OFFICIAL MEETS HIS WATERLOO.

Pretty Maryland Maid Succeeds in Gaining Admission to This Country for Her Sweetheart.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—Deputy Commissioner of Immigration Hughes, stationed at the immigration offices at the Washington avenue wharf, seldom reverses himself. He prides himself on differing in that respect from a court of justice or a double ended pair of cuffs.

Today he met his Waterloo in the presence of a fair Maryland maid, who simply smiled on him and he hoisted a flag of truce. Even this guarantee of a cessation of hostilities was no safeguard to him, for the maid walked right into his camp and carried off his prisoner and her lover.

The released prisoner was Peter Dougherty, 27 years old, hailing from Kildare, Ireland. He had prearranged to meet his bride on the wharf when his steamer arrived. She was there. Unfortunately, Peter's love ardor was checked by a restriction of the immigration office that obliges a new arrival to have enough means for self-support for a reasonable time. Peter could only raise $5 in all. Then the Maryland maid got in her fine touches.

"Sure, and you wouldn't break a pretty girl's heart," she said with flattering self-composure. Commissioner Hughes began to feel as if his own cardiac organ was shattered. The maid knew well the art of coquetry, and by wiles and smiles compelled Commissioner Hughes to reverse his decision and let Peter go with her to find a job she promised him at Elkton.

TESTING COLORADO CLIMATE.

Prof. Kemp of University of Illinois Seeks Effect of High Altitude on Bad Blood.

Cripple Creek, Colo., July 14.—[Special.]—Prof. G. T. Kemp of the University of Illinois is conducting experiments here in regard to the effect of a high altitude on people who have bad blood. He is being assisted by five students of the Champaign (Ill.) college, who twice each day have one of their fingers punctured and from three to four drops of blood taken out, which is carefully examined.

Prof. Kemp will remain here three weeks, and expects in that time either to prove or disprove the theory advanced by European physicians that a high altitude is conducive to better blood.

"In event of the fact being developed that other people afflicted with diseases besides consumption may improve in these high altitudes," said Prof. Kemp, "it would undoubtedly be of great benefit to humanity."

VANDERBILTS ARE AT PEACE.

Cornelius, Who Incurred Displeasure of Parents by His Marriage, Said to Have Mother's Forgiveness.

Newport, R. I., July 14.—[Special.]—Cornelius Vanderbilt has been forgiven and peace has settled upon the Vanderbilt family for the first time in seven years—ever since he married Miss Grace Wilson in defiance of his father's commands.

It is said on excellent authority that when Cornelius Vanderbilt and his wife return from Europe they will come to Newport as the guests of his mother at The Breakers, and a series of magnificent entertainments will mark the reconciliation.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Cornelius' younger brother, is credited with bringing about the result.

That which paved the way was the dangerous illness of Cornelius last January.

PARIS IS GAY ON FRENCH HOLIDAY

President and Mme. Loubet Review Military Evolutions at Longchamp.

CAVALRY GETS APPLAUSE

Santos-Dumont Appears in Airship and Salutes Executive; Crowds Dance in Streets.

PARIS, July 14.—The French national holiday was enthusiastically celebrated today. The main feature was the review of the garrison of Paris. The troops assembled at Longchamp at an early hour. Gen. Andre, the minister of war, accompanied by a brilliant staff and the foreign military attachés, soon followed.

At 9 o'clock an artillery salute announced the arrival of President Loubet, who was accompanied by Premier Combes and other cabinet ministers and the president of the senate and chamber of deputies. Madame Loubet soon followed and the review commenced, ending with the usual distribution of decorations.

The charge was executed by six regiments of cavalry, which were drawn up about fifty yards in front of the presidential stand, and aroused great enthusiasm. Immediately afterwards M. Loubet and the ministers with their escorts left Longchamp.

Santos Dumont Appears in Airship.

A novel incident of the review was the appearance of Santos Dumont in an airship over Longchamp. He saluted the president with three strident blasts from the whistle of his motor and with a salvo of revolver shots. Then, amid the applause of the spectators, the aeronaut sailed off rapidly to his headquarters at Puteaux.

The government and other theaters, which gave free matinées, were densely crowded. The open air performance in the square in front of Victor Hugo's residence was well attended, while dancing was in full swing at many points in the streets. It was noticeable that the fête was accompanied by more popular enthusiasm than has accompanied any celebration in recent years.

Cake Walk Is Popular.

A feature of the open air balls was the popularity of the cake walk. The government, municipal, and many private buildings were brilliantly illuminated, and great displays of fireworks were given at prominent points in the city. British flags are exceptionally numerous in the decorations.

Dispatches announce brilliant celebrations of the national fête throughout the provinces.

CELEBRATE FALL OF BASTILE.

Fifteen Hundred French Residents of Chicago Meet at Ogden's Grove to Recall History of 1789.

To celebrate the fall of the Bastile on July 14, 1789, 1,500 French residents of Chicago met at Ogden's grove, Clybourn and North avenues, last evening, and by music and speeches recalled the days of Murat and Danton. It was the twenty-seventh annual picnic of the French Benevolent society, under auspices of the French consul.

President Victor Gerardin proposed the toast to France. Responding, M. Henri Merou, the consul, recalled the struggle for liberty, and spoke of France as it is today.

"We Frenchmen," he said, "may be proud of our mother country and our adopted country. Lafayette fought here for liberty, and, returning to France, took up the cause of the common people. The example of the American colonies aroused the latent fires of the French nation."

Speeches were also made by Charles Henrotin, consul for Belgium; Theodore Proulx, Z. P. Brosseau, and others.

MOATHOUSE MURDERER HANGED

Samuel H. Dougall Confesses to Killing Wealthy Spinster Previous to Execution in English Prison.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 14.—Samuel Herbert Dougall, who murdered Camille Holland, the wealthy spinster with whom he was living at the Moat house in Saffron-Walden, some four years ago, and who is also suspected of having murdered other women, was hanged in Chelmsford prison this morning. Just before the execution Dougall confessed that he had killed Miss Holland.

Miss Holland was the owner of Moat house. About four years ago Dougall, who was supposed to be her husband, but who, it was discovered subsequently, had never been married to her, made his appearance there, and Miss Dougall, supposed to be his sister, took up her residence on the place. Miss Holland then disappeared suddenly, and Dougall sued the woman supposed to be his sister, but who really was his wife, for divorce. Dougall was arrested for cashing a check purporting to have been signed by Miss Holland, and while he was in custody the body of Miss Holland was accidentally found in an old ditch.

Dougall was suspected of having made away with at least five wives.

CHARGES PLOT TO KING PETER.

Writer in Paris Journal Insists Karageorgevitch Ordered Assassination of Alexander and Draga.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 14.—Under the caption, "The Truth About the Tragedy at Belgrade," Gil Blas today prints an article written by De Prevignand, in which the writer openly accuses King Peter of having been the leader of the Servian conspiracy. The leader of the plot, he says, was in Geneva and was Peter Karageorgevitch. He it was, the writer declares, who, through his secretary, gave the order for the assassination of King Alexander, Queen Draga, and several members of the cabinet. De Prevignand then gives the names of the officers on whom rests the responsibility for the mutilation of the bodies of the late king and queen. He also gives what he claims is the true story of the origin of the plot and the manner in which it was carried out.

SUDDEN SHOWER OF GIRLS.

Mechanism of Cascade in Paris Theater Breaks and Young Women Fall Instead of Sliding.

PARIS, July 15.—There was a serious accident last night at the Folies Marigny theater, in the Champs Elysées. In the final scene there is an imitation cascade, down which apparently glide a number of girls, who are really attached by the waist to a moving sheet. The cord broke and the sheet came down to the stage with a rush. Thirteen of the girls were badly hurt and eight were taken to the hospital.

NAVAL FESTIVITIES END.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS PREPARE TO LEAVE ENGLAND.

Admiral Cotton Will Transfer His Flag to Chicago and with San Francisco and Machias Sail to Lisbon—Kearsarge Ordered to Make Speed Run to Frenchman's Bay, Maine, Distance of 2,852 Miles—May Set Record for Battleships.

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 14.—With the reception given on board Rear Admiral Cotton's flagship Kearsarge this afternoon the official visit of the American squadron to England terminated. On Friday, when outside Spithead, Admiral Cotton will transfer his flag to the Chicago and proceed with the San Francisco and Machias to Lisbon, while the Kearsarge will begin its speed trial across the Atlantic.

"Our reception in England has been most cordial and enthusiastic," said Rear Admiral Cotton. "Nothing could exceed the courtesy extended to us on all sides. I have no doubt that the result of the visit of the American squadron will prove beneficial in the extreme, and that it will tend to strengthen the cordial relations which have long existed between the two countries."

Speed Test for Kearsarge.

Capt. Hemphill of the United States flagship Kearsarge received instructions today to clean the ship's propellers, fill its bunkers with the best coal, and go at the highest speed with natural draft to Frenchman's bay, Me. This is the first occasion in time of peace that an American battleship has been subjected to such a severe test. It recalls a similar voyage of the battleship Oregon during the war with Spain.

Divers commenced work this morning on cleaning the propellers, and 1,500 tons of coal will be delivered tomorrow. Capt. Hemphill will follow the great circle route, leaving Portsmouth at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Must Steam 2,852 Miles.

By the route that Capt. Hemphill has selected for the speed trial the Kearsarge must steam 2,852 miles. On its way to Southampton it made 3,245 miles. The ship is thus expected to take less time on the impending voyage. Capt. Hemphill commanded the Buffalo, which established the record of thirty-nine days on the run from New York to Manila, and the officers of the Kearsarge are satisfied that with the excellent coal supplied and the vessel's moderately clean bottom the record for a battleship will be broken.

Expect New Speed Record.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Keen interest is felt in naval circles in the result of the test cruise of the Kearsarge. Capt. Hemphill has been directed to make a test of the Kearsarge's long cruising speed and it is expected the highest record for an American battleship of the Kearsarge type will be established on this trip.

BOERS TO COLONIZE IN MEXICO.

Senator Butler Sells 100,000 Acres of Land to Gens. Joubert and O'Donnell.

Monterey, Mex., July 14.—[Special.]—Marion Butler, United States senator from North Carolina, returned to Monterey last night from a trip to the state of Tamaulipas, where he closed a contract with the Boer generals, Joubert and O'Donnell, for 100,000 acres of land, to be used for colonization purposes by the Boers. The tract is located between the Sota La Marina river and the Carnazal river and fronts the entire distance on the gulf of Mexico. An option also was taken on an additional 100,000 acres, the sale of which probably will be consummated before the end of the year.

SEE CRISIS IN MANCHURIA.

BELIEVED IN CHINA THAT JAPAN SEEKS CONFLICT.

Actions of Russians at Yalu River Provoke Mikado's Advisers and May Become Casus Belli if Czar's Troops Do Not Evacuate Territory — Minister Conger Arrives to Look Over Situation—Denied That Advice Was Given to Leave District.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PEKIN, July 14.—The situation on the Yalu river is considered as one of the greatest delicacy. Unless the evacuation of Manchuria takes place soon the belief obtains here that the acts of belligerent Russians on the Yalu will precipitate a conflict, as it is understood that Japan will regard the continuation of Russian encroachment on the territory bordering the Yalu as a casus belli.

The Coreans complain that the Russians have threatened to invest the east bank of the Yalu river with troops if the town of Waiji is opened to trade. The Coreans want to open the town with China's consent.

Russia, it is said, has one policy for both banks of the Yalu, which the Japanese regard as of vital importance, and it is understood Japan will regard any further activity in the construction of the so-called commercial works at the mouth of the Yalu river as an excuse for trouble.

United States Minister Conger arrived at New Chwang today and will remain there for two days for the purpose of investigating the situation.

M. Lessar, the Russian minister, returned today from Port Arthur, where he went to attend the conference summoned by Gen. Kuropatkin, the Russian minister of war. Although Japanese dispatches say the conference decided upon a peaceable solution of the Manchurian question, there is no enlightment here as to whether war or peace will result in Manchuria.

War Rumor Denied.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14.—The report that M. Lessar, the Russian minister to China, had advised the Russian civilians to leave New Chwang, Port Arthur, and Corea by a certain date is semi-officially declared to be unfounded.

Want Foreign Trade Kept Out.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 14.—M. Witte, the minister of finance, has received from the committee of the bourse at Vladivostok a telegraphic petition complaining that the whole district is inundated with untaxed foreign imports and the native trade is almost at a standstill. The committee begs M. Witte to close the southern sections of the Eastern Chinese railway, from Mukden to Kharbin, against traffic in order to prevent the entry of foreign imports.

CHINESE CAPITALIST KIDNAPED.

Lam Cho, with Three Friends, Seized by Brigands Near Canton and Held for $20,000 Ransom.

San Francisco, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—Advices from Canton, China, say that consternation prevails throughout that province in high Chinese circles over the kidnaping of Lam Cho, the Hawaiian-Chinese capitalist, and three other prominent Chinese. They were inveigled to what they supposed to be a friend's house near Sun Wai, Twang Tung, seized, and conveyed to the interior, where they were held for ransom.

After the capture one of the brigands sent word to a friend of Lam Cho in Canton that he and his companions would be released for $20,000 ransom.

Lam Cho, next to Ah Fong, is the best known Chinaman in Hawaii. He went to Hawaii many years ago, and early cultivated the acquaintance of George C. McFarlane, then chamberlain to King Kalakaua I. Through McFarlane he was frequently accorded an audience with the king, and secured his friendship. Lam Cho received valuable concessions and was largely instrumental in bringing the Chinese contract into Hawaii.

On the death of Kalakaua and the ascension of Liliuokalani, Lam Cho became her confidential adviser of Chinese affairs in the kingdom. Lam Cho went to China six months ago, and for one concession at Canton he paid $150,000.

INCREASE REWARD FOR SLAYER.

Detectives Find Comb Worn by Baby Mabel Jordine on the Day of Her Death.

Bloomington, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—The reward for the arrest of the murderer of Baby Mabel Jordine was increased today by many private subscriptions. Detectives this afternoon found the little comb which was in the hair of the baby when it was stolen. It was located in a tuft of weeds within sixty feet of the spot where the body was found. It is not supposed that the discovery will be to any advantage. Detective Butler was as confident today as yesterday of the correctness of his views regarding the guilt of Maude Jordine. He reiterated his belief that the evidence he would present would be sufficient to bind her over to the grand jury. The police take but little stock in Butler's theory. Public sentiment favors the girl.

CZAR MAY ACT AS NOMINATOR.

To Be Asked to Name Arbitrators to Settle Venezuelan Claims.

BOWEN GIVES SUGGESTION

President Expresses Confidence in the Fairness of the Russian Ruler.

VENEZUELA CLAIMS—President instructs Secretary Hay to ask czar of Russia to name arbitrators for the United States.

LIEUT. W. K. McCUE—Medical officers of army adjudge him insane and he will be sent to hospital for treatment.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—Secretary Hay has, by direction, requested the czar of Russia to name the arbitrators to pass on the contention of Germany, Great Britain, and Italy that they are entitled to preferential treatment in the payment of the claims of European nations against Venezuela. The action of the president may result in the removal of the ill feeling between Russia and the United States growing out of the Kisheneff petition and the opposition of Russia to the opening of the Manchurian ports to the trade of the world. Herbert W. Bowen, United States minister to Venezuela, is responsible for the selection of the czar to act as nominator. The arbitrators will be chosen from the members of the permanent court of arbitration. The utmost confidence is reposed in the czar by this government, and it is believed his judgment will not be biased because of the petition incident and the accusation of Russian unfriendliness toward the United States in the Manchurian negotiations.

***

The feeling prevails here that the czar, in responding to the invitation of the United States to name the arbitrators, may find an occasion to bring up the Kisheneff matter, and through friendly interchanges secure an understanding that will obviate the necessity of an attempt by the United States to place the Kisheneff petition before the Russian government, and thus restore relations to their former status of cordiality. It has been surmised also that the czar might find The Hague matter the pretext for making an entirely satisfactory communication to the United States in regard to the Manchurian "open door" negotiations. When Theodore Hansen, Russian charge d'affaires, called upon Secretary Hay at the department today, it was believed his visit had some connection with these matters. He had a long interview with Mr. Hay, but upon its conclusion it was learned that he did not mention the Kisheneff petition or the request of the czar to name the Venezuelan arbitrators. There is reason to believe, however, that Mr. Hansen did make a recommendation in regard to Manchuria, which was regarded by Secretary Hay as sufficiently important to demand an immediate conference with W. W. Rockhill, director of the bureau of American republics, who is Mr. Hay's principal adviser on Chinese affairs. Mr. Hay and Mr. Hansen declined to give any information concerning their conference.

Lieut. William K. McCue, First infantry, who was arrested in Chicago several weeks ago, after having married a San Francisco woman, though having a wife living in Cincinnati, has been adjudged insane by the medical officers of the army and will be sent to St. Elizabeth's hospital for treatment.

Lieut. McCue's dementia first troubled him in Manilla soon after his return from the Samar expedition. At that time he wrote several erratic letters to military officials, in which he called attention to his mental condition. He also forwarded his resignation, but instead of its acceptance Lieut. McCue was sent to the military hospital in Manila for treatment and observation. He attributed his condition to the terrible hardship of the Samar campaign and his long service in the tropics. He improved both physically and mentally, however, and returned to San Francisco, where he was married to a young woman whom he had met before going to the Philippines.

His first wife appealed to the war department, and declared her belief that her husband was of unsound mind. After his arrest in Chicago the second wife returned to her parents in San Francisco and will, it is understood, institute proceedings to have her marriage declared void. Official reports say there is no question about Lieut. McCue being of unsound mind and that once he showed evidences of a tendency to suicide. It is thought probable, though, that with proper treatment he may recover.

Col. Lyman B. Cutler of Wood county, Ill., died here tonight of cancer. Col. Cutler, up to the time of his death, was a member of the staff of Gov. Yates. During the civil war he raised the first regiment, the Eighty-third, in Illinois, under President Lincoln's first call for troops. For some years he was superintendent of the municipal lodging house. During Senator Farwell's term in the senate Cutler was an official of that body. He leaves a widow.

OLIVER MAY SUCCEED ROOT.

New Assistant May Become Secretary of War When the Present Official Resigns.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—It seems to be a general understanding among officials of the war department who ought to know that the name of Robert Shaw Oliver, who has just been appointed assistant secretary of war, will be favorably considered for secretary of war when Secretary Root retires from the cabinet. It has been known for some time that on the completion of certain important matters which Secretary Root has in hand he intends to return to New York to resume the practice of law. Just when this might happen has been, and is still, indefinite.

RAILWAY SERVICE UNDER FIRE.

Inspectors Investigating Charges Preferred Against John M. Masten.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The postoffice inspectors are investigating charges made against John M. Masten, now assistant superintendent of the railway mail service and formerly chief clerk of the first assistant postmaster general's office. A man named Terry, now in the government service, has made an affidavit before the inspectors alleging that Masten, while chief clerk to the first assistant postmaster general, proposed that Terry pay him $50 down and $8 or $10 a month to secure reinstatement in a former position in Masten's bureau.

LOSES BY DOG'S FAITHFULNESS.

A. G. Rider of Evanston Gives Away Spaniel, It Returns, and He Is Fined for Delinquent Tax.

A. G. Rider, 614 Dempster street, Evanston, has grave doubts as to the value of faithfulness in a dog. The return of a water spaniel which he had owned resulted in his being fined $5 and costs in Justice Ely's court yesterday afternoon for not paying a dog tax. On July 4 Rider gave the dog to a man who lives in Desplaines. On Monday the dog returned and was seen by the police.

Gambling in Shadow of City Hall.

"Gambling in the shadow of the City hall, and a crap game at that," as Lieut. Rohan described it, was stopped by detectives yesterday afternoon, who arrested five newsboys throwing dice on the steps of the old Orpheon theater in Washington street.

TRACTION GRANT SOUGHT BY COURT

Judge Grosscup Appoints John S. Miller to Negotiate with the City.

MAYOR SENDS A LETTER.

Says Any Compromise Must Be Based on Absolute Waiver of 99 Year Act.

FRANCHISE COMPROMISE.—Judge Grosscup appointed John S. Miller his representative to negotiate with city for a new grant for Union Traction company.

MAYOR'S LETTER.—Mayor sent to Judge Grosscup long statement, saying city would negotiate, but would insist on waiver of ninety-nine year claims.

COMPENSATION.—South side property owners demand street paving as compensation under a new franchise and propose to agitate through mass meetings.

A move toward a settlement of franchise disputes between the city and the Union Traction company was made yesterday by Judge Peter S. Grosscup. He appointed ex-Corporation Counsel John S. Miller as his personal representative in the matter and arranged for an early conference between Mr. Miller and the municipal authorities.

This action was the result of a letter sent to the judge by Mayor Harrison earlier in the day in which the mayor reiterated his position that no settlement was possible without a waiver on the part of the company of its rights it claims under the ninety-nine year act. It was stated by the mayor that no disposition shown by the company to insist on these claims makes this demand for a waiver by the city the more imperative.

It was also announced during the day that negotiations are on foot between the receivers of the Union Traction company and the stockholders of the underlying companies looking to a reorganization of the first named corporation on lines of closer union between it and the underlying ones. They have so far, however, been without tangible result.

Duties of Counsel Miller.

Judge Grosscup had a long conference with John S. Miller, Receivers Govin and Sampsell of the Union Traction company, and J. S. Auerbach, their counsel, in the afternoon, and when the conference was over Judge Grosscup said:

"I have appointed Mr. Miller to represent me in the negotiations which will be had with the city regarding the matters in dispute. I have received a letter from Mayor Harrison in which it is intimated that such negotiations can be had, and Mr. Miller was selected to carry them on.

"The negotiations will probably be on the lines indicated in my letter to the receivers of July 10. The main requisite is that there shall be no confiscation of property."

Asked if there was anything he was willing to say regarding the letter sent to him by the mayor, Judge Grosscup replied:

"It is an intimation that the city is willing to open negotiations with the company."

The passage in Judge Grosscup's letter to the receivers, in which he outlined what might be a satisfactory waiver of the ninety-nine year claims, reads:

But all this can be accomplished by a full surrender by the companies of title under the legislative grants, accompanied with a stipulation either to assess presently the value of the unexpired term or to make such assessment at the end of the new grant if the grant is not to be renewed. In legal difficulty need entangle such an arrangement. The right of the companies to occupy and their right to be compensated for a quitclaim of such occupancy are distinct legal rights. The former can be surrendered in consideration, or part consideration, of the latter. When so separated the right of payment becomes a claim against the city, secured possibly by a lien on the title surrendered, but is no longer tied up with the title surrendered. The title, except for purposes of lien, would become extinct, and there would be no payment adjudged until after judicial determination of the validity and scope of the legislative grants.

Mayor Harrison said later he would be glad to see and talk with Mr. Miller, but he would have to refer him to the members of the council committee on local transportation in particular and the aldermen generally when it came to discussing terms of a settlement with the city, as the duty lay with them and not him.

Mayor's Letter to Judge.

The significant sections in the mayor's letter to Judge Grosscup follow:

"The city does desire a just and prompt settlement of the street railway problem by means of unacrimonious negotiation. It assumes that a purpose of the receivership is to bring order out of chaos by such reorganization as will result in a responsible corporation controlling the entire situation in Union Traction territory, with which the city may safely deal. The city will make a grant, on just terms, which shall be in lieu of all existing franchise rights and claims of the companies.

"In view of the character of the so-called 'ninety-nine year act,' and particularly of the new contention that said act placed the city for a century at the mercy of the street railway companies and reduced it to a position of mere subserviency to them, it will neither now nor after litigation, whatever its result, make further grants to supplement that legislation. It has no policy of confiscation, but it insists that the companies must rely on their present rights or accept a new grant expressing all their rights. Their choice lies between stale claims and a modern grant. They may cling to an insufficient state grant or accept an adequate municipal franchise. They may continue to merit the ill will of the people of Chicago or they may secure their hearty cooperation."

Accuses Company of Repudiation.

The mayor goes on to say that the present contention of the company that it possesses rights in all the streets it occupies by virtue of the ninety-nine year act and not through the subsequent ordinances passed by the city council is a virtual repudiation of the contracts it entered into with the city at the time these ordinances were passed, and concludes:

"It is evident that the city must deal with extreme caution with companies making such claims in utter disregard of their own acts and the acts of the original companies, covering a period of nearly forty years. If their contention has 'much force,' this is a new and conclusive reason why the city can have no further dealings with them except on the basis of a surrender of their claims under the act of 1865. It will no longer exercise a 'subservient power,' merely to add to the possessions of the companies. Its representatives had assumed that the city has the same police powers in respect to the street railway companies that your honor holds it may exercise in respect to the 'gas trust.'

"I repeat that the city desires a just settlement of the traction question by means of negotiation. No such settlement can be made without the surrender of the claims of the companies under the disputed ninety-nine year act. The terms of the surrender will, of course, receive due consideration in any negotiation. The representatives of the city will, on request, confer on these matters with your honor, your receivers, or others representing the companies."

Demand Paving as Compensation.

Members of the Real Property Owners' association called on the mayor in the morning to discuss the form compensation from the companies should take. They were led by Former Edward Kelly, who said:

"If we can get 700 miles of streets paved from curb to curb and universal transfers the companies can have the use of the streets."

"Even if one person favors your ideas ten want a reduction of fares as the form of compensation," replied the mayor.

"We do not propose to have the local transportation committee settle this question without hearing from us," continued Father Kelly, and added that mass meetings would be held in favor of the plan.

Judge Grosscup in the morning granted the petition of the receivers to pay the quarterly interest due the stockholders of the North Chicago Street railway company.

THREE RING PARTY PICNIC

CIRCUS FEATURE IN DEMOCRATIC OUTING ON SATURDAY.

Speakers All Accept Invitations and Hence Cannot Be Heard from One Platform—Device of Having Several Stands in Brand's Park and Several Kinds of Oratory at Once Adopted in Hope of Getting Through Within a Reasonable Time.

The experience of the man who was made cross eyed by trying to watch the performances in the three rings of a circus was tame in comparison with the troubles awaiting him who tries to hear all the speeches at the Chicago democracy picnic at Brand's park next Saturday. So numerous is the talent engaged—at least twelve and possibly fifteen speakers—that the management of the club has decided to employ circus devices and operate three speakers' platforms at the same time.

The club really didn't expect all the speakers invited to accept. The managers counted on the usual percentage of "regrets," and when acceptances came from all they were put to their wits' end to arrange matters. Not to give a democratic orator a chance to speak after he had been invited would be a gross violation of political ethics. President McGann, E. M. Lahiff, and the members of the committee never violate political ethics, if they know it. Fifteen or even twelve speeches in succession they knew would run the picnic into "the middle of next week," and that would never do. The committee spent much time and thought on the matter yesterday.

Idea Strikes Lahiff.

"I've got it," shouted Mr. Lahiff, "I've got it."

"You've always had it," retorted a committeeman. "What is the particular manifestation this time?"

"Let's build three platforms and have three speeches at the same time," said Lahiff. "It will be a circus."

"Will the park be big enough?" asked Mr. McGann, seriously. "They'd be cutting into each other."

The controller's fears were laughed down by Lahiff, and finally the latter's plan was adopted. Then came the work of arranging the speakers so that one "ring" should not outclass the other, and so draw all the crowd.

Arranging the Speeches.

It was decided first off that William Jennings Bryan and J. B. Sullivan, the democratic nominee for governor of Iowa, would make a good balance, and they will speak simultaneously at opposite ends of the park. Thus far the work of program making was easy, but here it stuck. The committee decided to take time to place the other speakers, who include the following:

Illinois—Mayor Harrison, Samuel Alschuler, Congressmen J. R. Williams and Elmore Hurst.
Indiana—W. J. McInerney.
Kentucky—Congressman South Trimble.
Iowa—Charles A. Walsh.
Minnesota—D. R. Lawler.
Wisconsin—T. E. Ryan and Lee Brown.
Michigan—D. J. Campau.
Missouri—Mayor James A. Reed of Kansas City.

There will be a parade before the big show at the park, in which the club will get back to first principles and march under the command of Capt. James A. Farrell. Capt. Adrian Anson on horseback will lead the column.

EXPECTS A DENEEN DELEGATION

Representative Trautmann Says St. Clair County Will Send One—Trouble Over Federal Office.

Pertaining to the gubernatorial situation, Representative W. E. Trautmann, who was in Chicago yesterday, predicted that the county of St. Clair would send a Deneen delegation to the state convention.

"The floods, late corn planting, harvesting, and business generally have kept the people so busy," he continued, "that no attention has been given to political matters this summer. However, the republicans are friendly to Mr. Deneen, and L. Y. Sherman has a great many warm supporters among them. You can put it down that St. Clair will be with Deneen and Sherman." Mr. Trautmann said that he was undecided as to whether he would be a candidate for state treasurer.

The republicans of East St. Louis and the whole of southern Illinois are, it seems, much at sea over the appointment of an internal revenue collector for the southern district. Congressman W. A. Rodenberg, George K. Thomas, and other party leaders from that part of the state came to Chicago yesterday for consultations regarding this matter. Senator Hopkins informed them that the president was opposed to removing the incumbent unless he could appoint an old soldier to succeed him.

SUITS INSTEAD OF TRACK RAID.

Robert E. Cantwell's Tactics Changed and No Warrants Are Served at Washington Park Club.

The first day since Robert E. Cantwell began his campaign against the Washington Park race track not a warrant was served at the course. Instead damage suits aggregating $10,000 were filed against Inspector Hunt and the Pinkerton agency. George Nelson, the constable who the day previous served eleven warrants, is the complainant in the damage suits. He was the only constable who appeared at the track yesterday, and according to his story Inspector Hunt refused him assistance and Capt. Foley of the Pinkerton platoon forcibly restrained him from entering the grounds.

STRIKE RIOTING; CURRAN A LOSER.

Kellogg Company Moves Goods and the Freight Handlers Try a Bold Move.

SCORNED BY THE DRIVERS

"Paddle Your Own Canoe," the Teamsters Say, When Asked to Aid a Walkout.

second reached the Panhandle depot, in Western avenue, at 5 in the afternoon.

Both shipments were sent out under heavy police guard from the Desplaines, the West Lake, and the West Thirteenth street stations. Patrol wagons filled with policemen accompanied each team, and every station on the west side had its reserve force ready for action—the first time since the Haymarket riots that such precautions have been taken in that section of the city.

Trouble in the Afternoon.

The strikers became aware of the intention of the company long before the start was made. They gathered in crowds about the plant on Congress and Green streets, ready to cause trouble, and while there was desultory rioting in the morning, trouble began in earnest at 2 in the afternoon.

At that hour an empty wagon of the company dashed into the alley back of the plant, and with it came a patrol wagon and ten policemen. Its approach was the signal for the strikers to gather, and they came from alleys, streets, houses, and yards of the vicinity. They were driven from Congress street and collected on Green and Peoria streets, where they waited for the wagon to be loaded.

Every teamster who happened along was asked to drive to Congress street and help create a blockade at the mouth of the alley. The first driver to make the attempt was one employed by the Henry Weiss Teaming company. He whipped up his team south in Peoria street and was trying to turn into Congress street when the police seized the reins. A lumber teamster also was stopped.

The crowd yelled and jeered, rushed toward the wagons, and strove to push the police aside. The police, however, unhitched the horses, then jumped into the wagons and arrested the teamsters.

Shea Takes a Hand.

Soon Inspector Shea arrived and two more patrol wagons followed. All the police there were set at work driving back the crowds, which numbered over 3,000 men and women. At 3 o'clock the company loaded its wagon, placed Detective G. Trafton of the Desplaines street station and a private detective on the seat, and the start was made.

The wagon, guarded by two patrol wagons, moved out of the alley and started west, Inspector Shea in a buggy riding behind. The teamsters on Congress street drew their trucks together in an effort to cause trouble, but the caravan turned north in Peoria street and then west in Jackson boulevard, where a crowd of men attempted to head it off. The police, however, beat back the crowd and pulled the drivers from their seats.

"Arrest those fellows," shouted the inspector, "and don't let any more wagons get in the way."

Down Jackson boulevard the caravan hurried, the horses moving as fast as their heavy loads would permit. At Sangamon street a wagon belonging to the Art Bedstead company got in the way and four policemen seized the driver, who fought savagely. The police bundled him into a patrol and left his team unguarded. This delay gave the crowd of strikers and their sympathizers a chance to catch up with the wagons.

Warning by Shea.

"If you fellows follow us you will get into the worst trouble of your lives," shouted Inspector Shea, and many of the men gave up the chase.

The wagon and its guards reached Ogden avenue without much trouble and then went south and turned west in Sixteenth street to the Panhandle depot. On the way back the police and the empty wagon experienced little trouble.

When the police reached their stations they locked up the teamsters who had been arrested on the trip. They are: John Brown, Edward Mullen, Bernard Zika, William Brown, Michael Wiley, Burt Peterson, Charles Dailer, Louis Brick, George Range, and John B. Rice.

All were released later in the day on bonds signed by representatives of the teamsters' union.

On the morning trip an employé of the Kellogg company was hit by a stone thrown from the windows of L. Kipper & Son's harness factory at Congress and Peoria streets. No arrests were made. The wagon reached the Burlington freight house in Western avenue within an hour.

The teamsters were indignant at Inspector Shea and appealed to Supt. Cooke of the west park system to prohibit the use of the boulevards for teaming purposes.

Petition for an Injunction.

The legal action against the strikers began when Attorney Jesse Barton of the Chicago Terminal Transfer railroad company appeared in the federal court and asked for an injunction against the teamsters and freight handlers.

Attorney Barton wanted the matter taken up at once, but Judges Grosscup and Kohlsaat were busy on other cases, and an attempt was made to have Judge Seaman of Milwaukee hurry to Chicago and hear the petition. He, too, was busy and sent on word that he could not take up the matter. Finally Judge Grosscup set the preliminary hearing for this morning and directed Attorney Barton to give notice to the defendants.

The Chicago Terminal Transfer company contends that under the interstate commerce law the federal court has jurisdiction. In its bill of complaint it sets forth that the unions have tried to prevent the transfer of goods from the Kellogg Switchboard company to the railroad freight sheds; that the freight handlers have refused to load shipments on to the cars, and that its business will be irreparably injured unless the court interferes.

Curran and Others Named.

The bill of complaint names as principal defendants the officers of the teamsters' and freight handlers' unions. Those directly specified are President L. J. Curran of the freight handlers, President Hugh McGee of the truck drivers, and President Albert Young of the teamsters' union. The court is also asked to restrain all members, agents, and attorneys of these labor organizations.

"We believe that we are interstate carriers," said President J. N. Falthorn of the Terminal company, "and as such we claim protection from the federal courts. We do not believe this strike to be just, and we do not intend to let it cripple our business. We can handle the goods brought to us, and we hope the court will grant us protection."

The petition for an injunction alarmed the labor leaders, and all kept away from the plant of the Kellogg company and sent substitutes to the various freight depots.

Hodcarriers Are Enjoined.

The German Hodcarriers' Union and Benevolent society was restrained by Judge Clifford yesterday from interfering with the Hodcarriers' Building Labor Union of Chicago, which is made up of negroes. The complainants declare that the ranks of their organization have been depleted by the intimidations of the defendant organization, and the injunction restrains the defendants from slandering the complainants or intimidating or coercing them.

Still Another Writ Sought.

The Cook County Bottlers' association appealed to Judge Holdom yesterday morning for an injunction restraining strikers from interfering with the business of its members.

The members of the association allege that they made a contract with their employés on July 10 that binds both parties to arbitrate all disputes. They recite, also, that on July 13 the union formed by the employés repudiated the contract and declared a strike.

The court is asked to restrain the strikers from picketing, patrolling, or watching the establishments of the firms, from using threats or intimidation, and from in any way interfering with their business. Arguments will be heard by the court this morning.

Other Labor Affairs.

The teamsters' joint council last night appointed a committee to try and adjust the quarrel between the two organizations of stonecutters. If the effort fails the teamsters will aid the old union, of which James Short is president, and refuse to haul stone for members of the other organization.

The employés of the wholesale and retail china, glass, and crockery houses of the city have presented demands for an increase in wages. The employés are divided into three classes—the selecters, who now receive $12 a week and want $13.50; the packers, who now receive $13.50 a week and want $15; and the checkers who now receive $12 a week and want $13.50.

WAGON LEAVING KELLOGG COMPANY PLANT TO FACE RIOTING STRIKERS.

[From a photograph taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

In spite of riotous demonstrations along the streets, the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company succeeded in moving two wagonloads of its products to railway stations yesterday. The above photograph shows one of the wagons leaving the company's plant under guard of policemen and detectives. Two of the men on the front seats are detectives.

MANY INJURED IN WRECK.

WABASH TRAINS COLLIDE HEAD ON NEAR HAMMOND.

Cars Are Telescoped and a Number of Passengers Are Among the Hurt—Engineer Joseph Watters May Die—Limited from Detroit Late When Accident Occurred — Relief Force Is Sent from Chicago—Track Blocked for Hours.

A collision of Wabash railway trains several miles east of Hammond, Ind., last evening fatally injured Engineer Joseph Watters and severely shook up passengers on a west bound train.

The collision was between an east bound freight and the passenger train due in Chicago at 9:30 p. m. When the shock came the freight engine was rolled over into the ditch and the passenger locomotive was badly wrecked.

Passengers were thrown from their seats and several of them received severe bruises.

Railway officials say the collision was due to a misunderstanding of signals.

The injured include, beside Engineer Watters, his fireman and Engineer Abraham and the fireman of the freight train. Watters remained at his post, but the three other engine men jumped, thus escaping more serious injury.

The passenger train was thirty minutes late, and was running at a high rate of speed just after passing Tolleston. There Engineer Watters saw the freight train, which, it is said, should have awaited the passenger train at Hammond.

Watters reverser his engine, but too late to prevent the wreck. The baggage and smoking car of the passenger train were telescoped and a number of passengers caught in the wreck. Half a dozen freight cars were piled on the track, which was completely blocked. All late Wabash trains used the Michigan Central tracks.

When word of the wreck reached Chicago a relief train was made up and hurried to the scene of the wreck. At 2 a. m. it started for Chicago with the injured on board.

CUPID BETRAYS HIS AGENT.

Millie Stuart, Matrimonial Promoter, Tells Police Husband Has Deserted Her—Alleged Fraud Aired.

Millie Stuart, who, according to her statement, came to Chicago from Vernon, Mich., to operate a matrimonial bureau, complained to the police yesterday that she had lost her husband and $9,000. She asked for the arrest of Claremont S. Bingham, her husband. Instead of receiving a warrant, Mrs. Stuart was given a return ticket to Vernon, where she will start proceedings against him.

The operations of the Syndicate Merchandise company, 511 Lakeside building, were aired in the Harrison street police court yesterday in the morning, by alleged victims. J. H. Kublank and N. H. White, said to be managers of the company, were charged with obtaining money by false pretenses. According to the testimony, they advertised for managers of a mail order business in large cities. Applicants would be required to deposit $500 and would get nothing back. Kublank was held to the grand jury. White failed to appear and his bond was declared forfeited.

E. R. Marden and H. W. Cross were arrested on the charge of selling a bogus real estate business in room 1, 143 La Salle street.

BOY DRAGGED BY CABLE CAR.

He Slips While Trying to Board Train in State Street and His Coat Catches.

Passengers on a south bound State street cable train near Twenty-second street shortly after 8 o'clock last evening were startled by the screams of Wilbert Hard, 10 years old, who was dragged 100 feet before the cars were stopped. The boy attempted to board the moving train and slipped from the footboard. His coat became entangled in the car and he was dragged along the pavement. The boy's injuries are not serious.

W. J. Meyers, 6008 Wabash avenue, Chicago, was thrown from a Baltimore and Ohio train in the yards at Hammond last night and so badly injured that he is expected to die.

While working on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks at Mayfair Casquie Villa was struck by an east bound passenger train, sustaining severe injuries.

Annie Hins, 22 months old, playing in front of her home at 32 Poe street, was run over and killed by a wagon.

COME TO VIEW RIFLE RANGES.

Members of House Committee on Military Affairs to Arrive in Chicago This Morning.

The committee on military affairs of the house of representatives is expected to arrive in Chicago this morning at 9 o'clock on a mission which is said to have to do with the possible establishment of a great national rifle range at some point in the west. The party will proceed to the Grand Pacific hotel and at 9 o'clock leave in a special car over the St. Paul road, accompanied by George R. Peck, general counsel of the road. They will go direct to Camp Douglas, Wis., the camping ground of the Wisconsin militia, and give it a thorough inspection. From there the party will proceed to Fort Snelling, Minn.

CHOP SUEY TRUST OCTOPUS HAS TENTACLES IN CHICAGO.

Chicago Restaurants Are Coming Into Control of One Company and "Prices Go Up, Mebbe," Says Lung Chen.

And now it is a chop suey trust.

Chicago epicures who have extended their gastronomic adventures to the mysteries of chop suey, bird's nest soup, gamgott, chow mein, and a score of other Chinese delicacies are appalled to learn that prices are going up.

Twenty-five of the thirty-five Chinese restaurants in the city have been absorbed by a Chinese company. The others are holding out for better offers, but the trust has threatened to cut rates and drive out competitors who refuse its terms.

Time was when Chicago could boast of but two chop suey cafés, one in State street, the other in South Clark street. Now Clark street has a dozen, and scarcely a principal street but has its Chinese cafés. Most of them are presided over by chefs and waiters from the Chinese colony in South Clark street.

At first the resorts were owned by individual companies, many of which were engaged in mercantile business in Clark street. Gradually the Hip Lung company and representatives of the Six companies in Chicago bought one restaurant after another, until now Hip Lung is the chop suey king of Chicago.

How soon the rumored raise in the prices of Chinese dishes will come no one in Clark street would divulge yesterday. It seems that the plans of the trust have leaked out prematurely, the negotiations for the ten restaurants outside the combination still being under advisement.

"Yes, I suppose you call it a trust," said Lung Chen, one of the prime movers in the consolidation. "Americans have trusts, why not Chinamen? Chop suey business good business—better when all in together. Prices go up? Mebbe, can't tell. Americans put up prices, sometimes, eh?"

MAN POISONED IN HOTEL: POLICE SUSPECT A WOMAN.

Unknown Guest Taken to County Hospital Unconscious from Effects of Morphine.

Unconscious and in a serious condition from the effects of morphine, believed to have been administered to him by a woman companion, an unidentified man was taken to the county hospital last night from the Chicago hotel, 120 Halsted street.

Mrs. Mary Hancock, the proprietor of the hotel, found the man in a stupor. Detectives from the Desplaines street police station have been unable to trace the woman who accompanied him to the hotel Monday night.

Mrs. Hancock told the police the two came at 11 o'clock Monday night and registered as "Adams and wife." The man appeared well to do. He was addressed as "Oscar" by his companion, and remarked he was a contractor.

Nothing was thought of them until yesterday noon, when Mrs. Hancock went to the room. She found the man apparently asleep. She did not disturb him, but at 5 o'clock visited the room again, when the guest appeared to be in a stupor, causing her to send for the police.

No one had seen the woman leave the hotel. Nothing which had contained the morphine was found in the room, and for this reason the police believe it may have been administered by the woman.

The man is apparently 45 years old and weighs 170 pounds. He has dark hair and mustache and was dressed in a gray summer suit. The initials "J. W. P." were on his clothing. The woman was poorly dressed and wore no hat when she entered the hotel.

While the man's condition is serious, it is thought he may recover. All efforts to revive him have failed, but the physicians say they believe he will regain consciousness later.

SHARE OF A BIG FORTUNE LEFT TO A SHIPPING CLERK.

William Cook, Employed in North State Street, Learns He Is Heir to $100,000 from an Uncle's Estate.

From a shipping clerk at $20 a week to a capitalist with a prospective bank account of $100,000 is the lot of William Cook, 153 North State street. Mr. Cook has just received word that a rich uncle, Chester F. Cook, has died in Brantford, England, and has left him a share of his estate.

The shipping clerk, however, has not given up his position with the National India Rubber company, and says he will not until he has secured the money.

"Riches may take wings," he said, "and rest assured that I will be as diligent as ever in the matter of keeping myself occupied. I have always worked hard and will continue to work, although I may take a vacation and travel some. I will, however, return to the United States and engage in some business."

Mr. Cook, the uncle, was engaged in the silk business. His estate amounted to about $1,000,000, and the nephew in Chicago was one of ten legatees. The Chicago heir is about 23 years old, and has been in Chicago for the last three years, having come here from Bradford, Ill.

Arrested for Alleged Assault.

Charged with assaulting and seriously wounding William Hickey, 569 North Robey street, James Costello, a bartender in a saloon at Clark and Washington streets, was arrested by Central station police last night. Hickey was found unconscious on the floor of the saloon. He is said to have been knocked down because he refused to cease quarreling with customers.

KISHENEFF PLEA PLANS AMENDED.

Roosevelt and Committee of Jews Talk Over Best Way to Present Protest.

DETAILS KEPT SECRET.

Leon N. Levi, Upon Leaving, Says Arrangement Decided Upon Is Pleasing to All.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 14.—[Special.]—An important step was taken today in the matter of the Jewish petition which this country proposes to send to Russia, when Oscar S. Straus and Leon N. Levi of New York and Simon Wolf of Washington, representing the societies interested in the petition, had a conference with President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill.

The conference, it has been learned on the best of authority, was entirely satisfactory to the president and the Jewish representatives, who, according to the same high authority, were highly delighted with the course of procedure which the administration had decided to take in the matter. Just what that course is in detail or even in a general way has not been made known yet.

Slight Change in Original Plans.

It is hinted here that there has been some alteration in the plans of procedure from the course which the administration had marked out at first. It is understood that a statement will be issued by the state department as soon as it is deemed practicable disclosing the steps which have been and will be taken by this government in the matter.

Now that the Russian government has indicated a broad disposition to punish those responsible for the Kisheneff massacre it is said that the question has been raised by the administration whether representations concerning the matter are desirable. The whole affair, it is suggested, may be put in the form of a brief statement through diplomatic channels to the Russian foreign office. In this way Russia would be able to say directly whether or not the petition would be received. If it would not be accepted that would close the incident without the relations between the countries being subjected to an unusual strain.

Petition Not Yet Complete.

The petition, in a modified form, was presented to the president by the representatives today, but it is understood that the signatures are being taken yet, and that the document in its final form will not be turned over to the government for several days. The president had a modified form of the petition in his possession several weeks ago, but he referred it to the representatives of the Jewish societies to be changed in several respects.

The one which he got today was the revised petition. It was said to be entirely satisfactory. There are, it is understood, more Gentile names on the petition at present than Jews. The societies' representatives left here on the 4 o'clock train. They refused to discuss the results of the conference, but Mr. Levi, the chairman of the committee, said:

"We are well satisfied with the course adopted by the government. I cannot tell what that course is.

"The petition will be in the possession of the president within ten days. It will be signed by 100 men whose names are more prominently associated with their citizenship as Americans than as Jews."

"Will the government transmit the petition direct to Russia, or will a note first be addressed to the Russian foreign office asking if the petition will be presented?" was asked of Mr. Levi.

"That I cannot say," he replied. "Anything further about this government's intentions will be given out by the state department in Washington."

Can Tell Nothing in Advance.

"What about the reports that the Russian government has already punished many of those responsible for the cruelties to Jews in Kisheneff?" was next asked of Mr. Levi.

"You've already had that," he replied evasively.

"But have you had confirmation of the report that the guilty were being punished?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Levi nodding his head.

"Will the action of Russia in punishing the guilty have any effect on the transmission of the petition?" Mr. Levi was asked, but he made no answer at all to this query.

Jews Not Guilty of Crime.

KISHENEFF, July 14.—The murderer of the boy Doubassary, whose death was charged to the Jews, and which was the immediate cause of the massacre, has been discovered. He is a gardener and has confessed that he and the boy's uncle committed the crime.

The new governor of Kisheneff, Prince Urosoff, has exchanged visits with the leading Jews of this city.

New Governor Treats Jews Kindly.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ODESSA, July 14.—Prince Urusoff, the new governor of Bessarabia, gave an audience to a large Jewish deputation last Saturday and asked them to speak frankly and fully on all questions they wished to bring to his notice. He listened with the closest attention and assured them they might rely implicitly upon his using the stringent powers with which he is invested to suppress promptly and effectively any further attempted outbreak the unruly element of the populace might be foolish enough to make. Subsequently Prince Urusoff visited the two chiefs of the deputation at their houses. The Jews have taken heart from this and are gratified by the governor's friendly attitude.

SEEK TO AVENGE GIRL'S DEATH.

Relatives of Irma Brown Said to Be Persecuting Dr. Gray, Who Was Acquitted of Murder.

After being tried and acquitted a year ago in Chicago on the charge of having caused the death of Miss Irma Brown of Garden City, Kas., Dr. Robert E. Gray is in more trouble over the case, according to information received yesterday from Garden City. After his trial Dr. Gray returned to Kansas. Now it is said Miss Brown's relations are trying to drive him out of the state. They have laid the case before the Kansas state medical board. They appealed for evidence to the state's attorney and coroner of Cook county yesterday. Dr. Gray has sent for the Chicago attorneys who defended him. A. W. Marston left last night for Topeka.

The proceedings against Dr. Gray are said to be instituted by the girl's father, who, it is reported, attempted to avenge himself with a pistol when the physician returned to Garden City.

Through the efforts of those who are identified with the Chicago bureau of charities the settlement houses and many of the churches, it is now believed that the great majority of cases in which there is need of ice among the poor are being reached through THE TRIBUNE ice fund.

Ernest P. Bicknell, superintendent of the bureau, and his assistants have worked day and night during the last week hunting out the sick babies and supplying the mothers with tickets. Miss Jane Addams has been making daily visits through the territory surrounding Hull House, investigating the conditions and issuing tickets where they were needed. The workers at the other settlement houses and in the churches have been equally active, and, as far as the plan of distribution is concerned, it is now believed to be nearly perfect. The future plans for the fund include its establishment on a permanent basis, and this will be impossible without financial recognition from the public at large.

Route Through Polish District.

Yesterday was the first day of the new route through the Polish district on the west side. It had been expected that it would be two or three days before the families along the new route would learn what the daily visit of the wagon meant. Such was not the case, however, for it was found that nearly half the people along the route were ready with tickets, procured from the various west side stations, and the supply of ice which had been expected to more than meet the demands was barely sufficient.

The Church of the Assumption, 64 East Illinois street, has been added to the list of permanent stations where ice may be obtained. The church is located in the heart of the Italian district of the north side.

The wagon route lying through the Jewish district on the west side proved the most important yesterday in point of the amount of ice distributed. There are numerous cases of sickness along the route, and in many of these it has been necessary to leave more ice than the ten or twenty pounds usually allowed.

In the Polk flats, where on Monday Miss Addams distributed forty free tickets in order that more than 150 children who live in the house might be supplied with ice, 800 pounds were distributed.

Solomon Liskovitz, 163 Barber street, stopped the wagon and asked for a piece of ice, but was refused because he had no ticket.

"But I couldn't leave the baby long enough to go to Hull house," was his answer. "She has typhoid and I was afraid to leave her. There was no one to send."

THE TRIBUNE representative investigated the case and found it was as the man had said. Hereafter there will be plenty of ice for the Liskovitz family.

Mandelia Dandren, 111 Mather street, and Kate Dintore 146 Mather street, both believe they owe the lives of their sick babies to the fact that they were able to obtain free ice through THE TRIBUNE ice fund, and both made it a point to express their thanks as best they could yesterday.

Gift from a Sunday School.

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church of Englewood came to the aid of THE TRIBUNE free ice fund yesterday, sending $10, the gift of which it had authorized at the meeting last Sunday.

"It is a most worthy cause," said Supt. G. J. Thompson, addressing the 275 pupils present. "I know of no way in which $10 can be invested to better advantage, and believe every Sunday school in Chicago should come to the aid of the sick and suffering. Distress is daily relieved by THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, and we may devote a part of our surplus to that most timely charity."

Upon motion of William Rauth, the treasurer, $10 was set aside for the ice fund, and mailed to THE TRIBUNE yesterday.

SECRETS OF THE ICE TRADE.

Big Companies Said to Put Smaller Concerns in the Field to Cut Prices.

Members of the volunteer ice commission are now conducting individual investigations into the ice situation. Yesterday's was the last public hearing, but suggestions and information can be given to the members up to Friday, at which time a report will be made to Corporation Counsel Tolman. F. L. Rabe of Esch Bros. & Rabe testified before the commission yesterday that there is a fair margin of profit in the ice business if 1,000 pound coupon books are sold at $3, provided the customers are conveniently accessible. His firm has five sources from which it draws its ice supply.

"We had a dam at Oswego, Ill.," he said, "but the Knickerbocker Ice company let the water out and we have not used it since."

"Blind pigs," it seems, are not unknown among ice dealers.

"A 'blind pig' in the ice business," said Mr. Rabe, "is an organization with no name, or one run by some other company as a blind. The Consumers' Ice company started the Great Northern Ice company to cut prices, and the Great Northern is a 'blind pig' of the Consumers' company. It sells ice at lower prices than the Consumers' does. The 'blind pigs' do most of the cutting for the big companies.

"Then there is the Zuttermeister Ice company, which is a 'blind pig' of the Knickerbocker Ice company. There is talk that President Blair of the Consumers' Ice company belongs to the Knickerbocker company, but I can not prove it."

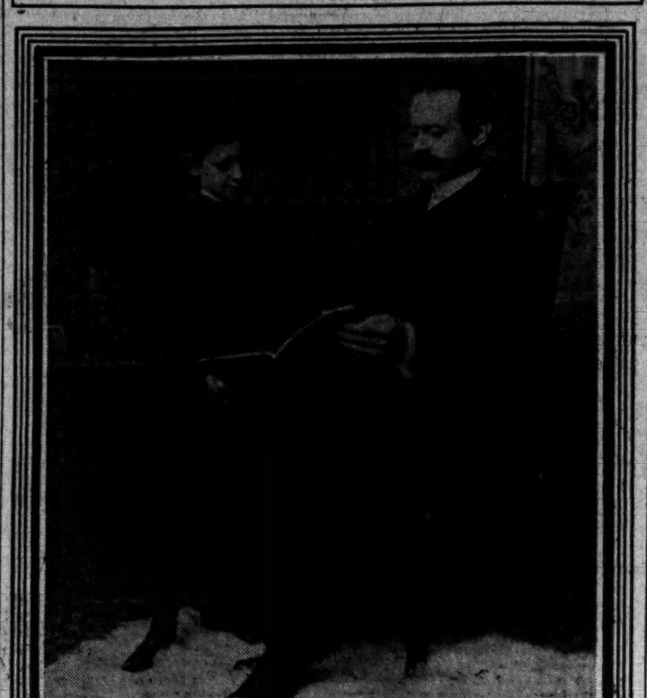

Albert Meyer, president of the Peoples' Pure Ice company, said his concern makes artificial ice and deals solely on the north side and downtown. Its rates to family trade, he said, are $1.75 cash and $4 credit for a 1,000 pound coupon book.

PERSONAL TAX LIST DONE.

TOTAL VALUATION FOR COOK COUNTY IS $470,605,915.

This Is $30,256,040 More than Final Figures of the Board of Review Last Year, Making a Gain of Nearly 8 Per Cent—Chicago Has $451,134,965 of Amount—Reduction in Lake, Jefferson, and North Town—Wealth Due to Removal of Chicagoans.

With the completion of Lake View the board of assessors turned over to the reviewing board yesterday the last of personalty lists for towns in Cook county. The total valuation for 1903 amounts to $470,605,915, or $30,256,040 more than the final figures of the board of review last year, making a gain of nearly 8 per cent.

The assessors found $451,134,965 of personal property in Chicago and $19,470,950 in twenty-nine country towns which do not contribute to city taxes.

The gain in Chicago personalty over that returned by the board of review last year amounted to $30,615,655, of which the greater part was in the South town—an advance of $28,253,345 over the reviewers' figures. There were increases also in Hyde Park, the West town, and in the country towns, but in Lake, Jefferson, and North town there was a reduction of $5,898,155.

Lake View List $13,175,080.

In the Lake View lists turned over to the reviewing board yesterday the assessors found $13,175,080, as against $13,004,650 returned by the board of review and $12,597,360 by the assessors last year.

The number of individual assessments was increased to 63,726 in the city and 79,583 in the county. The total in the county last year was 66,473, with 51,560 in the city.

Property owners who have failed to settle for taxes were given until 10 o'clock this morning to show why their property should not be sold for nonpayment, the decision being rendered by Judge Carter. The number of delinquents this year is estimated at 25 per cent less than the list presented to the court last year.

Chicago Wealth in Lake County.

The wealth brought into Lake county by the removal of Chicago people to Lake Forest and the building up of Dowie's Zion City is shown by the assessors' returns. The valuation for Lake county is $42,485,625. Shields township, in which Lake Forest is situated, stands first in total valuations with $7,791,123. Waukegan, heretofore first, has $7,242,026, and Benton township, which includes Zion City, has advanced to third place, passing Deerfield, which includes Highland Park. The valuation in Benton is $4,095,720; Deerfield, $4,327,064; and Grant, $939,990.

STATE RIFLE TEAM DOING SOME EXCELLENT SHOOTING.

Scores Are Kept Secret, but Capt. Clinnin Says They Will Have Little Difficulty in Winning the Washburn Trophy.

Springfield, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—The eight men of the First regiment who won places on the state rifle team are doing practice shooting at Camp Lincoln rifle range that, if accomplished by the team of ten men in the trophy shoot next September, will be a sure winner. Capt. John V. Clinnin, range officer at Camp Logan, who is acting captain of the team, predicts that Illinois will be an easy winner against Minnesota and Wisconsin, and possibly Michigan, if that state decides to enter a team for the Washburn trophy.

The members of the First regiment who are on the state team are Sergt. Clyde Thompson, Sergt. E. S. Hopps, Corporal Del Lewis, Private Winston of Company I, Lieut. James Burns of Company B, Sergt. Frank Quinn of Company B, Sergt. Stanley Jones of Company I, and Capt. Clinnin.

The cross range scores made on Monday and today by the team of riflemen are marvelous. The scores are kept secret as a matter of precaution, but it is ascertained that the eight men averaged 170 out of a possible 200 on the cross range scores.

SEEK NEW EVIDENCE ON LEVEE.

Members of Citizens' Committee Bending Every Effort to Secure Convictions in Cases Postponed.

Evidence against keepers of resorts in the "new levee" is being sought by the citizens' committee which carried on the recent crusade.

"There will be no abatement of the crusade against the levee extension in Wabash avenue and that neighborhood," said the Rev. Johnston Myers last night, after a meeting of the Wabash avenue citizens' committee, of which he is secretary. The committee decided to prosecute a saloonkeeper at Twenty-fourth street and Wabash avenue for violation of the ordinance forbidding the location of a saloon within 150 feet of a church. The saloon is within seventy-five feet of Quinn chapel.

The committee reports it will make an effort to secure indictments against fifty or more keepers of resorts at the next session of the grand jury, beginning July 20.

John Cella, 3033 Cottage Grove avenue, was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning for violating the midnight closing ordinance on Sunday.

RICH GIRL KNOWS JOCKEY.

SENDS FLOWERS TO BEDSIDE OF INJURED WILLIE RYAN.

Her 'Phone Number in Man's Pocket Leads to His Identification — Young Woman Says Tip from Him Won Her $100 Last Saturday at Washington Park and That Is Extent of Their Acquaintance—Police Have No Suspicion of Foul Play in Case.

A profusion of flowers at the bedside of Willie Ryan, the former jockey who was seriously injured in a fall Sunday morning, testifies to the gratitude felt by a Hyde Park young woman for the tips on the races given to her by him. Ryan is at the Englewood Union hospital, and the physicians say he cannot recover. His injuries, the police say, are the result of an accident.

The identity of the woman is kept a secret by the police. Capt. Shippy declares that her father is wealthy, and that she is known in society.

Ryan was found Sunday by the Lake Shore railroad track elevation at Sixty-second street. He seemed to have sustained serious injuries. At the hospital a telephone number penciled on the back of a losing bookmaker's ticket in his pocket was the only clew to his identity.

"I called up the telephone number," Capt. Shippy said, "and a woman's voice was heard to reply. Explaining the facts, I asked if she knew a man like the one at the hospital. She said it might be that the person of whom I was asking was Ryan, whom she had met at the track on Saturday.

"She consented to go to the hospital, where she identified him. She went to the races Saturday, she said, with her brother and the jockey, whom she had never before seen, gave them a tip on a race and placed their bets. She says she won $400, of which she gave Ryan $20, marking her telephone on a ticket with the request that if he knew of anything 'good' in the future he should call her up."

Ryan's course from early Saturday evening until he was picked up the following morning has been learned by the police. He attended a jockey's dance at Thirty-first street and Rhodes avenue, going from there to saloons in the Twenty-second district, which he left at 10 a. m. Sunday. Taking a State street car, he fell asleep and was put off at Sixty-first street. An hour later he wandered on the elevated tracks and stopped to ask directions of a switchman a few minutes before he was found unconscious. There is evidence that he was nearly out of money, and Capt. Shippy says there is not a suspicion of foul play.

FINDS CHICAGO A RUDE CITY.

Resident of Fifteen Years Takes Others to Task for Lack of Decency on Street Cars.

Chicago, July 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Every little while we have a spasm of "keep the city clean," or "help make the city beautiful," or something akin to the gilding of the material Chicago without a thought of why all this needs to be done. As pointing to the fact that it is the Chicago citizen who needs retouching and sandpapering all around I would like to recite the experiences of a quiet Sabbath round trip from Oak Park to Chicago in a Lake Street elevated train.

At Fortieth avenue a man came into the almost empty car and seated himself beside me by the usual backing up to the unoccupied portion of the seat and dropping into it with the usual thud. Then, still in the usual manner, he expectorated on the floor at my feet, continuing until I threatened to throw him out of the seat and out of the car.

Returning home I went to the Randolph and Wabash station of the road, intending to ride around the loop to insure a seat. But the seat I chose had 5 cents' worth of chewing gum plastered to the exact center of it and about 3 cents' worth stuck to the corner. Just then, as I balked at the gum, a couple deserted one of the cross seats near a window and I went over and sat down, leaning an elbow on the ledge of the open window.

Turning into Fifth avenue at Van Buren street a Metropolitan train stood there while the Lake street train with the right of way swung across the tracks to pass its length. As we passed I saw a boy about 16 years old in an open window of the Metropolitan train leaning out, and just as I came in line he leaned even further out, and, with a mouth well charged with saliva, spat full into my face!

If somebody will organize a society for helping keep this city about as ugly and boorish and uninviting as it really is at heart, as a citizen of nearly fteen years' residence I shall be glad to join it. DISGUSTED.

ASK POLICE TO FIND MISSING.

Friends of Lost Ones from Zion City, Joliet, and Cincinnati Apply for Aid.

The Chicago police were asked yesterday to locate three wanderers from other cities, Zion City seeking a student of "Dr." Dowie's religion and Joliet reporting the disappearance of Horace Earl, a confectioner. Earl left his home on Sunday, saying he was coming to Chicago to meet his brother-in-law, G. H. Fairbault, 272 East Indiana street. He arrived, but staid only a few minutes.

Edwin P. Watterson, 811 Kenyon avenue, Cincinnati, is seeking his son Joseph, 13 years old, who left home on Friday.

DOCTORS FLEE WITH SONS

TWO CHICAGO PHYSICIANS ARE CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING.

George Krieger Supposed to Be on His Way to Germany in Company of His Eight Year Old Boy and the Police of Hamburg Are Asked to Arrest Him—Charles A. Kirkwood Is the Other Accused Man—Each Figures in Divorce Suit Brought by Wife.

Two Chicago physicians are being sought by the police on the charge of kidnaping their own sons. One of them is supposed to be on the way to Germany, while it is believed the other has gone to Canada. A divorce suit is pending against each physician.

The fugitive who is supposed to be crossing the Atlantic is Dr. George E. Krieger, who is accompanied by his 8 year old son Eddy. Dr. Krieger had an office at 9023 Exchange avenue, South Chicago, and until six months ago his wife Emily lived with him. Then there was a quarrel and Mrs. Krieger went to live with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Eddy Bert, at 3242 Vernon avenue. She filed a bill for divorce, her husband agreeing that she should have the temporary custody of the child on condition that he be allowed to visit his son on Tuesdays and Fridays.

A week ago Dr. Krieger called at the home of the Berts and asked to be allowed to take the child to Cedar Lake, Ind., for a few days, Mrs. Krieger agreeing on the doctor's promise that he would return the following Friday.

News Comes by 'Phone.

On Friday Mrs. Krieger received a special delivery letter from Cedar Lake in which the doctor said that the son would not return until the following day, but on Saturday a brief telephone message said that the doctor and his son had decided not to return.

Detectives were at once employed in the case and it was learned that on the day before Dr. Krieger was supposed to have gone to Cedar Lake an expressman had moved all of his personal effects from his office in South Chicago to the Wabash depot. Neither the doctor nor his son had visited Cedar Lake, the special delivery letter having been mailed by a friend. Dr. Bert declares a number of persons are implicated in the case.

The boy and his father were then traced to New York, where it was learned that they had taken passage on the steamship Pennsylvania for Germany. Dr. Krieger's former home is in Neumiester, Germany, and it is supposed he is bound for that point. The Hamburg police have been asked to arrest him. Dr. Krieger is 35 years old and is well known among the German residents of Chicago.

During the day counsel for Mrs. Krieger filed a motion in Judge Gibbons' court asking that the divorce case brought by her against her husband be reinstated. Mrs. Krieger is said to be prostrated by her troubles.

Almost a Parallel Case.

The other charge concerns Dr. Charles A. Kirkwood, 712 Milwaukee avenue, whose wife says he went to her home at 339 North Ashland avenue last Saturday and asked leave to see their son, Virdi. When she was not looking, Mrs. Kirkwood asserts, her husband grabbed the child and ran to the street, where he had a carriage in waiting. The child was placed in the carriage and driven rapidly away, she says. Dr. Kirkwood had made the threat, it is said, that if he obtained possession of the child he would go to Canada. Mrs. Kirkwood, incidental to her divorce suit against her husband, secured an injunction restraining him from taking her child out of her custody. Now a writ of attachment has been issued for Kirkwood.

BLIND VICTIM OF FAILURE BECOMES 62 YEARS OF AGE.

Sebastian Greszer Attends Little Bohemian Church and Hopes to Visit All the Others—Fund Now $676.86.

Some men would have celebrated the sixty-second birthday by starting for Europe, especially if that birthday marked their retirement from active work. Sebastian Greszer, however, attended a little Bohemian Roman Catholic church on the south side, and last evening said he had enjoyed the experience more than any other thing he could remember.

"I heard about the Bohemian church at Princeton avenue and Twenty-fifth street," he said. "I had to celebrate my birthday, and going there was the best thing next to moving. I want to move out on the north side where there are German people, but I didn't find a room in time to do it today.

"I wish you would tell the people who sent me money how I am enjoying myself, and how much I thank them. Tell them I went to the colored people's church at Thirtieth and Dearborn streets the other day, and if I live long enough I am going to go to every church in town."

The fund for the relief of this victim of the Schumacher bank failure now stands as follows:

FUNERAL OF THOMAS CHALMERS

Services to Be Held in the Late Home of the Manufacturer Tomorrow Afternoon.

Funeral services for Thomas Chalmers, who died on Monday, will be held at his late home, 179 Ashland boulevard, at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Mr. Chalmers was identified with the manufacturing interests of Chicago practically since his arrival here in 1844, and was one of the founders of Fraser & Chalmers Iron works.

Mr. Chalmers was born in Bronley, Scotland, eighty-eight years ago, and learned the machinist's trade when a boy. He came to the United States in 1843 and went first to Ottawa, Ill. Mr. Chalmers' career in Chicago is similar to that of many of the men most prominently identified with the rapid growth of the city. Commencing as a day laborer, he gradually acquired a foothold, and laid the foundations of a manufacturing career which has carried his name and the name of the city to many distant parts of the earth.

Mr. Chalmers retained his health and strength, despite his years and the life of hard work, until last summer, when he became a victim of bronchial trouble, which terminated fatally.

OBITUARY.

THOMAS H. STEVENS, president and founder of the provision firm of Stevens & Co., and said to have been the oldest active provision merchant in the United States, died at his residence, 2984 Kenmore avenue, North Edgewater, yesterday, aged 74 years. Mr. Stevens was born in England and came to America in 1861. For many years he carried on a provision business in New York City, and in 1882 transferred his establishment to Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens celebrated their golden wedding last February. The widow, two sons, and two daughters survive. The sons are William H. and Thomas M., and the daughters are Mrs. J. W. Embree and Mrs. Henry M. Fraser.

CHARLES N. HOLDEN, Chicago, who died on Monday, was buried yesterday afternoon at Rosehill, the funeral being held at his late residence, 1841 Wellington avenue. Mr. Holden was 51 years old. He was born in Chicago. At the time of his death he was engaged in the fruit brokerage business at 42 River street. A widow and daughter survive him.

Open Verdict on Woman's Death.

An open verdict to the effect that Delia Ackerman died from septic poisoning was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon. Whether an operation had been performed on the young woman, leading to her death at the county hospital, could not be determined, and there was no recommendation made by the jury. Mrs. E. Kaufman, who had been arrested, will be released from custody.

PLAN TO BLOCK TUNNEL GRANT.

Ald. Snow Prepares to Demand Extended Consideration of the Ordinance.

WANTS EXPERTS TO ACT.

Illinois Company's Franchise Too Important to Be Passed with Haste.

When the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph ordinance comes before the city council at its meeting tonight Ald. Snow will introduce a resolution providing that the ordinance be referred for revision to a commission to be appointed by the mayor. He would have the commission composed of five members of the committee on local transportation, five of the judiciary committee, and five citizens to be selected on account of their engineering knowledge.

"I do not know that I am opposed to the ordinance," said the alderman yesterday, "but I am sure a matter so important as this should not be acted on by the council until it has full information from authoritative sources. Underground freight transportation is a new proposition, and we have no experience on which to base action. It is requisite that the company should make a full and fair declaration of its plans and intentions, and these should be carefully considered along with the views of experts."

Wants These Points Covered.

The matters on which the commission will be asked, in the resolutions, to report are:

The feasibility and desirability of underground freight transportation, the possible application of any such system to the conditions ruling Chicago, the limitations which should be placed upon such a system, as well as upon the engineering and financial problems.

The engineering and transportation plans proposed to be followed by the Illinois Telephone and Telegraph company in construction and operation of its proposed system of transportation.

The resolution will provide for a report by Sept. 14, and that no action be taken by the council on the ordinance until the report is made.

Police Inquiry May Fail.

Mayor Harrison and President Powell of the civil service commission had a consultation yesterday regarding an investigation of the charges recently made that members of the police department had been blackmailing residents of the "red light district," but there seems little prospect that much will come of the matter.

"If any evidence is forthcoming the investigation will be held," said the mayor, "but up to date none has been forthcoming. We have none of our own and no one seems anxious to produce any."

"We are open to communications of any kind concerning 'graft' charges," said President Powell, "but as yet we have not received any evidence."

Sixteen new names were added to the police pension pay rolls during the day, among them being that of Lieut. John B. Creighton, who retires after twenty years' service.

May Raid the Clubs.

Unless the clubs take out licenses at once some of them may be raided for selling liquor illegally. The mayor said yesterday the police had been instructed to report on clubs as well as saloons, and the same course would be followed in the one case as in the other. The corporation counsel said an application for a license did not give a right to sell. The license must be procured first. The amount of money collected for what is known as "minor licenses," other than saloon, was $3,403 less for May and June of this year than last.

As to the Postoffice.

The mayor said yesterday he was not at all exercised about the reports that the temporary postoffice would be continued on the lake front indefinitely, for the reason that the new postoffice, when completed, would not have room enough to accommodate Uncle Sam's business.

"Montgomery Ward can be depended on to look after that case," said the mayor, "and I do not intend to bother my head about it. The temporary postoffice certainly cannot stay where it is longer than absolutely necessary. If it is true the new postoffice will be outgrown before it is finished and an additional building will be necessary, I would advise the government to begin building it at once, so it may be finished before still another one is needed."

Other Municipal Affairs.

Mayor Harrison explained his failure to demand more than 3 per cent compensation from the Postal Pneumatic Tube company by saying he "did not have the nerve."

An echo of the moribund United Telegraph and Telephone company ordinance was heard yesterday when Ald. Moynihan, who voted for it in committee, claimed the measure the corporation counsel condemned so strangly had been drawn up in the corporation counsel's own office.

The judiciary commitee has recommended for passage the ordinance providing half fare on the elevated roads, the same as on the surface cars.

Asks Attachment Against Sullivan.

Charles A. Seeley has brought attachment proceedings in the Circuit court against George T. Sullivan and the George T. Sullivan company, who, he alleges, owe him $640. He charges that the defendants have within the last two years fraudulently assigned their effects or a part thereof so as to hinder and delay their creditors, and claims they are about to conceal their property.

SHOT DEAD BY HUSBAND, WHO TURNS WEAPON ON HIMSELF.

Mrs. Bertha Horwarth Murdered as Climax to Life Filled with Marital Troubles—Assailant Confesses Crime.

As a climax to a life filled with marital disasters Mrs. Bertha Horwarth was killed early yesterday morning by her husband, who then shot himself, but not fatally. Four blocks away from the cottage at 200 Blackhawk street, where the tragedy occurred, Joseph Horwarth, the husband, fell into the arms of two policemen, who took him to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. There he gasped out this confession before he lapsed into unconsciousness:

"I shot her because she had me arrested."

Horwarth was his wife's fifth husband. With each of his predecessors the woman had had a stormy career. Two husbands left her, the third committed suicide, and the fourth was divorced.

The troubles between Horwarth and his wife began soon after their marriage, and they soon separated. Horwarth lived at 209 Clybourn avenue, but often went to his wife's house, it is said, and threatened her. The woman at last became afraid of him, and on Monday told the Larrabee street police he had threatened her life. She was advised to have him arrested, and the hearing was set for yesterday before Justice Eberhardt.

"He will kill me before that time," Mrs. Horwarth said at the station, and at 2 o'clock yesterday morning her prophecy came true.

Horwarth crept to a side window before a little flower garden. He raised the sash and entered. A conversation in low tones was heard by Anton Friedel and Gustave Trapp, who live on the second floor of the cottage. Then louder tones arose, followed by five shots. The men in the upper window saw Horwarth emerge into the garden and disappear in Uhland street.

All four of the shots fired at Mrs. Horwarth took effect. One hit her in the arm, one in the breast, one in the head, and one in the back. She lay half out of bed when the police entered the house. Her body was taken to the undertaking rooms at 112 Clybourn avenue, where the inquest will be held.

Horwarth had a pawn check in his pocket for $2.75. The money was obtained from a ring on Sunday and he is supposed to have paid it for the pistol.

SAND FLIES INVADE CHICAGO.

Insects from Michigan Swoop Down on Lake Front and on the Passenger Steamers.

Thousands of sand flies from the dunes along the east shore of Lake Michigan descended on Chicago's water front last night. When the steamer Christopher Columbus came in from Milwaukee it was necessary to extinguish its searchlight because of the swarms of insects it attracted.

Before the steamer Virginia left its wharf at 9 o'clock many passengers had closed their staterooms against the flies.

POSTUM COFFEE

AN HONEST DOCTOR

SPEAKS OF COFFEE DRINKING.

ABOUT coffee drinking, a prominent Chicago physician says: "I have the best of reasons for naming coffee as among the most dangerous of slow poisons. My own personal experience outside of the general experience gained by my practice has taught me the truth.

"At about 16 I became a member of a young people's society whose pledge barred the use of all intoxicants, tobacco, tea and coffee until the age of 21. I kept my pledge and early temperate habits were formed. Up to about my 30th year I was an athlete; no one had better health or spirits.

"A short time after passing thirty I began the use of coffee at breakfast with an occasional cup at evening parties. The first symptoms of ill health I remember came soon and later sore mouth and stomach trouble followed. Finally well marked dyspepsia supervened. My bowels sympathized, of course, also my nervous system became impared. Dizziness attacked me and tremulous hands rendered writing exeedingly difficult. My diet had to be restricted. Experienced medical advisers forbade all fruits.

"Several attacks of gastritis troubled me and bowel complaint became quite frequent.

"I am now past 60 years of age. About 18 months ago I saw a shrewdly written statement of Postum Cereal Coffee. I gave it careful reading and thought, and as an experiment substituted Postum for Java and Mocha. For the first three days of the change I felt keenly the loss of the stimulant, after that the nutrient quality of the Postum more than compensated the deprivation, and an astonishing change came in recurring hunger three times daily; I could scarcely wait for meals, a sensation I had not had for more than thirty years.

"Now my health is excellent. I eat fruits of all kinds and foods as my appetite demands. I am regaining my nervous tone and my strength is increasing daily. Except my change from coffee to Postum I have made no change in my mode of living.

"Do you wonder that I name coffee as the most dangerous of slow poisons?

"I believe there are thousands suffering as I suffered." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

INVESTORS MOURN LOSS OF $100,000.

American Finance and Mortgage Company a "Get Rich Quick" Concern.

KNOW ROXBURY'S SLAYER

Inspector Titus Says Arrest Will Be Made in the Near Future.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, July 14.

Offices Close When Goslin Leaves Country.

Right on the heels of Alfred R. Goslin's departure for Europe last Wednesday there came today the sudden closing of the offices of the "American Finance and Mortgage company" at 112 Wall street, of which Fernando Baltes, the former president of the Mechanics and Traders' bank, now at 165 Broadway, was the chief executive officer.

Some persons were inclined to believe that the former bank president believed in the wholesomeness of the "American Finance and Mortgage company," notwithstanding its boasted earnings of 15 and 16 per cent a month to investors who were inclined to nibble at the toothsome bait.

While the "American Finance and Mortgage company" was organized several months ago and simultaneously with its establishment the offices of the "Independent Guaranty and Trust company" and the "Federal Securities company" opened only three blocks away, it is believed that the "investors'" money that has finally been ferried away will amount to perhaps as much as $100,000. But gone it is, and with it those who were interested as the management and promoters of the "get rich quick" institution.

Immediately after Goslin left an attachment for $14,000 was secured against the company.

Miss Mary J. Piercey, said to have been one of the smallest women in the world, is dead at her home in Bayonne, N. J. She was 31 inches tall, weighed 50 pounds, and was 40 years of age. The recent hot weather caused her fatal illness.

Police Closing In on Murderer of C. W. Roxbury.

In Harlem river, just north of the Second avenue bridge, under the approach of which a bundle of woman's garments was found Saturday morning, the half clothed body of a young woman was discovered this afternoon. It was brought to the surface by the propeller of a tug, but sank again before it could be recovered. A force of men immediately began dragging the river for the body.

Inspector Titus late tonight told a reporter he had received information which led him to believe there was no connection between placing the woman's clothing under the approach of the Second avenue bridge and the murder of Roxbury. He added, however, that he had other developments, of which he would not be justified in speaking even in a general way, which indicate the murderer of Roxbury will be arrested in the near future.

Lillian Thomasch, who was with Roxbury when he was assaulted, called at the office of District Attorney Jerome today. There she was questioned by Assistant District Attorney Garvan, to whom she repeated the story she told before the coroner's jury on the previous day. Garvan satisfied himself the young woman was telling the truth and she was permitted to go to her home. Garvan has taken the same ground as Titus, believing Miss Thomasch varied her story only in minor details.

The board of aldermen today defeated the appropriation of $6,533,000 for the new Manhattan bridge by 41 nays to 23 yeas. It needed forty negative votes to defeat the appropriation. The proposed bridge was to connect Manhattan and Brooklyn.

Charges of Fraud Made Against Banking Concern.

Application was made today by the state banking commissioner of New Jersey for a receiver for the Interstate Trust company, a concern incorporated under New Jersey laws and with its main office located at 25 Pine street in this city.

In the bill filed at Trenton grave charges of fraud are made against the Interstate Trust company, and so convincing was the presentment of data made by the banking commissioner that a court order was issued restraining the company from transacting any business until a receiver has been appointed.

Leonard Imboden took charge of the affairs of the concern. It is shown that the Interstate company, with practically no business, proposes to float $20,000,000 of collateral trust mortgage bonds and to increase its capital stock from $100,000 to $5,000,000, and this, the commissioner says, is sufficient to raise a banking suspicion as to the motives prompting such a transaction. Last June an examination showed its resources to be $9,218 and liabilities $116,000.

Ambassadors Declare Kaiser a Good Fellow.

Charlemagne Tower, the ambassador to Germany, and George von Lengerke Meyer, the ambassador to Italy, arrived here today on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. Both ambassadors are on their vacations. Mr. Meyer's comment on the reports that he is going to resign was that he never had such an intention. Both Ambassador Tower and Ambassador Meyer were at Kiel during the regatta and the reception to the American fleet. They were guests of the kaiser several times at dinners and on his American yacht, Meteor II., and they brought back word that the kaiser at such times is the finest fellow any one would want to meet. Ambassador Tower said:

"The kaiser is a great man, and if he were to visit this country he would carry everything before him. The reason why he would be liked over here is because he is enlightened, broad minded, progressive, and, above all, democratic. In one characteristic he is American. He is full to the brim of what we call 'go.' Other monarchs are interested in horse racing. With the kaiser it is yachting. He is a fine yachtsman.

"Prince Henry said at dinner a few days before I sailed that he was wishing for another opportunity to visit this country. He said he wanted to come here above all other places."

Candy Trust Summoned Into Court.

Eleven members of the executive board of the New York Confectionery Jobbers' Protective association, the corporate name of the alleged candy trust, have been summoned to appear before Justice Wyatt in the Court of Special Sessions tomorrow to answer to a charge of criminal conspiracy brought under a section of the penal code describing "conspiracy against trade or commerce." The complainant is Morris Goldenberg, a jobber, who says he was driven out of business by the alleged combine and financially ruined. As one of the results of its alleged persecution, he says, he was compelled to send his wife to an insane asylum, where she died.

Widow of Best Gets Letter from Mrs. Woods.

A letter purporting to have been written by Mrs. Alice C. Woods has been received by the widow of Col. W. J. Best, whose mysterious death in California has been under investigation. The communication was mailed one day prior to that received by Mrs. Boston, Pa., newspaper, and while the envelope contained no date, it is said to have been mailed somewhere in Pennsylvania. If the letter is authentic it would not bear out the supposition of those connected with the case that Dr. Woods and his wife have gone to Canada to escape service of a warrant. The writer reiterates that Col. Best died a natural death, caused by cerebral hemorrhage, and explains the disposition of his effects. Apparently the letter throws no new light on the affair.

Court Grants Mrs. Bigelow Absolute Divorce.

Thomas G. Barker, paroled after serving two of the five years of imprisonment to which he was sentenced for attempting to take the life of the Rev. John Keller, returned today to his wife, whose story caused him to commit the deed which sent him behind prison bars. Three hours after he left the state prison at Trenton he was standing on the porch of his old home at Arlington, N. J., where Mrs. Barker clasped him about the neck and old friends bade him welcome. Within a few blocks and still suffering from the injuries of two years ago was John Keller.

Released from Prison, Barker Returns to Wife.

William F. Powell, United States minister to Hayti, arrived here today on the steamer Prinz Wilhelm Fourth.

The final decree granting Mrs. Edith E. Bigelow an absolute divorce from Poultney Bigelow was signed today by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich. It allows Mrs. Bigelow the privilege of remarrying, and puts the two children, Edith and Dorothy, in the mother's care until they shall be old enough to select their own guardian. The custody of the third child, Mildred, was awarded to the father on condition that Mrs. Bigelow shall have the privilege of visiting her at all reasonable times. The identity of the corespondent in the suit never became known.

REDUCED TO RANKS FOR THEFT.

Quartermaster Sergeant at Fort Sheridan Disgraced Before Command and Sent to Prison with Private.

With their comrades and all the members of the command at Fort Sheridan drawn up for parade, and witnesses of their disgrace, Quartermaster Sergeant Hugh M. McLantry and Private Ripan Hagan of the Fourteenth battery of artillery were led to the center of the hollow square yesterday under arrest for theft, and there Sergeant McLantry was reduced to the ranks before being returned to the guardhouse.

The artillerymen are accused of stealing fifteen halters, a number of blankets, and other property belonging to the government, the value of the goods being about $100. Persons in Highland Park bought the stolen property, the army officials allege.

McLantry has seen service in the Philippines. He is 21 years old, and is said to be well connected in New York, where he reenlisted eighteen months ago. He is said to have manipulated the books of his department to prevent discovery of the thefts. The two men had been under suspicion for some time, but were not arrested until shortly before parade yesterday.

POLITICAL TALK COSTS $950.

Louis Wagner Spends Five Minutes with Stranger and in Interest Forgets His Money.

It cost Louis Wagner of South Chicago $950 to talk politics for five minutes with a chance acquaintance yesterday.

Wagner is agent for steamship lines and has an office at 8458 Mackinaw avenue. He had a call for six tickets from Chicago to Austria yesterday. With $950 in gold in a handkerchief, he started for Chicago to purchase the tickets.

While waiting for a train in the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago depot at Ninety-fourth street, a stranger started a conversation. Wagner laid the handkerchief on the seat in the station and became so interested in his argument that he left the money behind when he boarded the train with the stranger. He missed it when half way to Chicago and telephoned back to the station, but the money was gone. Two women in the station when he left had tickets to Hobart, Ind., and the police at Hobart were asked to hold them. When they arrived there they denied having seen the money.

MOLINEUX FILES AN APPEAL.

Is Using All Efforts to Obtain Possession of Records Taken While He Was in Prison.

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—Attorney General Cunen today was served with notice of appeal by Roland B. Molineux from the decision of Justice Howard denying him a mandamus to compel the return to him by the state prison department of photographs, Bertillon measurements, and other personal records. He claims that as he was eventually acquitted the state has no right to record him as a criminal. The case now goes to the Appellate division, third department.

GIRL SUSPECTED OF MURDER IN NEW YORK.

Miss Lillian Thomasch, the young woman who was walking with Charles W. Roxbury when he was murdered in a dark street in the Bronx, New York, Friday night, is under surveillance by the police. In her story to the police Miss Thomasch said Roxbury was struck down by a man who sprang up from the ground as they came near him. While this is believed to be true, it is thought there was some motive for the deed other than robbery.

DOWIE MUST STAND TRIAL

COURT REFUSES TO TAKE LIBEL CASE FROM THE JURY.

Attorney for the Overseer Attempts to Show That Published Attacks on Samuel G. Priddle Were Justified, but Judge Smith Orders That the Proceedings Continue—Pamphlets Show Plaintiff Said Some Hard Things About Self-Styled Healer.

That John Alexander Dowie was merely "getting even" when he denounced Samuel G. Priddle in Leaves of Healing was the plea made by Dowie's lawyer in Judge Smith's court yesterday. It was asked that the libel case be taken from the jury, but the court ruled otherwise. Judge Smith also refused to admit certain specific evidence designed to show that Priddle's reputation was bad when he was attacked by Dowie.

Counsel for the defense offered as evidence a large number of letters, pamphlets, and handbills of which Priddle is said to have been the author. Judge Smith, however, refused to admit them as evidence. In one of the pamphlets, which contains a picture of Priddle, it is said:

"Prophecies against Dowie made by Priddle during 1901 have all been fulfilled. God is working wonders. The following are calamities recorded against Zion: Deaths, 25; times mobbed, 12; troubles, 90; fires, 6."

Priddle also delivered himself of the following reflection in another part of the pamphlet:

"Priddle had to sleep in the south side station all night on the soft side of a board, but he had a glorious time and thought that God would punish Dowie severely, and, behold, next morning after the judge dismissed him he read that the west side tabernacle had been destroyed by fire."

A printed statement signed by Priddle contains the following:

"Samuel G. Priddle, or the second Samuel, with the spirit and power of Elijah, has arrived. He challenges any person or body of persons to prove to the contrary."

A handbill, said to have been circulated by Priddle, read:

"Free excursion to hades from all points east and west, north and south, via the shortest, surest, safest route of sin. Free for the liars, thieves, murderers, professional politicians, the impenitents, and all the holy (?) hypocrites in Dowie's congregation."

James Smith asserted that Priddle was not good enough to become a member of Dowie's church, but the Rev. R. H. Wilkinson and the Rev. G. M. Bassett, formerly pastors of the Northwest Methodist Episcopal church, and George Stanford, a member of the board of directors, declared that when Priddle was a member of that church a few years ago his reputation was good.

FIND A "FROST" AT ZION CITY.

People Returning from Feast of Tabernacle Report Visitors Few and Enthusiasm Gone.

Is the rule of John Alexander Dowie waning and has he lost influence over his followers, is the question that is being asked by outsiders returning from the celebration of the feast of tabernacles at Zion City yesterday. The celebration, which is still in progress, is proving a great disappointment to Dowie. Few of the thousands of visitors expected have reached Zion City. All the enthusiasm which marked the first year of the life of the city is gone. Dowie is determined, however, and expects the great crowds the latter part of the week.

RED AND BLUE PAINT TOO MUCH.

Mrs. Irma Renkle Accumulates Unusual List of Reasons Why She Wants a Divorce.

Rochester, N. Y., July 14.—[Special.]—A coat of vivid red paint applied to the house and supplemented by bright blue trimming was the last straw that drove Mrs. Irma Renkle to demand a decree of divorce from her husband, E. Smith Renkle of Riga. In her complaint of "cruel and inhuman treatment" the wife alleges she is of a hysterical temperament, and that the painting was done with the deliberate intent to drive her to madness. She alleges she dare not go out of doors, as the sight of the house induces hysteria. She also affirms in her petition that her husband stamps on the floor in washing and rattles the dishes in eating for the same purpose, but in addition to all these unusual grounds she ayers her husband has joined thirty-six lodges and practices the signs, distress grips, and passwords in her presence.

NEGRO'S VICTIM SEES LYNCHING.

Black Is Chased Over Seven Counties in Georgia After Attack on Woman.

PRONOUNCES HIS FATE.

Tied to Tree and Shot to Pieces; Deputy Sheriff in New York Saves Prisoner.

Eastman, Ga., July 14.—[Special.]—Ed Claus, a negro, was lynched near here tonight, while his victim, Miss Susie Johnson, was looking on. Claus was captured after being chased through seven counties by fifty farmers.

Claus attacked Miss Johnson last Thursday as she was returning from a small school which she teaches. The negro kept her prisoner for several hours, and she was found next morning by a searching party. A posse was organized and the negro was trailed from here almost to Savannah before he was overtaken.

He was brought here tonight by his captors and taken to the home of Miss Johnson. The young woman identified him, and when asked what she wanted done with him, she said:

"He ought to be killed."

The negro was then tied to a tree and the members of the mob fired at him until he was literally cut to pieces.

Quick Wit Saves Negro.

Albany, N. Y., July 14.—The quick wit of a deputy sheriff at Coxsackie this afternoon prevented the lynching of James Little, a 19 year old negro, who, early this morning assaulted Emma Cole, aged 11. The victim is a daughter of Joseph Cole, a farmer living one mile from New Baltimore. Two other children gave the alarm and Cole and his neighbors at once organized a party to scour the woods.

A description of the negro was sent to nearby towns and an hour later he was captured on the railroad track, near Coxsackie, by Roy Cutler. He confessed the assault and was locked up.

In the meanwhile news of the capture reached New Baltimore and a mob of 150 enraged farmers started for Coxsackie, augmented by a large number of striking Coxsackie molders and river men, all vowing their intention to lynch the negro.

Deputy Sheriff Sumner Van Loon, realizing that the coming of darkness would mean the breaking of the flimsy local lockup and the violent death of his prisoner, smuggled the negro out of town and took him down the river on a boat to Catskill, where there is a well built jail.

The negro, Little, says he had been living in Albany until yesterday, when he started to walk to his home in New Jersey. His confession fully corroborates the story told by the children. His victim may recover.

Quick Trial for Negro.

New Orleans, La., July 14.—[Special.]—The negro saved from lynching by Senator Foster yesterday was brought to the parish prison here today under a sentence of thirty-four years' imprisonment. He was given the quickest trial on record.

Negro Saved from Lynching.

Red Bank, N. J., July 14.—The home of Mayor E. E. Davis was robbed early today by Thomas Thomas, alias Thomas Dunn, a negro ex-convict, who also attempted an assault on Grace Davis, the mayor's daughter. The negro later was caught with an accomplice in the barn. Both were committed to the county jail at Freehold. There was talk of lynching Thomas, but the prompt action of the police in hurrying the negroes out of town averted trouble.

Legislature Orders Peonage Inquiry.

Atlanta, Ga., July 14.—[Special.]—A resolution was adopted by the legislature today calling for an investigation of the charge that Edward McRee, a member of the house, and his brother are holding negroes in servitude in Lowndes county.

The resolution declares that a system of peonage is practiced in this commonwealth, persons, male and female, being held in bondage in violation of the state and national constitution, contrary to the healthy public sentiment and injurious to the body politic, as well as grossly wronging and outraging those unlawfully held.

The resolution provides for wholesale investigation, but more specially the recent case in south Georgia, known as the Lula Frazier case. It was charged that this woman was held in a state of peonage or involuntary servitude in the McRee place in Lowndes county, and was made to marry there in spite of the fact that she already had a husband.

It is also charged that negroes have been held in a state of involuntary servitude in several of the misdemeanor convict camps of the state.

CALLS EVANGELISTS' WAY BAD.

In Lecture at University the Rev. L. A. Crandall Says Some "Soul Saving" Is Worse than Nothing.

Severe criticism of the methods of many evangelists and much so-called "gospel preaching" was made yesterday by the Rev. Latham A. Crandall of the Memorial Baptist church in a lecture at the University of Chicago on "Success in the Ministry." He said:

"Whenever a minister desires to write a paper marked by special 'piosity' he chooses 'Soul Saving' as his subject. It has become a fad word, connected with so much gush and drivel that it is offensive.

"All too much we take it for granted that the great work of the minister is done when he has induced persons publicly to accept Christ. Experience shows a great deal of so-called soul saving is worse than nothing in the end.

"We need not go outside Chicago to find churches, the membership of which has been increased by hundreds in a single year, whose strength is found to be in appearance only when the evangelist pastor departs.

"It is easier to induce men to begin the Christian life than it is to persuade them to embody the teachings of Christ in actual living. The most successful ministry is a teaching ministry."

TAKES MONEY FROM BOOKIES.

Tout Tells Detective How to Do It and Then Omits Having a Ticket Made Out.

"Say, pal, you want to get down on this Batts," began a well dressed young man to Detective Bretternitz in the Washington park betting ring yesterday afternoon, but he was waved away by the detective.

"It's taking the money away from the bookies," announced the tout as he turned about to seek another victim. His importunities were unsuccessful, and as the horses were lining up he edged closer to where Samuel Woolson was making out tickets. While the bookmaker's attention was distracted he reached over and grasped four $20 bills. As he pushed through the crowd he was seized by Bretternitz.

"What's the use of arresting me. I only saved you the trouble of making out a ticket on Batts," he protested to Woolson. By this time the horses were dashing around the track and Batts trailed past the wire behind two speedier horses.

"It's all right now; I'm a robber now, but you ought to have turned me loose if he won," the prisoner said. "I didn't intend to lose on the race just because I was broke."

The prisoner gave the name of W. E. Snell.

Fined for Using Unfit Horse.

For refusing to stop driving an unfit horse when ordered to do so by a policeman John Gray, colored, and D. J. Dunning, an expressman living at 6236 Cottage Grove avenue, were fined $3 and costs each by Justice Bradwell yesterday morning. The Humane society was complainant.

MORE DIE FROM TETANUS.

TWENTY-FIVE FALL VICTIMS TO PISTOLS AND CRACKERS.

Fatalities from Lockjaw Now Number 138, Fifteen of These Being in Chicago, with Three New Names Added Here as One Day's Record—Many Cities Share in the General Carnage Due to Celebration of Independence Day.

Twenty-five deaths from lockjaw due to fourth of July accidents were reported in various parts of the country yesterday, increasing the total dead to 138. Three of the deaths were in Chicago, making fifteen in this city since July 4. There were two deaths from lockjaw in Chicago in June, for which the deadly toy pistol and premature celebration of the nation's birthday were responsible, making the number of deaths in the city seventeen, or two more than the entire number of tetanus victims in Chicago from all causes in 1902.

From every part of the United States came telegrams to THE TRIBUNE yesterday, bringing the news of more fatalities resulting from the reckless use of gunpowder in celebration of a holiday. In most cases the victims were young people, and in nearly all the use of the deadly toy pistol and blank cartridge was responsible.

The number injured on the fourth in the United States was 3,665, of whom 117 were in Chicago. Since then a number of these have succumbed to tetanus.

The elevators at the Wellington hotel went out on a sympathetic strike yesterday. The boiler in the alley started the trouble, and gave the hotel management no chance to come to terms. Weary guests tramped up and down five flights of stairs, while people on the upper floors were rining bells, rattling the doors, and crying "Elevator."

FINDS LONG LOST MOTHER

LEFT ON STEPS YEARS AGO, GIRL WILL MEET PARENT.

Miss Margaret Hoffman of Chicago to Be Restored Through Efforts of Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson, Who Has Cared for Her Since She Found Her in Basket—Reunion to Take Place in Monaca, Pa., Where She Will Greet Her Family.

Found on a doorstep when a baby nineteen years ago, Margaret Hoffman is soon to meet the mother she has never seen. The young woman's mother is Mrs. Charles Hoffman, now a resident of Monaca, Pa., a town twenty-five miles from Pittsburg.

The family reunion, which will soon take place at Monaca, has been brought about through the efforts of Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson, national organizer of the Daughters of Columbia and a resident of Chicago.

Nineteen years ago Mrs. Nelson, then Miss Bessie Phillips, lived with her parents in Decatur. One night they heard a baby crying, and, opening the front door, found an infant on the steps. There was no clew to the infant's parents, and the child was taken into the Phillips family and reared as one of them.

After a number of years Miss Phillips married and moved to Chicago, bringing the girl with her. For some time Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have lived at 2204 State street with Miss Hoffman. Nelson is a watchmaker.

Recently it was decided to try to find Miss Hoffman's mother. Mrs. Nelson found clews which led her to believe that Mrs. Hoffman was in Pittsburg and a week ago she wrote to the police there, asking them to make search for the woman. Stories were published in the Pittsburg newspapers and in this way Mrs. Hoffman was located at Monaca. After some correspondence between the two families both were convinced that there was no mistake and the meeting which will take place was arranged.

NEW COMET SEEN FROM HERE.

Borelli's Discovery Is Viewed Through Telescopes in the University of Chicago Observatory.

The new comet of Borelli was visible last night from Chicago, appearing in the east at a high angle and by 11 o'clock being almost overhead. It was observed by Prof. W. O. Beal of the University of Chicago from the observatory at Fifty-eighth street and Ellis avenue.

"The comet was discovered about three weeks ago by Borelli at Marseilles," said Prof. Beal. "It is at present in the constellation of Cylgnus. It is moving toward the sun and in three weeks will be seen in the west. Then it will disappear behind the sun, and in five or six weeks from now will reappear in the east. From that time on it will be traveling away from the sun and of course becoming more distant from the earth and less bright.

"It probably will be visible with a telescope for two or three months, and after that it will disappear—probably forever.

MENTAL REMEDIES.

The tenacious hold on life of the pope probably will be attributed by some to miraculous aid. Others will place it to the credit of his physicians' skill and devoted attention to their eminent patient. There are others who will look still more closely and not fail to recognize that the pope's mental attitude towards his physical condition has been a prominent factor in his improvement.

The pope does not appear to have allowed himself to be dominated by fatalism, much less by fear, during the progress of his illness. In this struggle he has been aided by his strength of will and lofty courage, his determination not to yield at any point, his cheerfulness and delicate sense of humor, and the sly irony which crops out in any of his remarks to those about him, as well as by the daily exercise of his physical powers, which have been splendidly preserved by his careful and sensible habits of life. In this struggle the body has played but a small part because of the natural weakness consequent upon extreme age. The mind has thus far won in the contest, through potency of will, courage, and cheerfulness of disposition. It is a conspicuous example of "the sound mind in a sound body," for in the progress of his illness, desperate as it has been, his intellectual power has not been weakened to any appreciable extent and his constitution has shown extraordinary vigor, as his physicians concede.

The circumstances attending the illness of the pope recall many similar cases where life has been greatly prolonged by the will and by cheerfulness. They recall the words of Joseph Glanvill, with which Poe begins his "Ligeia":—"And the will therein lieth which dieth not. Who knoweth the mysteries of the will with its vigor? Man doth not yield himself to the angels, nor unto death utterly, save only through the weakness of his feeble will." They recall Darwin pursuing his great theories through years of extreme physical suffering to which ordinary men would have succumbed; Hood, writing his pathetic poems and brilliant witticisms upon his sick bed; Heine, cynically sneering at nature's effort to afflict him, but every day writing on his "mattress grave"; Robert Louis Stevenson frail and slowly wasting away, yet living on by strength of will and occupation of mind; Gen. Grant, knowing that his doom was fixed and yet undoubtedly prolonging his life by devoting his time to his memoirs instead of brooding over his affliction. Numerous examples of this kind might be cited. They involve a principle of which faith healers, mind curists, and others have taken advantage.

JUSTICE BREWER ON LYNCHING.

Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme court unreservedly calls lynching murder. He says: "Every man who takes part in the burning or lynching of a negro is a murderer and should be so considered in the eyes of the law." He will not even concede the force of extenuating circumstances. "It is my opinion that no circumstance whatever can change the classification of such a crime to anything else but murder." All who know the law and all law abiding men will agree with him.

Justice Brewer's statement does not hold out of itself much hope of relief. He himself acknowledges there is no likelihood of an appeal ever being made to the Supreme court. He concedes that in the south "the lynching of a negro who has committed an attack on a white girl is considered proper and just." So long as this view of lynching is held, so long it will be impossible to punish lynching, call it murder or by any other name. The sentiment of the majority would govern in this case as it does in the enforcement of prohibition laws.

Perhaps the main hope for the suppression of lynching lies in the education of the negro, for in the large majority of cases the lowest negroes are the ones who are guilty of crime, and it is always that class which is guilty of the "usual crime," which fortunately is not the "usual" one. It lies also in the education of white sentiment, especially in the lower class of the whites, in the prompter enforcement of justice, and, as Justice Brewer suggests, "in proper legislation." The realization of these hopes necessarily will be slow in coming. It may take a long time, but the situation is not discouraging. Justice Brewer says, "it is my belief that there soon will be a popular reaction against this wholesale lynching fever which seems to have swept the country of late." The justice overstates the case, though he expresses the popular supposition. Lynching has not been committed by "wholesale" of late. There have been proportionately no more lynchings this year than during the last five years. Public agitation has been excited by the two or three exceptionally barbarous lynchings in the north, but, barbarous as they have been, they have served the useful purpose of calling attention to the evil and of provoking widespread discussion, out of which good may come. The situation is far from hopeless.

PEONAGE IN ALABAMA.

Last Saturday the jurors who had heard the evidence in the case of an Alabamian named Turner, indicted for holding a negro in peonage, reported to Judge Jones of the United States District court that they were evenly divided and could not agree on a verdict. The judge ordered them to return to the jury room and try to agree. He said he felt impelled—

> Under an earnest and solemn sense of duty as to the verdict you ought to render in this case to appeal to your manhood, your sense of justice, and your oaths not to declare that a jury in the capital of Alabama would not enforce the law of the United States because it happened that a negro was the victim of the violated law and the defendant is a white man, or because it may be a disagreeable or painful duty to you. If you do such a thing you are perjured before God and man.

Monday the jury came into court, again announced that it could not agree, and was discharged. As Judge Jones said: "In a plain case, where there was no dispute as to the law or the facts, and no room for reasonable doubt, a jury in one of the most intelligent districts of the state declined to enforce the law," because the defendant was a white man and the prosecuting witness a black boy. The conclusion to be drawn from the miscarriage of justice in this case is that no man indicted in Alabama for holding negroes in peonage will be convicted unless he shall plead guilty. If he plead not guilty it will be impossible to impanel twelve men all of whom will vote to convict him. No matter how strong the evidence may be or how atrocious the cruelties he may have committed he will escape punishment. There will be on the jury one or more men who either approve of the system of quasi-slavery which has sprung up in Alabama, or who, while not approving of it, still will not send a white man to the penitentiary for maltreating a black man.

If Alabama juries will not convict the United States courts can do little to break up peonage in that state. They will be able to accomplish nothing in other southern states where the same evils exist and the same vicious public sentiment is found as in Alabama. If the federal courts, even when presided over by men like Judge Jones, who as a southerner and an old confederate soldier ought to have influence with his people, cannot secure for the blacks the protection which the laws of the United States give them on paper, what agency shall give it to them? It cannot be assumed that the reduction of the blacks of the south to a state of peonage in which they meet with worse treatment in some respects than they met with when they were slaves will be acquiesced in by a nation which made great sacrifices to get rid of slavery.

THE ICE FUND.

We have the new milk ordinance. This will prevent the surreptitious sale of skim milk. It will also improve the general milk supply.

We have the Nathan Straus pasteurized milk distribution. This will give young children the particular kind of milk they ought to have. It will also provide proper food for invalids.

What is the use of good milk, however, if it cannot be made to remain good? And how can milk be made to remain good without ice? In all schemes of milk reform we shall reckon without our host if we reckon without ice.

The city council appropriation of $10,000 for free ice has been vetoed. The only ice fund now open to the public is that maintained by THE TRIBUNE. It feels justified in urging its readers to enlarge this fund until it reaches adequate proportions.

Only by maintaining an adequate ice fund can Chicago complete the work which has been so promisingly begun by the passage of the new milk ordinance and the establishment of the pasteurized milk stations. Without an ice fund the ordinance and the stations will fail to accomplish their full mission. With an ice fund the ordinance and the stations will become completely effective.

The work already done has proved that with the help of the bureau of charities and of the settlements it is possible to get the ice to the people who really need and deserve it. It has also been proved that even in houses not provided with ice chests it is possible by means of a dish pan and a piece of carpet to preserve a lump of ice through a hot day.

All practical difficulties have been or now easily can be solved. THE TRIBUNE was able day before yesterday to instance specific cases in which acute distress was successfully relieved.

Chicago needs an ice fund, not only for this month but for next month, and not only for next month but for next year, and not only for next year but for all the years that follow. Like pasteurized milk, ice ought to be a permanent feature of Chicago philanthropy.

PASSING OF THE MOOSE.

Reports come from Minnesota that the moose is fast disappearing from the northern forests of that state; that the game wardens are absolutely unable to cope with the pothunters bent on eating their meat, tanning their hides, and selling their horns. The moose, driven from the forests by the swarms of mosquitoes, invade fearlessly the clearings of the settlers in their attempts to avoid their tiny foes, and fall easy victims to the firearms of men.

The great animal, the hugest of the deer family, with his flat shovel horns and proboscis like nose, is an anachronism. Like the hippopotamus and the great auk, he seems to belong to a prehistoric age, an age when lizards twenty fathoms long swam in different seas from those we know today, and when mighty mastodons refreshed their hairy strength with foliage now buried thousands of feet beneath the glacier ice of Alaska. Measuring in the 10,000,000 year periods of geology, the moose has the look of the contemporary or immediate successor of the hundred feet high swans, which were covered with tough black leather and fought the sea serpents.

Of the oldentime kind of animals, the most have long since departed and the few and scattered remnants are quickly passing off the face of the earth in their train. A man, looking at a moose or a rhinoceros, feels within him the instinct that those animals are not of this age; that they are survivals from a former eon, whereas the sight of whitetail deer, or elk, or lions, or zebras, or gorillas raises no such emotions in his breast, though those beasts be equally wild and inaccessible.

The moose is following after the buffaloes which are grazing on the happy grounds where there is no hunting. May he find in his new abode interminable forests clad in low hanging foliage, that he need neither reach vainly above him for his nutriment nor painfully fall on his knees to get at low lying green things; may he find the absence of mosquitoes only equaled by the absence of man; and may neither bear nor wolves ever molest his young. The greatest of all deer and of all American game animals is almost gone.

BOTTLES AND CHILDREN.

Consider the glass bottle industry, how it rests—and rests with crushing weight—on the bodies of little children. Read Florence Kelley's article on "A Boy Destroying Trade" in last week's Charities.

In the glass bottle industry the child is pitted against organized labor as well as against organized capital. Usually organized labor sides with the child against organized capital. In this case it does not. The glass bottle manufacturer and the glass bottle worker unite against the child.

The glass bottle manufacturer is protected by the tariff. The glass bottle worker is protected by the union. There is a rule against more than fifteen apprentices for every hundred blowers in the trade. The small children found in glass bottle works are not employed as apprentices. They are employed as "dogs," and are required to trot all night with bottles from the molders to the annealing oven.

Most child labor laws in this country have been helped into the statute books by the trade unions. Here is a fact too often overlooked. Child labor reform has been accomplished not only by the speeches of disinterested philanthropists but by the votes of trade unionists. Without the votes the speeches might have been futile.

It is all the more exasperating, therefore, that in the glass bottle industry trade unionism should have allowed its constitutional aversion for child labor to be tempered by its monetary interest in the retention of "dogs." The more "dogs" the glass blower has the more money he can make. Hence the fact that during the last session of the Illinois legislature the child labor bill was opposed by glass blowers as well as by glass manufacturers.

New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois are the glass blowing states. In New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Indiana the children employed in glass works may still toil all night. The child eating ogre still has his bellyful of victims. Isn't it quite time to muzzle him for good?

CUBA SHOULD BORROW HERE.

Cuba proposes to float $35,000,000 worth of bonds and is undecided where to float them. They should first of all be sold to such an extent as is possible among the Cuban people. What her citizens cannot take should be offered to the capitalists of this country. Should any of the Cuban bonds prove bad debts—which may heaven forfend—this country does not desire the spectacle of a foreign nation seizing or threatening to seize a custom house to collect for itself what is owing from Cuba. A foreign nation might do such a thing more successfully in Cuba than on the South American continent, for Cuba is an island and we should have to have a bigger navy than the disgruntled creditor, while at present certainly we haven't a bigger navy than some creditors we might imagine.

The need for floating those Cuban bonds in this country is thus evident. Our financiers, who are the most timid people on earth regarding war, might give just a little better terms than the market to the Cubans, and regard the favoritism as insurance against it.

MISSOURI seems to have had the first serious wrecking of the summer excursion train, while Illinois is in the lead in the rocking of the boat. Westward the course of empire takes its way.

THE story of a lot of brook trout getting drunk in the tank of an Oyster Bay saloon sounds especially fishy in this "R"-less month.

TEN women and two men attending the teachers' convention in Boston tipped three waiters 30 cents on a Sunday dinner, after which each group accused the other of looking just like 30 cents.

CHICAGO has $30,455,145 more than the assessors could find last year, and if you are not a little more than $15 to the good over last year the directory estimate is away off.

WHATEVER may have been said of the lake breeze in Chicago in January has all been taken back in July.

EVANSTON seems to be all torn up because seven of her small boys were arrested for throwing stones at a woman peddler. In the Chicago slums, of course, nothing would be thought about it.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S repeated reference in his addresses to his generals at Doberitz the week before last to the Almighty as "our great ally up above," must not be regarded as a subject of ridicule, of presumption, or of blasphemy. The emperor was terribly in earnest when he thus described the creator, and his remarks were received in the spirit in which they were made by those to whom they were addressed.

The emperor is a deeply religious man, imbued with much of that mystic devotion which distinguished his granduncle, King Frederick William IV., and in a minor degree the latter's brother and successor, the late Emperor William. It may be remembered that during the course of the war with Germany and France in 1870 the old kaiser was accustomed to describe in all his dispatches to the empress the Almighty as having been on the side of the Germans, and therefore against the French, owing to which the latter were defeated.

The Germans are a people of the highest intellectual order. But, like their emperor, they each have a touch of mysticism in their nature, and these dispatches, as well as the general orders issued by the old emperor, appealed to this sense of theirs, and they ended by believing that the Lord was fighting on their side against the French, and this served to give them additional courage and assurance of victory, their fighting qualities being increased thereby, in the same way as are those of the Turks, and of other Mohammedan troops, who are taught to believe that in fighting against the infidels they are pleasing Allah and his prophet and earning immediate salvation if they fall in battle.

The kaiser, by thus harping on the German motto borne on every soldier's helmet: "Gott mit Uns" (God with us), not only satisfies his own religious feelings but also increases the fighting qualities and efficiency of his generals and soldiers.

Lord Rosebery, the duke of Buccleuch, the marquis of Linlithgow, the earl of Moray, and quite a large number of other influential Scotch peers and territorial magnates have taken advantage of the prime minister's announcement of the establishment of a naval station on the firth of Forth at St. Margaret's Hope to press upon the government the scheme of constructing a ship canal from the forth to the Clyde—that is to say, to complete the waterway right across Scotland. According to the project the canal will be less than thirty miles long, would run along the Kelvin valley, and would cost about $50,000,000. No engineering difficulties exist which could not easily be surmounted, and the ease with which warships could pass from the east coast to the west coast would be well worth the money, doubling, indeed, the efficiency of that particular portion of the British fleet which is intrusted with the defense of Great Britain's coasts. Merchant shipping by means of this canal would save near 600 miles in passing from Glasgow to London.

St. Margaret's Hope, where the new naval station is to be, is called so in memory of Queen Margaret the Atheling, who 900 years ago was the consort of the Scotch King Malcolm. Her daughter married the English King Henry I., and from her came the strain of royal Saxon blood on which the Norman and Plantaganet kings set such store. King Robert Bruce made his home for a time at St. Margaret's Hope, in Rosyth castle, the ruins of which dominate the bay, and it was there that Mary queen of Scots staid when she came from France to take possession of her father's crown. It was thither, too, that she fled after her escape from her island prison of Lochleven, and it was shortly afterwards that she became a state prisoner of Queen Elizabeth, who eventually sent her to the scaffold.

King Edward's approaching visit to Ireland a few days hence serves to recall the fact that at one moment the Emerald Isle had the questionable advantage of harboring no less than two kings of Great Britain and Ireland. It was a little over 200 years ago when both King James II. and his son-in-law, King William III., were simultaneously in Ireland, which they used, so to speak, as a cockpit, fighting their battles against one another on Irish soil, the conflict being brought to a close with the memorable battle of the Boyne.

From that time forth until 130 years later no British sovereign set foot on Irish soil, the next king visiting Ireland being George IV., whose stay in Ireland was rendered additionally agreeable to him by the fact that on the morning of his arrival he had received the news of the death of his wife, the unsavory Queen Caroline. King William never visited Ireland, and Queen Victoria was twelve years on the throne before she visited that portion of her dominions. She repeated her stay of 1849 in 1853, went there once more in August, 1861, and was last there in 1900.

Of the earlier English sovereigns who visited Ireland there are only three—namely: King Henry II., King John, who was there twice, and King Richard II., who was there also twice. King Charles I. not only proposed to visit Ireland but likewise to spend a portion of each year there, and on the property of Lord Fitzwilliam, near Naas, in county Kildare, may still be seen the ruins of an unfinished mansion built of Dutch bricks, which the earl of Strafford, when viceroy of Ireland, commenced for the purpose of its becoming the residence of his sovereign. The latter's project, however, never was fulfilled, and Charles I. met with his death on the scaffold without ever having set foot in Ireland.

No attention whatsoever should be paid to the ridiculous accounts which are constantly appearing in English society papers to the effect that when the sovereign honors any of his subjects with a visit the host is required to entirely refurnish anew the suite of rooms occupied by royalty. This is rubbish, the editors of the journals in question being probably unaware that in most of the great houses in Great Britain, those indeed where royalty is accustomed to stay, have state apartments reserved exclusively for the use of these illustrious guests, and which are not employed for any other purpose. They are furnished as a rule not with new furniture but with all that is most valuable in the shape of heirlooms, the royal state apartments at Goodwood, for instance, having the walls tapestried with priceless gobelins, which represent scenes from "Don Quixote," while one of the features of the dressing room assigned to the monarch is an exquisite toilet service in the purest gold, which Charles II. presented to that French born duchess of Portsmouth who was the founder of the fortunes of the dukes of Richmond and Gordon.

The duke of Westminster at Eaton hall, the duke of Portland at Welbeck abbey, Lord Lonsdale at Lowther castle, the duke of Sutherland at Trentham and at Dunrobin castle, and many more that I could mention have their state apartments ready for their sovereign's use at a moment's notice, and would no more dream of furnishing anew each time than they would of flying.

When Oscar Wilde died, in December, 1900, he was buried at Bagneux, the most petty bourgeois of Parisian suburbs. The grave was what is known as a four year concession. At the end of next year his remains will be dug up and consigned to the so-called "Fosse Commune." The sum of $100 is needed to prevent this ignominy and to render his grave a perpetual concession. It is, however, not forthcoming, although thousands of dollars are being made still each night in England by the performance of his clever plays.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

"Where a Rose Is At."

Deep in the slums, one hot, hot day
A little girl was at her play—
A little girl with tousled hair
And grimy hands, and feet all bare.
There, in the baking, barren street,
She sang—and O, her voice was sweet,
To one who, halting where she sat,
Heard: "I know where a rose is at!"

She pointed down an alley dim
Where slattern women, coarse and grim,
Were bandying strange laugh and call—
And there, close to the blackened wall,
A brave, brave rose was clambering.
What wonder that the tot could sing—
That she in accents shrill and flat
Sang, "I know where a rose is at!"

The stranger caught the rare perfume
That floated from the ruddy bloom—
The one lone blossom with its cheer—
And sighed: "There are two roses here.
Each plays its good, unconscious part,
And one rich rose is in your heart."
The child, not understanding that,
Crooned: "I know where a rose is at."

'Tis so. We may be walled about
With fretting fear and clinging doubt,
But somewhere in the wreck and ruck
A rose of hope, with sturdy pluck,
Is climbing, climbing through the night
To show us which way comes the light.
There may be gloom—but what of that
If we "know where a rose is at?"

SURE DEATH TO MOSQUITOES.

Each day we pick the papers up and read of some new way
To squelch the bad mosquito in his irritating play;
They tell us if we burn a lot of sulphur in the room
'Twill send the skeeter skurrying ahead to meet his doom—
But if you do not care to breathe the sulphuretic mist
You'll find it just as certain if you slap him on the wrist.

Also they've found a little worm—a parasitic pest,
That loves to hit the skeeter in the center of his vest
And make him feel a bitter, green cucumber sort of twinge,
And twist his spinal column till it doubles like a hinge.
If there's no paregoric, then the skeeter will be missed—
But he is dead and done for if you slap him on the wrist.

'Tis said that giving him a bath in crude petroleum
Will make him fold his vibrant wings and make his voice be dumb;
Or if you spray him carefully with strong formaldehyde
Into the dim hereafter he will most serenely glide;
Some eucalyptus ointment, too, will cause him to desist—
But you are sure to kill him if you slap him on the wrist.

The latest theory is that if you will find his key—
The note upon the scale that he regards with lively glee,
The zippy, zoomy, zizzy note he sings as swift he flies—
And play it for him; when you do, the bold mosquito dies.
But why prolong the agony? Why finish out the list?
It's safe to bet he's dead if you have slapped him on the wrist.

A Coat of Tan

IT had been agreed between them that it was a case of brain fag. This was not mentioned in the hearing of their associates in the office lest it give rise to scurrilous remarks, but between them it was understood that long and arduous labors had brought on a condition which demanded rest.

They spoke of getting alongside some sylvan brook, where they could hear the ripples kiss the pebbles, of finding fields of new mown hay, of listening to the lowing kine, of watching the turtles sunning on logs, of hearing the notes of wood birds, of paddling idly on the river, and of kindred joys.

Out of this discussion came a proposition to spend Sunday on the St. Joe river.

"We'll get a night boat for Michigan," said Victim No. 1, "and get far from the crowd.

We'll have a sleep on the lake, where the breezes are cool and where we can laugh at the folks trying to rest in the hot city. After a refreshing night we'll get a boat and row far up the beautiful St. Joe river."

"That sounds good to me," said Victim No. 2. "Maybe we can get a little tan on the side. I'm getting a bit sensitive about showing a pale face among a lot of tanned girls. It doesn't look athletic. It's too intellectual for these days."

Victim No. 1 looked as if he had his doubts about the intellectuality, but preparations were made forthwith. Victim No. 2 excused himself from a half dozen engagements for the next day and they gave themselves up to dreams of purling brooks and shaded banks.

At 11:30 that night they were seated on the top of a steamer headed across the lake. To the right and left and all about them were groups noisily singing several of their pet aversions in the way of popular songs.

"If they start the 'Good Old Summer Time' hold me or I'll shoot," exclaimed Victim No. 1 to his companion. "That is a statutory offense and homicide is justifiable."

The boat was overrun with sporty youth drinking out of beer bottles. Italian babies lay sprawled out on the floor of the cabin. Drink and the rolling of the boat brought indiscreet ones to a state of physical discomfort, and evidences of it began to appear. Maudlin boys staggered about the decks and clutched the railings, singing and yelling.

With their feet propped up on the rail the two victims watched the moonlight over the water and talked. They consoled themselves with the thought that some discomfort on the way over was a thing to be expected and that the real bliss would not start until they found themselves in a rowboat.

By 2 o'clock in the morning they were ready for their berths, which they found blockaded by sleeping children. A happily unconscious man lay outstretched before one of the big mirrors. Around him were women sleeping in chairs, women sleeping on the floor, babies tossing restlessly under the chairs.

Underneath their windows a quartet of songsters planted themselves and sang sweet ditties, and the nightcap did not work. They counted until they were tired, but they couldn't sleep. They watched imaginary sheep jumping over a fence, but it was not effective against the quartet outside. They tossed about for an hour and finally lost consciousness. This event must have taken place about twenty minutes after 3 o'clock, as nearly as reckoning can be made. At twenty minutes of 4 o'clock there was a succession of ear splitting whistles, and Victim No. 1 was awake again.

Following the whistling there was a stampede of feet on the deck above his head. Evidently St. Joe had been reached. He composed himself to the task of sleeping again while baggage was rolled ashore and while people who had no intention of sleeping trooped about and yelled. After ten minutes' struggle he abandoned the attempt, got up, and dressed. Victim No. 2 was sleeping peaceably through the racket.

"It's a shame to let him sleep," thought Victim No. 1. "He's missing the sunrise."

Thereupon he dug Victim No. 2 in the ribs and brought him to consciousness with great rapidity. Victim No. 2 blinked his eyes and demanded to know the time.

"It's 5 o'clock," said the shameless Victim No. 1.

"That," said the sleepy Victim No. 2, "is an infernal lie. It's only 4."

He would have gone to sleep again if the dockhands outside had not helped matters by unloading railroad rails. At that the second victim arose with a groan and began dressing. This operation was not completed in time to get off at St. Joe. The boat was heading for Benton Harbor.

Victim No. 2 had begun to realize by the time he was leaning against the railing that he had slept something less than a half hour and his lamentations arose on the early morning air.

"This," he bewailed, "is what comes of traveling with an insomniac. He can't sleep and he won't let anybody else sleep. A half hour's sleep. O, Moses."

"I don't suppose I'll ever hear the last of that," said Victim No. 1 ruefully.

"I can forgive," said Victim No. 2 pensively, "but I can't forget."

Shortly before 5 o'clock they left the boat at Benton Harbor. Victim No. 2 was taken with an insane desire to look at all the pictures in the photograph gallery exhibits. Victim No. 1 could not be dragged away from the displays in grocery windows, where canned goods and breakfast foods could be seen.

"It's the next best thing to eating," he complained. "And we can't get breakfast for an hour and a half."

Victim No. 2 suddenly showed a disposition to break into song, choosing a ditty about the "good old college days." Victim No. 1 listened in patience until the song had been given its twentieth repetition, and then he rebelled.

"Now, look here, Jimmy," he expostulated, "if that song just had a nice tune and some decent words, and if you could sing, and if the chief of police wasn't following us about, I shouldn't object. But as it is, I do."

"That's right," said Victim No. 2. "Drag a man out of his bed to satisfy your foolish desires for breakfast and because you can't sleep, and then object to his harmless amusement." And he continued to sing. The chief of police was following them. There was no doubt of that. He and they were the only things stirring on the streets of Benton Harbor. Finally Victim No. 1 reached a state of desperation.

"Jimmy," he said. "I'll toss up with you to see whether you cut that song out or sing it all the rest of the day." Victim No. 2 agreed, and the chief of police was driven frantic trying to imagine what two suspicious characters could mean by squatting in the middle of an asphalt street and tossing a coin in the air.

Victim No. 2 was singing madly in a moment. He had won on the toss. He sang until a hotel opened up and took them in for breakfast.

"Now," he said to Victim No. 1, "you can satisfy your beastly appetite, and I suppose you'll be happy."

For himself he proceeded to order a tenderloin steak, some fried mush, some boiled eggs, a bit of bacon, some country sausage, a veal chop, fried eggs, wheat cakes, baked potatoes, biscuit and honey, and several kinds of drinks. Two waiters were detailed to bring in his breakfast.

"Now, we have begun the day," said Victim No. 1. "We shall now proceed to work off the brain fag in a boat."

The chief of police still waited for them and followed them while they undertook to find a boat. An hour's hunt along the canal revealed the fact that there were none in Benton Harbor. The chief of police could have told them that at the beginning, but he did not seem desirous to make their close acquaintance. He seemed satisfied when they set out to walk back to St. Joe.

The walk back brought Victim No. 2 back to a realization that he had lost a night's sleep, and he began to mourn. Victim No. 1 rebuked him and he began to sing. Thereupon the other was sorry he had not permitted him to complain. Then it began to rain, and both felt happier.

Five hours after they had crawled from their berths they secured a boat. They rowed a half mile up the river, and Victim No. 2 fell asleep on his oars. The boat pushed its nose into a sand bank and stuck. Victim No. 1 called to Victim No. 2 for assistance, but Victim No. 2 heard nothing. Victim No. 1 made several attempts to push off the bar and failed. Then he fell asleep.

The sun came down and blistered the water and they slept in its direct rays. A bird perched on the boat and looked at them, but they slept on peaceably. Six hours afterwards they awoke, unrecognizable as the pale young men who had set out the night before.

The brain fag has been forgotten. But between applications of cold cream the two victims will tell you that it is pleasanter to walk into a fiery furnace than to sleep six hours in a rowboat in the sun. Their mothers will recognize them in about six weeks.

WOMEN AMAZED AT MAYOR

CLUB MEMBERS TALK ABOUT SCHOOL BOARD APPOINTMENTS.

Putting a Man in Place of Mrs. Sherman Considered Unjustifiable and When the Season Opens Promises Are That Mr. Harrison Shall Hear Protests—Graham H. Harris' Friends Claim Votes Enough to Elect Him President.

Chicago women, members of clubs or interested in educational matters, expressed regret and indignation yesterday at the retirement of Mrs. Caroline K. Sherman from the board of education and the failure of Mayor Harrison to appoint a woman to succeed her.

They declare that it was the women who secured all the educational legislation passed by the last general assembly, that it was the influence of Illinois women that enacted the child labor law, that women have demonstrated their intense and earnest interest in the education of the children, and that they have not been fittingly rewarded. Every woman's club in Chicago has its education department. One of the great works of the women's clubs has been to advance the usefulness of the public schools.

Trouble When Club Season Opens.

When the club season opens in September the women promise to make their influence felt in the mayor's office

Among other club women Mrs. Laura Dainty Pelham, president of the Hull House woman's club, which has always been active in school work, was at a loss to explain the dismissal of Mrs. Sherman.

"Mrs. Sherman had been a most efficient officer in the public service," she declared; "her ten years of activity on the school board and her work done as chairman of the committee on high schools, it seems to me, must have recommended her most highly to Mayor Harrison. But if the mayor felt that she had served long enough I cannot understand why he should not have shown the amount of deference to the club workers that is due them. The women's clubs have been most active in school agitation of every kind during the last few years. They founded and support the vacation schools and a number of other institutions calculated to benefit the schools. It would not have been difficult for Mayor Harrison to find a capable woman to serve on the school board. I think a member of the industrial committee of the state federation should have been appointed."

Mrs. Harriett M. Van der Vaart of Neighborhood house expressed her indignation at the mayor's failure to appoint a woman.

"There is now only one woman left on the school board," she declared, "and two were not enough. I fell exceedingly sorry about the action of the mayor. It was not fair, not right, to deprive the women of Chicago of one of their representatives on the board. I felt that the mayor would appoint several more instead of reducing the number. The interest the women have taken in educational affairs entitles them to recognition."

Claim Majority for Harris.

Immediately after the announcement of the reappointment of Graham H. Harris to the board his friends began working in earnest to land him in the presidential chair. It is known that Mr. Harris is Mayor Harrison's candidate for the position and this fact, declared a trustee yesterday, assures his election. A number of Mr. Harris' friends on the board held a caucus in the morning. Enough names were placed in the Harris column to assure his election. Trustee John Wolff, a stanch supporter of Clayton Mark, is working energetically for his reelection and a warm fight is promised.

Increase in Attendance.

The school attendance for 1903 is shown by statistics compiled yesterday to have been 274,247, as against 268,392 last year.

WOMAN DEFEATS A CONSTABLE.

John Small Flees When Mrs. Amanda Hersey Produces a Revolver and Invites Him to Go.

A revolver in the hands of a determined woman was too much for Constable John Small, and he fled yesterday from 843 Adams street, where Mrs. Amanda Hersey held the revolver. Small had a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Hersey and her husband, John W. Hersey, a manufacturer of gas engines at 405 Elston avenue.

"Just wait a minute," said Mrs. Hersey when the constable appeared, and later, says Small, she returned with the revolver and gave him three minutes in which to decamp. After Small had fled Hersey and his wife went before Justice Bradwell and gave bonds.

According to a complaint made by Mrs. Clara Crow, Hersey and his wife obtained from her sums aggregating $2,050 for shares in a company organized by Hersey. Mrs. Crow says they represented that John D. Rockefeller had purchased a $10,000 share in the company and that $75,000,000 had been invested in the concern.

Michael O'Brien was arrested yesterday by Mrs. Hattie Closson, 1549 Michigan avenue, who charges O'Brien with offending her 15 year old daughter. Mrs. Closson made complaint against O'Brien, but he was not arrested, so yesterday she secured a revolver and marched O'Brien to the Central station.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."
—SHAKSPEARE.

WHEATON—Maj. Gen. Loyd Wheaton, the general who never was on the losing side.

Gen. Wheaton has been in active service above forty years, in more than sixty large battles, and many small engagements, and never was on the losing side.

He has attained the highest rank possible under the law, and is the first officer to attain it without visiting Washington during the last thirty years in quest of influence.

He is famous for personal bravery, and during the blazing heat of the Filipino engagements was said by a fellow officer never "to have time to know whether it was hot or cool so long as there was any fighting to do."

For three years in the Philippines Gen. Wheaton commanded over 3,500 soldiers and at one time a larger army than the United States had before the Spanish-American war.

During his long years of frontier command Gen. Wheaton was known as an ideal post commander.

Gen. Wheaton evolved and carried out the plan for crossing the river under the enemy's fire at the battle of the Rio Grande.

At San Fabian he accomplished the most successful disembarkment of troops under fire in the history of the United States army since Gen. Scott's landing at Santa Cruz in the Mexican war.

He is idolized by his men and is known as the soldier's friend.

Since the retirement, which came by law with his 64th birthday, Gen. Wheaton has been a citizen of Chicago.

PLATT—Senator Thomas Collier Platt, "The Easy Boss."

Mr. Platt's maxims:

"It is better to be wise than eloquent."

"It is better to be kind than polite."

"It is better to be useful than famous."

"Overconfidence is worse than cowardice."

"Never make a promise if you can avoid it; but never fail to keep a promise when it is once made."

"Let no man say that you have ever broken your word to him."

"Honesty is not only the best policy, but it is the only policy that succeeds in the long run."

"What qualities are most essential to success?"

"Persistence, frankness, and strict integrity. Especially a young man should avoid dissimulation and prevarication. He should cultivate directness of expression and honesty in all transactions."

Senator Platt is a great reader—of newspapers, magazines, latest books, and standards of all kinds.

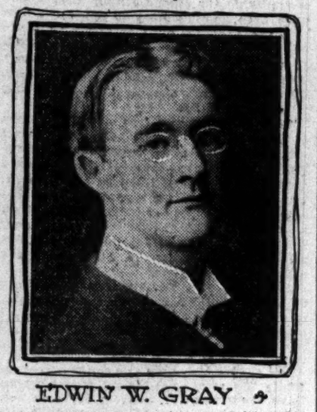

He quotes scripture without end, he is fond of Dickens and Thackeray and N. P. Willis, and remembers the old poems that were in the reading-books fifty years ago.

Mr. Platt is fond of music and years ago sang in the Madison Square Presbyterian church. He recently sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" at a political banquet, the other guests joining in the chorus.

His chief amusement outside of politics is the theater, especially farces.

GOOD GROWING WEATHER.

LAST WEEK HAS BEEN A FAVORABLE ONE FOR CROPS.

Conditions in Large Portion of the Country Suitable to Securing Best Results — Corn Everywhere Makes Splendid Growth, Though Backward in Some Sections—Early Planted in Tassel and Has Been Cultivated for Last Time.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—Following is the official weekly crop report issued by the department of agriculture today: The temperature during the week ending on July 13 was favorable in all districts east of the Rocky mountains and on the Pacific coast, but in the northern Rocky mountain and middle plateau regions it was too cool, with frosts in exposed places on the 7th and 8th. Portions of lower Ohio and central Mississippi valleys, southern Florida, western Texas, northern Minnesota, and southern Rocky mountain districts are in need of rain, but elsewhere there is ample moisture. Northern Iowa, southern Minnesota, and portions of the south Atlantic and east gulf states have suffered from excessive rains.

Corn has everywhere made splendid growth and is much improved, though generally backward, and in portions of the upper Ohio valley and middle Atlantic states is weedy. The early planted is now in tassel in more northern districts, and a considerable part of the crop has received final cultivation.

Harvesting Winter Wheat.

The week has been favorable for harvesting winter wheat, which work is largely completed, except in more northerly sections. Thrashing has made good progress and reports generally indicate light yields. A feature of reports respecting winter wheat is the entire absence of injury to grain in stack and shock.

In northern Minnesota and North Dakota spring wheat is thin and heading short, and lodging is reported from portions of southern Minnesota and South Dakota, while rust is reported from the last named state and Iowa. In Kansas, Wisconsin, and the southern part of South Dakota spring wheat is heading well and favorable reports are received from Washington and Oregon.

Considerable rust in oats is reported from Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois, and lodging from South Dakota and southern Minnesota. In North Dakota and northern Minnesota the crop is thin and heading short, but continues promising in Nebraska, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Pennsylvania.

Throughout the cotton belt there has been general improvement in cotton, which has made vigorous and healthy growth. There is, however, general complaint of grassy fields in the coast districts of the eastern sections and in Texas, the crop being in a better state of cultivation in Mississippi and over the northern portion of the central districts. Boll weevil in Texas are less numerous.

Only a fair crop of apples is indicated in most of the principal apple states.

Reports by States.

Following are special telegraphic reports for nearby states:

The Tyfold Collar

The picture shows how the collar is cut out on each side to allow for adjusting a neck tie without springing the collar open. The collar comes close together in front, it keeps the tie in place, and you don't see the cut-out part. Besides the tie is retained just over the button, which is also kept out of sight. Your summer comfort will be increased if you wear one, and you'll thank us for the style. Dealers sell them.

LONSDALE FIRST IN EDGEWATER.

Outsider Wins Washington Park's Stake Event in Fair Sized Field.

COOK ENTRY IS FAVORITE

Bard of Avon Disqualified in the Second Race for Fouling Major Tenny.

Lonsdale, a brown colt by Flying Dutchman—Ollie Dale, and from Clay Bros.' stable, won the Edgewater stakes, net value $2,910, at odds of 10 to 1, at Washington park yesterday. English Lad, coupled in the betting with Fred Leppert as the Cook entry, and favorite at 2 to 1, was second, and Batts at 30 to 1 was third. The winner was wholly neglected in the betting by the public, but carried considerable wise money, not enough, however, to affect his price, which lengthened from 6 to 10 to 1.

The result of the race was a surprise to close students, as, figured from any angle, the Cook pair appeared pounds the best. This was undoubtedly true with respect to English Lad, as he was last to leave the post, and encountered quite a bit of ill luck before securing clear sailing, which did not come to him until near the stretch turn, and then it was on the extreme outside. At that, he was so much better than the others that he was only a head behind the winner at the wire.

Winner Is Well Ridden.

Lonsdale was deftly handled by Crowhurst. He got away in the first flight, assumed the lead in the first 100 yards of the journey, made the best of his advantage, and nursed his mount to withstand any rush which might present itself on the end. English Lad, which finished second, was ridden none too well by H. Phillips, while his stable companion, Fred Leppert, was piloted by Dominick. With the jockeys reversed the Requital colt undoubtedly would have won, as "Dom" is a much better boy than Phillips, and the regulars could not understand why Cook elected to place Dominick on the poorer of his pair. This cost him the race.

Of the ten slated to start Sanctum and Flo Bob were scratched, while Pat Dunne added his Hindoo—Alarm Bell colt, Lanark. Dominick got all he could out of his mount and had him in the first flight at the head of the stretch, but it was not in him to be a contender at the end. Batts, which ran third, was off first, fell back a few notches at the turn, but came again in the straight. Proceeds was outfooted in the early stages but closed up stoutly in the final eighth.

Handicap Goes to Bondage.

Next in point of interest was the handicap at one and one-eighth miles, in which Hargis was asked to give from two to twenty-four pounds to his field. Despite this handicap he was considered the best and the price against him, 7 to 5, was enticing. The race went to Bondage, which trailed early and ran over his field on the end. Bragg finished second and Schwalbe third. The race was not truly run, as Hargis was almost knocked to his knees at the first turn, which cost him several lengths and at the last three-eighths pole, where Henry attempted to get through with him, he was crowded out and almost sent over the fence. He was without doubt the best horse in the race and with any kind of luck other than that which he encountered he would have been fighting it out with the winner.

Schwalbe set the pace, attended by Bragg and Louisville, with Monsieur Beaucaire close up. The leader hung on well into the stretch, chased by Beaucaire. The latter, however, tired and retired in favor of Bragg which, with Schwalbe, was battling in front. They appeared to have the race between them, but in the last twenty yards Bondage loomed up as a contender and, being well ridden by Robbins, won in the final strides. Bragg outgamed Schwalbe for second money, while the latter was a nose to the good of Beaucaire for the short end of the purse.

Fouling in Second Event.

The second race, at the same distance as the handicap, resulted in Bard of Avon reaching the wire first, but in so doing he cut across and fouled Major Tenny, and was disqualified, the race going to the Major. Ellison's gelding with as high as 30 to 1 against him went to the front immediately after barrier rise and had clear sailing throughout, while Tenny was not only slow in keeping up with the procession but was cut off at the far turn. He got into the clear at the last quarter and was overtaking the leader.

After passing the last eighth pole Wonderly, who rode Bard of Avon, sent his mount toward the inner rail, cutting off Tenny and later bumped into the Major. These fouls were too palpable for the officials to overlook, and when Wilson entered a complaint the judges took cognizance of it and awarded Tenny the race. The disqualification placed Kilmore second and Carat third. Major Tenny was a heavily played even money favorite.

Blumenthal Proves Good Thing.

Sixteen maiden 2 year olds faced the barrier in the opening event, from which Dungannon and Atlantico were selected as the best. The winner turned up in Blumenthal, backed from 30 to 1 down to 12 to 1. Boland took the colt to the front at once and kept him there to the wire. Dungannon was among the tailenders at the send off, and hit the top of the stretch in sixth place. Helgeson, to avoid interference, took Dungannon to the outside, and ran over all but the winner.

The tightest fit of the day cropped up in the fifth race, in which Henry Bert and Glendale crossed the line on such even terms that only the judges could decide which won. To the crowd it appeared as if Glendale had won, but the officials hung up Bert's number. Glendale was the tip, and was backed strongly, but his admirers thought it was all up with him when they saw him bolt down the stretch while on parade. Phillips reined him up at the eighth pole, and when his admirers saw him bolt to the front at the send off and lead his field by several lengths they thought it was all over except the shouting. Helgeson, however, put up an excellent ride on Bert and won the race by the shortest of short noses.

Lingo, under Adkins' vigorous ride, took the final event.

Washington Park Track Notes.

Martin Nathanson was at the track soliciting entries for the Harlem stakes.

Major Tenny was the only winning favorite, and he failed to reach the wire first.

Bookmaker Yaeger went wrong on every race and lost about $20,000 on the day.

Owner Barney Schreiber and Bookmaker E. R. Bradley won heavily on Blumenthal's victory.

The holding of Nitrate by the assistant starter at the post deprived him of whatever chance he might have had to finish inside the money.

Jockey Henry was censured by some for his ride on Hargis, but the boy was fortunate to escape with his life, so badly was he buffeted about.

Johnny Reiff, who was injured at Harlem by being thrown from Galba, was at the track with his head bandaged and his arm in a sling. It was his first day out since the accident and he said he would be unable to ride for several weeks.

Candidate for M. and M. Stake Beats Two Rivals for Same Honors in Windsor Park Event.

Detroit, Mich., July 14.—The feature of the afternoon at the Windsor Driving Park association's meeting today was the impressive fashion in which Wainscott, an entry in the Merchants and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake at Detroit next week, won the 2:25 trot and defeated Hie Boy and Bonnie Russell, also named in the historic stake. GLEN COVE TO ASTARITA.

THIRD CHOICE WINS HANDICAP AT BRIGHTON BEACH.

Betting Public Puzzled and Makes Eugenia Burch Favorite at 2 to 1, but She Finishes Outside the Money —Redfern's Good Riding Lands W. R. Condon First Under Wire in Mile and a Furlong Event, Beating Hunter Raine by a Head.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Racing of higher quality than usual delighted 10,000 people at Brighton Beach today. The Glen Cove handicap for 3 year olds at six furlongs was the only stake feature on the card, but proved to be a problem which puzzled the crowd, which made Eugenia Burch first choice at 2 to 1. St. Daniel was at 9 to 2, Astarita at 5 to 1, and Invincible was backed down to 7 to 1.

The start was good, but Eugenia Burch got away slowly and was quickly shut in by Minatour, which sailed out in front, but Astarita ran him to earth at the turn, taking a lead which Hicks never relinquished. As a result Astarita was returned an easy winner by two lengths in the good time of 1:13⅗. Redfern put up a strong finish on Sir Voorhies, 15 to 1, which finished second.

Redfern also put up a great ride on W. R. Condon, favorite in the handicap at a mile and a furlong, which was the prettiest race of the day. The winner was in doubt when they straightened out, but Redfern soon found an opening and came through with W. R. Condon in such a brilliant manner that the crowd was up in arms. Odom was after him with Hunter Raine, but W. R. Condon got the verdict after a powerful finish by a head in 1:55. Summaries:

First race, 5½ furlongs—Rowena, 107 pounds [Burns], 14 to 5, won; Sweet Gretchen, 107 [Bullman], 3 to 1, second; White Plume, 107 [Redfern], 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:09. Letola, Petunia, Ninepin, Funnyside, and Hydrangea ran.

YANGER'S FORFEIT IS POSTED.

Manager Hertz Forwards $500 to San Francisco to Bind Return Match with Hanlon in September.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

John Hertz, who looks after the interests of Benny Yanger, yesterday forwarded $500 to San Francisco to clinch a return match with Eddie Hanlon, who recently fought Yanger twenty rounds to a draw. Reports from the coast had it that Hertz, although he promised Hanlon a match in September, was trying to wriggle out of it. This prompted the Chicagoan to send on his forfeit yesterday before he had learned whether or not the Californian had posted his money.

Speaking of the match, Hertz said he signed articles for a return match before he left San Francisco, while Hanlon had not signed. Also that he informed the matchmaker of the club he would post a forfeit when notified that Hanlon's money was up. He has received no notification to that effect, but reports from San Francisco say Hanlon's manager claims Hertz was four flushing and was afraid to let Yanger tackle Hanlon again, so Hertz forwarded his money.

Yanger's injured wrist was put through a rigid examination yesterday by Dr. MacGregor, but no broken bones were found. It showed, however, a severe sprain, which will require several weeks of careful nursing before it becomes strong enough for a contest. His next fight with Hanlon, provided there is no hitch, will take place the latter part of September, ample time for his wrist to become as useful as ever.

Martin Duffy, the local welterweight, who was to have fought Rube Ferns at Fort Erie last night, returned from Buffalo yesterday much disappointed over the failure of Manager Herman to pull off the battle. Herman, who is in town looking after his interests in the Root-Gardner fight pictures, said the Canadian authorities regarded the Root-Gardner contest as a prize fight, and that he intended to let that affair blow over before he would put on another fight.

CORBETT GROWS STRONGER.

Delegation of Friends See Him Tire Out His Partners at Alameda—Jeff Starts After Deer.

San Francisco, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—Jim Corbett is improving. There is no doubt on that score by those who have recently seen him perform at Alameda. Yesterday over 100 friends from this city made their way to Croll's garden. Corbett was delighted by the presence of his admirers and immediately put on the gloves and boxed nine rapid rounds with Yank Kenney and Sam Berger. There were no love taps dealt by his opponents and no stalling was permitted. It was a case of give and take from start to finish.

At the conclusion his boxing partners were completely exhausted, while Corbett was apparently as fresh as when he stepped into the ring.

"I really think Jim will beat Jeffries," said Harry Corbett. "His friends come to me and tell me how fast and clever he is. I always knew he had speed, but I doubted his ability to carry it through a long route. Now I know he can do it, and I feel confident he will beat the big fellow and win back the championship in August."

Corbett weighs 182 and expects to weigh 186 on the night of the fight.

A letter came from Harbin Springs today saying Jeff had started out for deer hunting, which begins today. Fitz accompanied him, and as they are both good hunters and shots Delaney expects to have venison for some time to come.

Jeff will be back Friday night. He and his party are invited to Lower lake by a rich merchant, who has placed his fine country seat at Jeff's disposal. Delaney encourages Jeff to go on such trips, as he believes it does him good and he doesn't want him to work too much.

The Spalding trophy, being competed for, is now held by the Fourth division.

COLTS CAPTURE A LONG CONTEST.

Selee's Men Turn Tables on Brooklyn and Win Twelve Inning Game.

FINAL SCORE IS 2 TO 1.

Error by Doyle Causes Defeat of Superbas—Wicker Outpitches Oscar Jones.

The Colts turned the tables on Hanlon's Superbas yesterday and won a game which bore a striking resemblance to that of the day before. The chief difference was that the score was 2 to 1 in Chicago's favor. The resemblances were that the affair went to twelve innings, making a total of twenty-five innings for the two days, and that it was won and lost by a dinky little throw which went just wild enough to let in the long sought run.

Jack Doyle made the throw which brought defeat to his men, and Oscar Jones was the man who failed to get it. It was something of a coincidence that Frank Chance made the error which enabled Brooklyn to get into the game at all. It was his fault that Wicker did not score a clean shutout against the visitors in nine innings.

It was distinctly a pitchers' battle from the outset, and Wicker completely outpitched Hanlon's California star. He allowed three passes to Jones' two, but he kept the visitors down to six singles, while Jones was swatted for ten, one of them a double. Chicago's run in the fifth was made without the help of an error. But whichever angle it is looked at, there is no little credit due both pitchers for the day's showing.

Williams Is Given a Trial.

Manager Selee gave his new infielder, Williams, recently of the St. Louis cardinals, a trial at short, to give Tinker a bit of a rest, and the new man caught on with the crowd by the clean way in which he handled everything in reach. He did not appear to be strong with the stick, but he was against Brooklyn's best.

Brooklyn threatened to break into the lead in the third, when McCreery and Jones singled with one out, but Wicker would not let Strang or Sheckard get the dangerous hit. The same thing happened in Chicago's fourth. Casey and Chance hit safely with one out, but Jones fanned and Williams died by way of the pitcher at first.

Brooklyn was presented with a run in the fifth. Kling first muffed a pop foul from Flood's bat, then the batter beat out a slow infield hit and stole second. McCreery popped out to Chance, and Oscar Jones beat out another slow infield hit by the half of an eyelash, sending Flood to third. Strang hit to Chance, who had Flood easily at the plate, but threw low to Kling, and the run scored. Jones was soon cut off at the plate on Sheckard's hit to Wicker, and Dobbs flied. The Colts evened it up in their half after two were gone. Harley singled to right and Kling bumped a safe one to center on which Dick reached third in safety. These two then pulled off a double steal of second and home which tied up the game.

Wicker Helps to Win Game.

From there the game jogged along, with both pitchers invincible and without much incident until the first half of the eleventh, when the Superbas had a fine opening and lost it. Dahlen was first up and was passed, then sacrificed to second by Ritter, but Flood flied to Slagle and Williams ate up McCreery's grounder. It was one, two, three in Brooklyn's half of the twelfth, then came the finish. Harley opened Chicago's half with a scratch just over Flood's head into short center and was advanced by Kling's sacrifice. Wicker then won his own game by hitting a sharp bounder to Doyle, who fumbled it an instant and then tossed the ball to first just enough wide of the bag so that Jones could not hold it. Harley had turned third and, grasping the situation, dashed for home, landing in safety. Score:

Notes of the Colts' Game.

Boston comes today for a series of four games with the Colts.

Harley scored both of Chicago's runs and made nearly one-third of the hits off Jones.

McCreedy, who used to play first for Brooklyn, dropped into town yesterday from Minneapolis, where he has been this season, and was taken on by Hanlon, who put him in right field.

Ritter and Kling had a twenty-five yard sprinting contest in the fourth. Ritter struck out, but Kling dropped the ball, picked it up, and chased his rival toward first, touching him with some feet to spare.

Doyle made two spectacular catches in the eleventh which saved both Strang and Dahlen from wild throws. He had to catch both throws with his mitt extended to the limit, but the ball stuck both times.

Chance opened the sixth with a clean double and it looked like a sure enough run, but Davy Jones struck out for the second time running, Williams fouled out, and Evers hit a little fly for Ritter to camp under.

Oscar Jones helped to bring on his own defeat by his slowness in covering first base on Wicker's grounder in the twelfth. If he had been on the bag earlier Doyle might have made a better throw in spite of his fumble.

In the ninth, with Harley at first, Kling tried to pull out the game with a corking hit to center, but unluckily it went straight to Dobbs. Harley went so far on it that he was easily doubled up before he could get back to first. A little to the right or left and that ball would have traveled to the clubhouse easily.

HART IN ROLE OF MEDIATOR.

Local Magnate Brings Together Warring Club Owners of Pacific Coast in Effort Toward Peace.

The west side baseball park yesterday had all the appearances of a peace conference. Hobnobbing in one box were representatives of the Pacific Coast and Pacific National leagues, which are carrying on a war of extermination on the coast, and with them was Secretary Farrell of the National Association of Minor Leagues. In another box sat Presidents Hart of the local club and Angus of the Detroit American league club, while in the near background was President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club.

The western magnates were Presidents Harris of the San Francisco club and Morley of the Los Angeles club, both of the Pacific Coast league, and President Lucas of the Pacific National league and W. G. Dugdale, owner of the Seattle club of that organization. They were here at the invitation of Mr. Hart and for the purpose of meeting each other and Secretary Farrell of the minor leagues' organization for a friendly conference over the situation to see whether it is possible to end the war on the coast. If on comparing notes a compromise seems likely, with Mr. Farrell as a sort of mediator, a formal conference will probably be held today or tonight.

President Angus was in the city on personal business, and, never having had the opportunity to meet Mr. Hart, looked him up at the park. They found their views on the present relations between their leagues so nearly identical that there wasn't room for argument. Mr. Angus said there was no question about the correctness of the American league's attitude on the Elberfeld-Davis case and he felt confident the present flurry would blow over.

President Ebbets of Brooklyn is not so certain to back up Pulliam and Brush as has been made out in the east. He said yesterday that he did not understand why Brush was kicking up a row when he had everything his own way in New York, with the American league on the run there.

Is Griffith Imitating McGraw?

Pittsburg, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—Manager Griffith of the New York American league is charged with tampering with Pittsburg players. It is said that Zebring and Doheny were made better offers than they are now receiving from Dreyfuss. They refused to leave the Pirates. This leads to the belief that Dreyfuss will join in a fight against the Americans to raid their players.

SURPRISE IN TENNIS TOURNEY.

Garnett Plays in Exceptional Form and Defeats Peters in Woodlawn Games—McKeever Also Wins.

The surprise of the day in the Woodlawn tennis tourney was the defeat of Peters by Garnett, who was his partner in doubles yesterday. Peters has always been considered the better player, but Garnett won, 6—1, 7—5. Garnett was in his best form of the year and his drives and smashes were always accurate.

Early in the afternoon he defeated Beeks in the first round, without letting the latter get a game in the two sets. Then he played Peters and before the older player recovered from his astonishment Garnett had the first set, 6—1. Peters did better in the second, but Garnett was playing too good and won the set, 7—5.

McKeever,* who defeated Forstall in the first round, caused another surprise by winning in easy fashion from Nelson of the University of Chicago team, 6—0, 6—4. McKeever has been playing well and is expected to give a good account of himself against Garnett in their match in the semi-final round this afternoon. Two old college rivals, Helmholz of Wisconsin and Bingham, captain of Chicago, met in the first round. The victory went to the Wisconsin player after three of the hardest kind of sets. Summaries:

Singles, first round—Helmholz defeated Bingham, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3; Garnett defeated Beeks, 6—0, 6—0.

Second round—Snow defeated Morley, 7—5, 6—1; McKeever defeated Nelson, 6—0, 6—4; Garnett defeated Peters, 6—1, 7—5.

AMERICAN TEAM IS SELECTED.

Larned and the Two Wrenns to Represent United States in the International Tennis Contests.

Boston, Mass., July 14.—It was officially announced tonight that the commitee representing the United States Tennis association—Messrs. Dwight, Stevens, Presby, and Little—had selected W. A. Larned, R. D. Wrenn, and G. L. Wrenn Jr. as a team to represent the United States in the national competition for the Dwight F. Davis challenge trophy which is to occur on the grounds of the Longwood Cricket club, Boston.

The team which will represent Great Britain will be R. F. Doherty, H. L. Doherty, and H. S. Mahony, as cabled by G. R. Newburn, secretary of the English Tennis association.

The competition will occur on the afternoons of Aug. 4, 5, and 6 under the management of the United States association.

Two single matches will be played the first day, one match in doubles the second day, and two single matches the third day. The team winning three matches will win the competition.

Grocers Play at Exmoor.

F. H. Madde won the annual golf competition of the wholesale grocers at the Exmoor Country club, defeating N. H. Hoyt in the final match, 3 up, 2 to play. Five flights of eight qualified. The other winners were A. A. Beebe, W. H. Eagle, James R. Baker, and E. R. McArthur.

SHUT OUT FOR WHITE SOX.

WADDELL REVISES HIS SEASON'S STRIKEOUT RECORD.

"Rube" Fans Fourteen of Callahan's Men, His Best Previous Performance Being Thirteen Against the Same Weak Hitters — White Pitches Invincibly, but Errors of Tannehill Give Philadelphia Two Runs in Second Inning.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—[Special.]—Backed by poor support from Tannehill, Harry White lost a hard luck game to the Athletics today, the white Sox being shut out 2 to 0.

"Rube" Waddell returned from his last "fishing" expedition, to be the stumbling block of the White Stockings. The erratic southpaw, pounded hard by other teams, made a new strikeout record for the season, breaking his former record of thirteen in nine innings, by setting down fourteen in today's battle.

Had Tannehill fielded Seybold's easy grounder in the second inning there might have been another story to tell, for White held the Athletics quite as safely as Waddell did his opponents in every other round. This slip gave the opportunity for Monte Cross to crack out a double and bring home the run which was enough to be the undoing of the visiting club.

"Rube's" strikeout feat was the feature of the battle, for he put Isbell down all four times he faced him. Jones fanned three times, and Ducky Holmes twice. Rube's former record, demolished by today's feat, was accomplished on May 11 against this same club, playing in Chicago. White then as today, was his opponent on the rubber. The battle was an eleven inning affair, but all of Rube's strikeouts were within the regulation nine rounds.

Callahan's men had chances innumerable to score. They had runners left on bases in every inning except the second, but the needed hits to bring them home were not forthcoming, "Rube" usually winding up the suspense by striking out the third man.

The runs which took this contest from the White Sox were scored in the second inning. Lave Cross was out, Seybold drove an easy grounder about ten feet to Tannehill's side of second. He ran to meet it, dropped it, and then kicked it around the bag. Murphy forced Seybold, and there were two down. Monte Cross banged the ball against the fence in deep right center and Murphy crossed the plate. Schreck lifted a foul back of Callahan, which Tannehill misjudged, and then got under in time to muff fairly. The big catcher followed this with a corking drive to right for two bases, and Monte Cross scored the last run of the game. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

"Rube" struck out Green, Isbell, and Tannehill in the eighth.

The base on balls White gave to Hartsel in the third was the first pass he has issued in three games.

Only one White Stocking managed to hit a ball to the outfield, Jones going out the last time in the ninth to Seybold. Every other out was made in the infield.

A double header, the first of the season for the Athletics, will be played here tomorrow. Patterson and Owen or Flaherty will pitch for the White Stockings. Plank and Bender are carded for the Athletics.

President Shibe of the Athletics has written President Hickey of the American association to send back Dan Hoffman, who jumped his contract with the Athletics to join Toledo. Hoffman had an ironclad two year contract with the champions.

CLEVELAND WINS IN TWELFTH.

Defeats Boston in an Extra Inning Battle by a Score of Four to Three.

Boston, Mass., July 14.—The home team lost a closely contested twelve inning game to Cleveland today. Honors were about even between Dineen and Moore. Both teams fielded brilliantly. COMISKEY MAY GET UNGLAUB.

Milwaukee Association Club Likely to Sell Star Players to Make Up Big Deficit.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—Unless the Milwaukee team of the American association receives better support during the coming series on the home grounds some of the best players will be disposed of to the highest bidders.

President Havenor has several players for whom other leagues are willing to pay good money, and there is a deficit staring the management of the club in the face.

The first move in the direction of cutting down expenses was when Phyle and Dungan were turned over to the Memphis club. Elliott, Donohue, and Unglaub may also be sold. These three men are slated to go if Havenor takes advantage of what appears to be the only chance of getting even on the season. President Comiskey of the White Sox has been after Unglaub for some time, and is only waiting for the opportunity to buy the clever third baseman.

Noyes First in Edgewater Event.

M. Paul Noyes of the home club yesterday won the open tournament of the Edgewater Golf club, defeating W. T. G. Bristol of the Chicago Golf club in the final match by 4 up and 3 to play. Parsons Warren, also of the home club, upheld the Edgewater colors by winning the second flight cup from H. R. Hixson of Glen View by 3 up and 1 to play. The runners up in each event won prizes.

Splendid golfing weather prevailed, and this with some excellent play made the affair a great success. Twenty-four players started in the qualifying round, which resulted as follows:

Onwentsia Wins Team Match.

In the biggest team which ever played in the west, forty-three players from the Onwentsia club defeated a like number from the Exmoor Country club by 5 holes. It was a remarkable feature that only one of the forty-three contests was halved. The losers dined the winners. Summary:

STOCKS BREAK TO NEW LOW RECORD

Decline in Best Grades of Shares Is Checked Only by Close of Business Day.

NO VALID CAUSE KNOWN.

Street Full of Rumors Concerning Heavy Operators and Things They Tried to Do.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, July 14.—[Special.]—There was another bad break in prices on the stock exchange today, with many low records established and with the market apparently saved from demoralization only by the conclusion of the business session, for it was during the final hour of trading that the greatest weakness developed.

The prices of active stocks were down at the close from 1 to 4 points each, while the standard investment shares showed such extreme declines as 6 for Pullman Palace Car, 6 for Michigan Central, 6 for Consolidated Gas, and 5 for Lackawanna. Unconfirmed rumors that a banking house was in difficulty forced the selling of some high priced issues to protect certain "undigested securities."

A revival of the report that the dividend of St. Paul might be reduced to 6 per cent, accompanied by heavy selling of that stock by important interests, the knowledge of the fact that Chicago, Burlington and Quincy has been obliged to pay 5½ per cent and ½ per cent commission for a temporary loan of $5,000,000—these were the principal reasons offered for the sharp break that occurred.

Incidentally the street was filled with rumors that this and that financier or operator was prominent in the selling movement. In one quarter James R. Keene was credited with "bearing" the market in retaliation for the attitude of certain banking interests toward him when he undertook to boom Southern Railway stock through the formation of his memorable 300,000 share pool. In another quarter a leading railroad interest prominent in the Northern Securities company, who lately has been outspokenly bearish in his utterances, was declared to be one of the largest sellers, while elsewhere the Standard Oil following was said to be the active spirit in the downward movement. The forced liquidation on the part of some Pittsburg steel men was said also to be in evidence.

Beyond rumors, however, there was absolutely nothing to be got, and at the close of the day all that was known was told by the market figures showing stocks at the lowest average of some years, and in some cases down 10 or 12 points within a week. It was generally agreed at the close of the day that liquidation rather than short selling had played the most important part in forcing the day's decline. This was said to be particularly true of the high priced shares and in the active stocks of the St. Paul and the steel trust issues, which broke despite the syndicate support to the lowest prices ever recorded for them, except in the May panic.

Many other stocks reached new low prices for the year under the further selling that came on the market in the closing dealings. Among these stocks were Missouri Pacific, 98⅜; Illinois Central, 126; Brooklyn Rapid Transit, 52¼; Rock Island, 30⅛; Hocking Valley, 79½; and Tennessee Coal and Iron, 47¼. Other stocks, like Pennsylvania at 119⅜ and Union Pacific at 77⅛, equaled the low point or came within a small fraction of it. There were a few unimportant exceptions to the general decline, about the only one worth noting being represented by the shares of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad, in which apparently there was an attempt early in the day at pool manipulation based upon reports of a combination of some sort with the Grand Trunk.

If there be any doubt that the need and demand for ready money are playing the most important part—forcing the present liquidation—that doubt should be dispelled by a more careful study of the market decline than ordinarily may have been given to it. It is not the so-called "cats and dogs" that have suffered or are suffering. To the contrary, these have been comparatively neglected, while the high class, standard shares have been the principal sufferers. It has been so for months. It was so today. It was not, for example, selling by bears that forced down Lackawanna, Pullman, Northwest, Consolidated Gas, St. Paul, Omaha, and other of the standard stocks. Rather it was selling of a more or less urgent character, designed principally to give to the sellers money, of which for one reason or another they stand in need.

Singularly enough in St. Paul, Lackawanna, and Consolidated Gas not a few of the sales were said to come from insurance companies, who apparently are not unwilling to relinquish smaller dividend stocks.

Close: Money on call steady at 2¼@3¾ per cent, closing 2½. Time money firm; 60 days, 4 per cent; 90 days, 4½@5 per cent; six months, 6 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange steady at decline with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.90 for demand, and at 484.50@484.55 for 60 day bills. Posted rates 485½ and 488. Commercial bills, 484⅜. Bar silver, 53¾. Mexican dollars, 42½. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds weak.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 14.—[Special.]—The local market was duller than on Monday. The tone was heavy, with practically all issues more or less under selling pressure. There was a good deal of selling of Amalgamated, and bears industriously circulated a report that a dividend would be passed at Thursday's meeting. The report, which is officially denied, is not taken seriously by anybody. The price again broke to below 50. Call loans, 3½ per cent; time loans, collateral, 4¾@5½ per cent; time loans, mercantile paper, 5@6 per cent; clearing house loans, 3 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, July 14.—The demand for money was fairly active in the market today in connection with the payment of the $13,050,000 installment of the Transvaal loan. Business on the stock exchange opened depressed and hesitating. The dominating factor was the feverishness of Wall street. Consols were steady. Home rails were heavy, growing firmer later. Americans opened steady and about parity, but sagged afterward.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Movement of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Lambs, with the Range of Prices.

Receipts of cattle for Tuesday were 3,500, including 1,600 Texans. Hogs were 17,000 and sheep 10,000. On these receipts the market ruled steady for cattle, weak and unevenly lower for hogs. The close was lower on sheep and lambs.

On a basis of the car report on three principal live stock roads, receipts for Wednesday are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep. Yard sentiment is beginning to favor a reaction in the hog market, and during Tuesday bets offered by no less an authority than Nelson Morris that no packer drove of hogs would go out this month at as low as $5 went without takers.

Following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Cattle.

With eighty carloads of the 3,500 cattle estimated for Tuesday credited to Texas there were hardly sufficient cattle in the active division to establish a market. Sales were generally at steady prices, and, with prospect of a light supply for Wednesday, the yards were closely cleared of all cattle that killers or exporters could use. Cows and heifers sold readily at steady values, and the stocker trade shows firmer tone than any time last week. Quotations:

Hogs.

There was demand sufficient to fairly use all supplies of hogs except the extreme heavy, and prices were not quotably different from the close of Monday, though on costs of droves to the several slaughtering concerns the market of Tuesday shows an average decline of around 7c. Close of trade was weak all along the line, with a considerable number of big heavyweights that could not be sold. Quotations:

Good to choice, 245@400 lbs	$5.20@5.35
Common to good, 245@400 lbs	4.90@5.15

Sheep.

In the sheep and lamb trade the bulk of offerings found an outlet at steady prices, but there was a break of 15c to 25c before the close.

CHECK IN WHEAT DECLINE

LIQUIDATION REACHES ITS END AND FAIR REACTION FOLLOWS.

Continued Reports of Dwindling Crop Prospect in American Northwest and in Manitoba Chief Factors in Changing Sentiment — Corn Sells Lower, but Rallies on Brisk Cash Demand—Oats Easy with Corn—Provision Trade Improved.

There was enough belated liquidation in wheat to force a further decline of ⅛c to ⅝c in the first half of yesterday's session, selling by longs who had not anticipated so sharp a decline and gave up hope of a reaction just as one was becoming due. But there was buying on a large scale by houses which had been among the heaviest sellers on the decline Monday, offerings were finally absorbed, and the market started up with a rush which carried it 1⅜c above the low point. There was a little reaction from top prices, but closing figures showed net gains of ⅝c to ⅝c for the day, and there was not so much of the uneasy feeling that the bottom might drop out of the market.

A liberal reduction in contract stocks, a continued demand for No. 1 northern at increasing premiums, cash prices not dropping as fast as the futures, a sharp demand for the receipts of new wheat, and reports from the northwest of reduced crop estimated, were among the factors which finally checked the decline, although they had little effect until liquidation was over and a considerable local short interest had been developed. Estimates that the Manitoba crop would be 10,000,000 bu less than last year, in spite of the increased acreage, attracted attention. The best prices were made on the weekly government report, which said thrashing reports generally indicated light yields and reported spring wheat thin and heading short in northern Minnesota and North Dakota, some damage by lodging in southern Minnesota and South Dakota, and from rust in the latter state.

New Crop Moves Slowly.

The slow movement of the new crop was an important factor in checking the decline. St. Louis reported no acceptances on bids sent out for No. 2 red wheat at 80c, or 2c over the July price there, and millers were paying 80½c on the floor there for this grade, while July wheat was breaking 1c. Local arrivals of No. 2 red were bid up from 77½c to 79c. There was a sale of 50,000 bu No. 1 northern wheat here at 82c in store, or 5¾c over old July. There was some export demand for both new red and new hard winter wheat; sales reported of 160,000 bu. There were only 130 cars northwest, compared with 346 a year ago; 72 cars here, compared with 366 last year; and 365,000 bu at primary points, compared with 789,000 bu a year ago. Of the local receipts, 65 were winter and 56 of these from the new crop, 25 grading No. 2 red.

There were 76,000 bu No. 1 northern loaded out of store, and there were 633,000 bu of this grade left in store Monday. Total contract stocks are 1,626,000 bu, a decrease of 324,000 bu for the week. Total local stocks in public and private houses are 3,965,000 bu, a decrease of 311,000 bu. Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 4,000,000 bu in stocks for the week, compared with a decrease of 2,993,000 bu for the corresponding week last year. Foreign markets yielded in response to the break here, Liverpool ¼d to ⅜d lower, London ½d to ¾d lower, and Antwerp off 1¼c.

Demand for Cash Corn.

There was the same experience in corn as in wheat, a further break early on continued liquidation followed by a smart recovery. State and government crop bulletins were bearish on corn, but there was a better cash demand on the decline, and there was influential buying of September, which made the best gain, selling from 49⅝c back to 51c and closing at 50⅝c, a net gain of ¼@⅜c. The July gained ⅛c, while the new crop deliveries lost ⅛@¼c. The cash market was ⅝@1c lower, but on the decline there were sales of about 400,000 bu, and the seaboard reported export sales of 344,000 bu. The government crop bulletin said corn had everywhere made splendid growth, and was much improved, though still generally backward; there was buying of September by Champlin, Pringle, Patten brokers, and by St. Louis houses. Local receipts were 300 cars, 28 graded contract, and there were 68 cars and 159,000 bu contract out of private houses. Estimated receipts for today, 180 cars. Pimary points had 529,000 bu, compared with 601,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 315,000 bu. Liverpool futures closed ⅜d lower and spot 1d lower. Bradstreet's reported an increase of 444,000 bu east of the Rockies. A year ago there was a decrease of 200,000 bu.

Oats Close Is Lower.

Oats made their best prices early, the liquidation apparently over, but selling was renewed on the show of weakness in other grains, and while there was a partial recovery, closing prices were ⅛c to ¼c lower. The weakness of the cash market, where prices were 1c to 2c lower, was a depressing factor. Eastern cash buyers showed a greater willingness to make purchases, but the shipping demand was only moderate, sales about 150,000 bu. The selling of futures was scattered. On the break there was buying of May and December by Wells. The government weekly bulletin reported rust in oats in Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois, lodging in South Dakota and southern Minnesota, good yields west of the Missouri, and light ones in the Ohio valley. There were 298 cars inspected in with 25 contract, and 21 more and 13,000 bu out of private houses. There were 40,000 bu standard loaded out of store. Contract stocks increased 70,000 bu for the week to 754,000 bu, while total stocks increased 248,000 bu to 2,013,000 bu. Estimated cars for today, 142. Clearances were 17,000 bu. Stocks east of the Rockies increased 44,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 314,000 bu last year.

Firmer Tone in Provisions.

There was not a particularly broad market in provisions, although as a general proposition better support was given it than on Monday. Compared with previous closings pork was 5c lower, lard unchanged, and ribs 2½@5c higher. Offerings of pork were considerably larger, and early in the session there was a disposition on the part of packers to sell both ribs and lard, but a good demand developed, and it was of a character to count. Thus early losses were quickly and fully recovered. Hog receipts locally were 17,000, with 25,000 estimated today. At western points there were 78,800, as against 73,500 the previous week and 52,000 last year. Liverpool was 6d lower on lard, unchanged on bacon and hams. Shipments of cured meats were 2,587,000 lbs, against 3,550,000 lbs a year ago, and of lard 934,000 lbs, compared with 1,303,000 lbs last year.

The rye market was unchanged and only moderately active. Early sales of September were made at 50c, the closing price being 50½c bid. July was nominally 49½c at the close. No. 2 regular, free on board, sold at 54c, and at the river at 51¼c. Inspection was 8 cars.

Barley was a small trade, demand being greatly restricted. Offerings were mainly of low grades. Inspection, 35 cars, but not all on sale. Screenings ranged from 30@43c for poor to choice, low grade or feed barley 40@42c, poor to fair malting 45@48c, and good to choice 49@51c.

Seeds ruled quiet, though cash timothy was scarce and firmly held. September sold at $3.17½, with October salable at $3.00. Contract was nominally $3.40. Clover seed remained inactive and featureless, contract at $11.50@11.75, and October $9.00@9.50.

There was a dull market in flaxseed, where prices were little changed. No. 1 northwestern remained $1.82 bid, and southwestern 97c bid. The latter was also the July price. September sold $1.00@1.01. October was held at $1.01½. No receipts here, 11 at Minneapolis, and 27 at Duluth.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

The London Statist, basing its theory on a wheat crop of 725,000,000 bu in this country, estimates the world's crop for 1903 at 50,000,000 bu less than that of 1902. It says:

"A decline of 5c to 6c per bushel in the American markets this week, with hot forcing weather for the crops in most European countries, has proved too much for the wheat trade in this country, which has been extremely quiet, even at some decline. The latest estimates of the American wheat crop are that it may reach 725,000,000 bu, in spite of disappointing yields in some of the winter wheat states, against 675,000,000 last year. The Canadian crop, if all goes well, may also be 15,000,000 bu larger than last year's yield of 95,000,000 bu. For Europe, however, preliminary estimates indicate that the production may be 200,000,000 bu below last year's abnormally large yields, whilst in India the official estimate of the crop is about 65,000,000 bu greater than last year. The balance, therefore, is in favor, at the present moment, of the world's wheat production this year being at least 50,000,000 bu below last year's yield, which was the largest on record—viz., about 3,000,000,000 bu. The world's visible supply on July 1 is decidedly small considering the large crops last year, estimated at 84,168,000 bu.

The following condensation of foreign crop conditions is published by Broomhall: United kingdom—The weather has improved during the last week and cutting may commence this month. France—The crop outlook is brighter. In the south, where harvesting is in progress, the yield is superior to last year; in the north harvesting will commence in about a fortnight. Germany—The crop promise of Germany is fair. Harvesting will commense a fortnight hence. Russia—In the Odessa district wheat cutting is general, as the weather has now become settled. In the Crimea the prolonged rainfall continues. The recent official government report states that prospects are satisfactory everywhere, with the exception of the Saratoff and Kuban districts. The former is in eastern and the latter in southeastern Russia. Roumania—The weather is now fine after a prolonged and damaging rainfall. Hungary—Serious floods caused a belated harvest. The yield is satisfactory in quantity, but the quality is deficient. Italy—The improvement mentioned in our report of last week has been maintained. The crop is yielding well. Argentine—Mail advices describe the winter as unseasonably mild.

The good quality of the receipts of new wheat continues to attract attention. Of 59 cars of red winter wheat received yesterday, 25 graded No. 2, 22 graded No. 3, 1 graded No. 4, and 2 no grade. Most of the No. 3 red, it is said, is of fine quality and would grade contract, or No. 2, except that it is a little light in weight. So far as the new crop of red winter wheat is concerned it is apparent that the quality will be fine, as similar reports come from all other markets. There will be no danger of manipulation or corners because of poor quality and light contract stock. The wheat will sell on its merits, and so far there has been a good demand for it, the No. 2 red selling up from 77½c to 79c yesterday. The receipts of hard winter wheat are of equally good quality, 5 out of 6 cars grading No. 2, and the other No. 3.

Bradstreet's figures made a net decrease in world's wheat stocks of 4,160,000 bu, as compared with a decrease of 3,000,000 bu last week, and a decrease of 2,993,000 bu a year ago. The decrease east of the Rockies was 2,060,000 bu, and in Europe and afloat 2,100,000 bu. Among the principal decreases not included in the regular visible were 382,000 bu in Manitoba, 140,000 bu at Portland, and 134,000 bu at Depot Harbor. The increases include 105,000 bu in Chicago private elevators, 87,000 bu at Nashville, 66,000 bu at Dallas, and 50,000 bu at Port Huron. World's stocks of corn increased 444,000 bu, as compared with an increase of 1,685,000 bu a week ago, and a decrease of 200,000 bu last year. Oats increased 44,000 bu, against a decrease of 101,000 bu a week ago and a decrease of 314,000 bu last year.

Stocks of contract corn are piling up here rapidly, another addition of 900,000 bu made to them last week, and the total now 3,360,000 bu. Total stocks are 8,627,000 bu, an increase of 1,287,000 bu for the week. Some of the July holders have become discouraged, and they are selling out their July and buying September, but the cash demand yesterday was good enough to make even the July relatively stronger than the new crop deliveries, December and May, which sold off on the favorable state and government crop bulletins. The break to 50c for September brought in a better cash demand. Shipping sales were 400,000 bu No. 3 corn, and a shipper was within ⅛c of working 100,000 bu No. 2 corn.

Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington have the following message from St. Louis: Thrashing returns from principal winter wheat states Central valley in nearly every instance reveal a yield far below even expectations of farmers who looked for a short yield. This is especially the case with Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and south Ohio river. Reports continue to come of averages of 10, 8, 7, and 5 bu per acre and the fact that millers in the states credited to St. Louis territory are buying here is evidence of the extreme shortage in their wheat crop."

One of the theories advanced in explanation of the severe break in wheat on Monday was that John W. Gates had been putting out a short line the last week, and that his sales on that day had reached a total of 10,000,000 bu, a bigger load than the bulls could carry without a break. Harris-Gates were large sellers at the close on Monday, but yesterday they were buying wheat, as were most of the other houses which had led the heavy selling during the decline on Monday.

McReynolds had the following from the manager of his St. Louis elevator: "You will note sales of two cars old No. 3 red wheat to Metropolis, Ill., at equal to 78¼c. If southern Illinois mills are going to be compelled to draw their supplies from this market so early in the season, at a time when that section is usually shipping wheat here, it will certainly have a strong influence on our prices."

S. P. Clark, at Winnipeg, wires Van Dusen: "Crop prospects in Manitoba indicate a yield of 12 to 14 bu per acre, as against 24 last year. The territories are some better than last year, but very weedy and late. Think under most favorable weather conditions our total crop will be about 50,000,000, against 65,000,000 last year. Lack of rainfall in early part of June is the cause."

The directors have formally adopted the proposed amendment advancing transfer dues from $25 to $100 and have ordered it posted for ballot. The increase, if the association does not again vote the proposition down, will be used as a fund to retire memberships.

Minneapolis wires: "We have report this morning from Bottineau, United States land commissioner, saying he drove 600 miles and more than half crop impossible under most favorable conditions. If no rain this week not over quarter crop."

C. M. Harrington wired from Minneapolis: "We get reports from Manitoba indicating 10,000,000 bu less wheat than last year. Weather conditions in the three states are good, but we need rain in the Red river valley."

E. K. Howard received the first car of new barley yesterday. It came from Scott county, Ia., and was a big berry of good color.

Minneapolis' stocks of wheat, it is reported, decreased 350,000 bu for half the week.

Estimated arrivals for today are: Wheat, 55 cars; corn, 180 cars; oats, 142 cars; hogs, 25,000.

H. H. Peters 'membership has been posted for transfer. Mr. Peters will go to California.

B. AND O. EARNINGS LARGE

EQUAL NEARLY 10 PER CENT ON THE COMMON STOCK.

Operating Expenses of the Road Show a Small Percentage of Increase Compared with the Gain in Net—Chicago Commission Houses Buy Some Stocks for Investment, but Little Is Done in Speculative Way — Dividends Declared.

Net earnings of the Baltimore and Ohio system for the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1903, were equal approximately to 9.83 per cent on the common stock. All the data as to the expenses and miscellaneous income are not at hand, but a close estimate leaves net income applicable to stock at $14,618,126. After deducting the preferred dividend the net applicable to common is $12,218,126. The financial statement for the year, with minor expenses closely estimated, follows:

Gross earnings	$ 63,449,633
Operating expenses	39,570,959
Net earnings	$ 23,878,674
Add other income	2,290,104
Total	$ 26,168,778
Deduct interest, taxes, other charges	11,550,652
Net income	$ 14,618,126
Four per cent on preferred	2,400,000
Leaving for common	$ 12,218,126
Being equal to 9.83 per cent.
Preferred stock issue	$ 60,000,000
Common stock	124,262,000

The showing of gross earnings, operating expenses, and net indicates that the company has completed the greater part of expenditures out of net. The gross for the year increased 9.6 per cent; operating expenses increased 6.9 per cent, while net earnings increased 14.3 per cent.

Persons familiar with the earnings, expenses, and prospects of the Baltimore and Ohio system have been active in getting people of moderate means to buy the stock as an investment. With such a showing of earnings the financial position of the company looks well.

Banks Lose to Subtreasury.

Since last Friday the New York subtreasury has gained $3,317,000 from the banks. This would indicate a decidedly unfavorable influence on next Saturday's bank statement. However, exchange on New York has been at a premium, and this may operate to offset in large part the losses to the subtreasury.

Chicago in the Market.

Chicago commission houses purchased more New York stocks yesterday for investment than on the preceding day. The volume of this class of buying was fairly large.

Speculative buying by local houses was comparatively small. Chicago has ceased to do much in a speculative way.

Sentiment is inclined to be bearish, due, doubtless to the market declines. The following from Strong, Sturgis & Co., at the close of the New York market, was wired yesterday to Sidney C. Love & Co.:

"The market today has been even more professional than it has been at any time heretofore, and the one feature is the increased boldness shown by the traders in selling stocks.

"Possible consequences have been entirely lost sight of. The trading element at the moment is unquestionably devoid of feature. As far as we can judge there has neither been good buying nor selling, and practically the entire business of the day has originated and ended on the floor of the exchange. There has been but little liquidation of long stock or investment buying. The money market has been somewhat firmer and deserves close attention.

"The demand for time money has increased and the supply has greatly declined. Liquidation in the stock market does not seem to improve the conditions of the banks and the demand for money on the part of corporations has by no means ceased. At the moment it looks as if we would see higher rates, and in making commitments at this time this must be carefully considered.

"While stocks selling at the present level seem attractive, still with six months money in demand at 5½ per cent on first class collateral the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy notes secured by deposit of Illinois dividend bonds offering on a 5 per cent basis and Hocking Valley notes guaranteed by New York Central and Pennsylvania selling on even a higher basis, it is not to be wondered that the investing public is not anxious to buy stocks even at the present level."

Dividends Declared.

The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railway company declared a dividend of 3 per cent on common stock, an increase of one-half over previous payment. The usual dividend for the half year of 3 per cent was also declared on preferred, both payable Aug. 14 to stock of record Aug. 5.

The United States Castiron Pipe and Foundry company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on its preferred stock, payable Sept. 1. Books close Aug. 11, reopen Sept. 1.

The Norfolk and Western railway declared the usual semi-annual dividend of $2 per share on its adjustment stock, payable Aug. 21 to stock of record Aug. 7.

The Great Northern railway declared the usual dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable Aug. 1. Books close July 22 and reopen Aug. 3.

Bad Luck of Burlington Bond Buyers.

Holders of International Mercantile Marine securities and underwriters are not alone in finding themselves with securities unsalable except at a sacrifice. According to the New York Evening Post the Burlington bond buyers find themselves losers on their investment. Speaking of this, the paper says:

"In the Burlington case several investment firms took part of $15,000,000 bonds, representing an extension of the old 7 per cent issue on a 4 per cent basis, at par, less ⅛ per cent for two years. The syndicate was then wound up, the unexchanged portion being sold at private sale. The price above mentioned established a rate of 4¼ per cent.

"Several days later it was discovered that a New York bank had sold the balance of the $22,000,000 bonds, about $7,000,000, on a basis of 4½ per cent, thus putting an effectual end to the original syndicate members disposing of their holdings at a better rate than 4½ per cent. Having paid 4⅛ per cent, they were counting on selling to their regular customers and others at perhaps a 4 per cent or 3¾ per cent basis, but this is now out of the question. A good deal of ill feeling has naturally been stirred up over the matter."

July Funds Not Reinvested.

What has become of the $120,000,000 July disbursement funds? It was thought this money would be turned into stocks or bonds. But the markets for both classes of securities show plainly they have not benefited by these interest and dividend disbursements.

It is pretty much a matter of guesswork attempting to account for the failure to reinvest this money. But it is not unlikely that much of it has gone to meet personal and business expenditures. The large holders of securities in Wall street have now need for their surplus income, as they have not had before since 1897. They are not making profits on underwriting schemes nor are they profiting by advances in prices of securities. On the contrary, recent industrial underwritings have proved losses, and stock quotations have worked lower. Meanwhile business and personal expenditures expanded on the basis of large profits, where now losses are shown, continue, and must be met. For any cash income, therefore, that 90 per cent of Wall street gets it has a ready use, and it isn't in the purchase of securities.

Good Demand from Grain Carriers.

Banks which furnish accommodation to local grain interests report a good demand for funds from the elevator people. It is believed by these institutions that there will be a great deal of grain carried in Chicago. The probability of a high price is expected to lead to liberal sales by farmers, and the carrying of the grain in Chicago to a relatively larger extent than in the country.

When the United States government made its popular loan it issued $100 bonds, and these proved to be as popular is they were intended to be. The proposed Cook county 3½ per cents are in every way a first class bond. But the interest rate is too low to be attractive to the banks in the present money market. The commissioners are estopped from selling the bonds at a price less than par. For that reason banks which would bid for them on a 4 per cent basis will not bid for them when 3½ per cent is all that can be realized.

United Boxboard.

It is announced that the application for a receiver for the Oswego Pulp and Paper company filed by former owners of that company has been withdrawn. The bill filed in conjunction asking that the contract through which the sale of the Oswego company to the United Boxboard and Paper company was made be rescinded on charge of fraud is allowed to stand.

Chicago Stocks.

National Biscuit common broke on the local exchange yesterday from an opening of 39 to 37¾, but closed ⅛ better. The stock has held up well in view of declining prices in New York.

Union Traction common for a small lot sold at 4⅝. This is the best the stock has done for some time. While it isn't much, it indcates a slightly better feeling.

City railway for a small lot sold again at 185. The Boxboard stocks were lower in sympathy with New York. The remainder of the list was fairly steady.

North Chicago Dividend.

Judge Grosscup has authorized the payment of the North Chicago street railroad quarterly dividend of 3 per cent., It is payable today. In accordance with a rule of the governing committee of the Chicago stock exchange dividend goes to the present holder of the stock.

Employment Agencies.

WE DO NOT CONDUCT OUR BUSINESS ALONG THE LINES OF "EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES."

We represent over 800 of the best business houses of Chicago, and many elsewhere, who employ all their assistants through our office.

You want a position—don't know where to look for it—may be employed in an uncongenial or unremunerative position and not have time to hunt a new one. The very house you would like to be with may now be looking for you, through our office. We have several GOOD places open, and no men to fit them. Enough said.

But don't apply to us unless your record is clear, and you can "make good" when you find the place you want.

GREAT VOSE PIANO SALE.

Prices reduced from $75.00 to $150.00 this week.

Every piano in the store at a sacrifice.

WHETHER YOU WANT A PIANO NOW OR think of buying later on, you should call at the Vose warerooms THIS WEEK without fail. You can buy a piano during this great sale and actually save from $75.00 to $150.00. You can have the piano delivered and have the use of it while paying a small sum monthly.

WE MUST SELL A GOOD PORTION OF OUR present stock in order to make room for the workmen who are engaged to make the necessary alterations and repairs in our store.

WE PREFER TO CLOSE OUT OUR PRESENT stock at sweeping reductions in prices rather than to run the risk of having the pianos damaged while the repairs are in progress, and then being obliged to sell them as damaged pianos at a heavy loss.

THE PIANOS OFFERED IN THIS SALE INclude our full and complete line of entirely new pianos—Vose, Ludwig, Merrell, Howard, etc.—every one of them guaranteed for five years and warranted satisfactory in all particulars.

THERE ARE ALSO A LARGE NUMBER OF slightly used pianos returned from rental and many second hand pianos taken in exchange for new instruments. These all come under the sweeping reductions made for this GREAT ALTERATION AND REPAIR SALE.

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE FIELD.

Lloyds May Rest Their Case on the Demurrer Filed by the State Department.

The attorneys for the Lloyds, against which the Illinois insurance department has brought proceedings, are said to have agreed to rest their case on the demurrer to the bill filed by the department. Judge Baker, if this procedure obtains, will enter a final decree on the demurrer without further trial.

The annual meeting of the Chicago board of underwriters with the contributors to the patrol fund was held according to the provisions of the state law. A formal decision to continue the patrol service was recorded, as is customary.

The second quarterly meeting of the Cook County Association of Recording Fire Insurance Agents was held in the assembly room of the Underwriters' association yesterday. Means of increasing the membership so that it will include a majority of the class 3 agents of the country were discussed and the employment of a paid solicitor was favored. The executive committee has decided to issue a monthly paper in the interests of the organization.

The Sea and Lake Insurance company, incorporated in West Virginia, but with central offices in Chicago, has readjusted its funds, cutting the paid up capital from $400,000 to $300,000 and creating a surplus of $100,000. The company was organized principally to handle marine business, but has gone into the fire field.

The report of the recent examination of the Franklin Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill., made under the direction of the insurance departments of Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee, and Indiana, has just been made public. The report, among other things, says:

"We find that the company's treatment of claimants has been fair and equitable and that its losses have been settled as promptly as is consistent with proper investigation and protection against fraudulent claims.

"Our examination justifies us in concluding that the affairs of the company are being honestly managed, with an evident purpose of dealing fairly and equitably with policyholders and claimants."

An application for a receiver of the company was filed recently by George P. Heckel of St. Louis, who alleged insolvency.

Northwestern Mutual Elects Officers.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14.—The Northwestern Mutual Life Underwriters' association in convention today elected D. E. Murphy president, to succeed H. D. Rodman of Louisville, Ky.; J. I. D. NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

LARGE VOLUME OF TRAFFIC IN THE EASTERN TERRITORY.

Roads Operating in Section from Chicago and St. Louis to Atlantic Coast Report Heavy Consignments in Both Directions — Miscellaneous Merchandise Moving Westward—Feared That Freight Congestion Will Occur Again This Fall.

All railroads operating in the territory east of Chicago and St. Louis report an exceedingly large volume of both east and west bound traffic. It is general in its character and embraces the entire territory between the Atlantic seaboard and the points named.

Evidence of solid business conditions is reflected in the heavy consignments of local or way billed freight in both directions. The general report is that traffic of this kind has not been so heavy for a long time. A large volume of miscellaneous merchandise continues to move westward and is showing a gradual increase, being considerably heavier than that of last year.

The prediction is freely made that freight congestions will occur again this fall. Well informed traffic men say tonnage during the coming winter will considerably exceed that of last winter, and the fear is expressed that more serious trouble will come this year than came last year. That which is true of eastern lines is also true of the southern lines, all of which are handling a large tonnage in both directions.

Flour Rate War Feared.

Flour rates, it is said, are being slaughtered by certain roads running out of Kansas City, and as a result there is apprehension of a rate war on export flour. The Alton and Burlington are said to have been securing the bulk of the export business, and freight men at a recent secret meeting in Kansas City are said to have asked for an explanation.

The regular rate between the two rivers is 9 cents, and has been at this figure for some months. Business had been divided about equally among all of the roads until recently, when the Alton and Burlington suddenly began to acquire the bulk of it.

Advices from Fort Worth, Tex., state it is believed that the refusal of the Texas railroad commission to rescind its rulings on the Rock Island Central trackage proposition is the reason for the delay in announcing the transfer of the Central to the Rock Island. The formal announcement of the deal has been delayed, it is said, while northern and eastern officials who control the roads are waiting to see if the commission will not reconsider its position. If it fails to do so, it is thought likely the deal will be at an end.

Track laying has been about completed by the Chicago Great Western road on its Omaha extension, and arrangements are being made for the opening of the new road. It is expected train service will be begun on the new extension of the Fort Dodge line to Council Bluffs about the middle of this month. The expectation of the Great Western officials that the line will be open for traffic by Sept. 1 seems in a fair way to be realized.

Good Report by Southern Road.

The annual report of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road for the fiscal year ending June 30 is notable in that the gross increase in earnings in proportion to the total gross earnings is the largest ever shown by a southern road. The gross earnings are given as $9,544,727, with an increase of $1,552,197. This showing is due to the development of iron and coal fields in Tennessee as well as to a large growth in the volume of general traffic.

The majority stock of this road, about 80 per cent, is held by the Louisville and Nashville, but owing to a provision in the laws of Tennessee preventing the merging of the two roads they are operated independently.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

During July and August store closes Saturdays at 1.

Weather for today: Fair and cool.

"The flighty purpose never is o'ertook unless the deed go with it," says Shakespeare. The epigram is true. It may be applied with pertinency to modern business life. Ideals are excellent—in fact, an essential thing—in modern store-keeping, but mere ideals without action are useless. It takes hourly effort toward store betterment to make a progressive, successful business house. We make it a matter of prime concern to accompany the purposes of our organization with deeds that tend toward the realization of those purposes. When we learn of a method of conducting any part of our business better than before, we do not content ourselves with admiring the new way—we adopt it. Progressive pioneer action has been one of this store's most marked characteristics in the past, and we propose in the future to keep on changing ideals into actualities.
